SYRIAN PRESIDENT IN EGYPT

Egyptian President Nasser is on hand to greet President Shukri Kuwatly of Syria as he arrives unexpectedly in Cairo, following the Red coup in his home country. Kuwatly is reported to be in Egypt for "medical treatment."

Pro-Reds Nab Army, Purge Foes in Syria

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Volatile Syria apparently moved closer to the Communist bloc today as pro-Soviet officers purged rightists from the politically powerful army.

Gen. Afif Bizry, known throughout the Middle East as the most extreme leftist in Syria's army, took control of the army during the weekend, according to reliable reports reaching neighboring Lebanon. Bizry, 43, a known Communist, immediately began to purge right-wing opponents. Thirteen officers were fired or resigned in Damascus and a number fled to Beirut.

While Premier Sabri Assali's Moscow-oriented government seemed to have been strengthened, President Shukri Kuwatly's professed neutrality between East and West—already cloudy behind Russian arms deals—became a little more indistinct.

Kuwatly had once threatened to resign rather than let Communist supporters take complete control of the army. But the weekend's virtual coup d'état by leftists came with formal approval of the sick president.

UPPED IN RANK

Kuwatly signed a presidential decree Saturday jumping Bizry from lieutenant-colonel to general and making him army commander-in-chief and chief of staff, an official announcement said.

Then, amid rumors that Kuwatly had resigned—which As-sali denied—the president flew to Egypt Sunday. In Cairo for the third time in six months, he talked with President Nasser for more than an hour.

The Syrian and Egyptian armies are united under the joint command of an Egyptian officer and both are heavily stocked with Soviet arms, but Nasser has kept his own Communists suppressed.

Purpose of Kuwatly's trip was officially announced as a medical check in Alexandria. He flew to Alexandria after seeing Nasser and went to a hospital.

The events that brought Communists to power in the army of Syria began with charges of foreign plotting to overthrow the government.

CHARGE WAS BLIND

Informed sources here said Syria's charge last Tuesday that the United States was seeking to oust Kuwatly was used as a blind for the leftists. The government ordered three American diplomats out of the country after claiming there had been a U.S. plot to "buy" a pro-American regime with economic aid offers after a coup d'état. The U.S. state department called the charges "pure fabrication," and expelled two Syrian diplomats in retaliation.

U.S., Britain In Huddle Over Coup in Syria

LONDON (UP)—The United States and Britain began urgent consultations today on the Red drive in Syria which has offered the severest challenge yet to the Eisenhower doctrine in the Middle East.

Diplomatic sources said the western allies were conferring on the fast developing threat—considered the most serious setback to western policy in the explosive area since President Gamal Abdel Nasser seized the Suez Canal last summer.

Two long-term courses appeared open to the West to counter the new challenge of Soviet penetration.

1. Strengthening of the Eisenhower doctrine which calls for American aid to nations threatened with Communist aggression.

2. Reinforcement of the Baghdad Middle East defence alliance which stretches across southern Russia and seals it off from the Middle East.

Red Syria Coup Hits U.S. Stocks

NEW YORK (UP)—A pro-Communist coup in Syria drove stocks down today at a time when the experts had been anticipating a rally from last week's sharp break.

Today's selling, on increased volume, sent the utility average to a new 1957 low, brought rails down to their lowest level since Feb. 28 and industrials to a new low since April 9.

Losses ranging to more than 3 points dotted the list with particular emphasis on international oils, metals, and special issues.

In Toronto industrial losses ranged to 2 1/2 points.

British Pound Value Stands

LONDON (AP)—Britain said today there will be no devaluation of sterling despite a new flight from the pound in European free money markets.

"The pound sterling has been under pressure from the backwash of the devaluation of the French franc," a government spokesman said, "but it has no bearing on the position of sterling."

"There is no question of devaluation."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

God of the youthful heart, there are times when I feel the enthusiasm I once knew slipping away with each day's added burdens. I ask this day Thy help in keeping alive the natural exuberance Thou once gavest me. So may I find life zestful and rewarding even though my way be rough. And so may I link my life more closely with the youthful spirit of Thy Son Jesus. Amen.

Ash Moves Fast To Start Study On Merger Plan

Reeve Arthur Ash of Saanich today set in motion the machinery for investigations of amalgamation and the need for more space at Royal Oak Municipal Hall.

Moving swiftly following Saturday's referendum in which ratepayers showed they were decisively (2,897 to 1,188) opposed to a permanent hall addition, the reeve:

1. Announced that he will appoint a committee to "thoroughly investigate" all aspects of amalgamation with Victoria.

2. And a second committee to inquire into the best means of providing much-needed temporary office space "at a minimum cost."

3. Said new councillor George Chatterton has agreed to head both committees.

"The support I received from the voters Saturday on this referendum has given me a great deal of encouragement," Reeve Ash said.

Ash Encouraged to Run Again

"It makes me feel my stand was worthwhile."

The reeve also held the door open for the possibility he may stand for re-election in December.

"Looking into the future," he said, "if I thought I could be the means of bringing about a union of urban Saanich and Victoria, I would consider offering myself as a candidate."

Mayor Percy Scurrell of Victoria today promised his full support for the amalgamation study.

"In view of this vote," the mayor said, "it would indicate the people would like to have amalgamation investigated."

"I will be very glad to co-operate with Reeve Ash."

What form city co-operation will take will depend on further talks.

Said Reeve Ash:

"Personally, I feel besides representatives of council, we should have some representation from private citizens in co-operation with Victoria authorities."

The reeve said he would also consult with Premier Bennett and Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black.

"No stone should be left unturned in order to bring about the best plan possible so that the ratepayers will know where they stand and can ultimately vote on it," Reeve Ash said.

Amalgamation Study Supported

Support for the amalgamation study was also promised by the newly-formed "December Group" in Saanich, which expressed satisfaction with the referendum result.

"Though the total voting was small considering the implications of the question," said spokesman Charles M. Nelles, "the answer given was a red-blooded affirmation that Saanich wants to play its proper part in Greater Victoria."

"As for our group, we have no wish to become a permanent pressure group, as our name shows quite plainly. It is the elected councillors who must govern the municipality, not us."

Trapped Tot Burned

IRON RIVER, Wis. (AP)—A two-year-old Canadian child, apparently trapped in a sleeping bag, burned to death early today when a gasoline lantern exploded and set flames roaring through a tent where he was sleeping with his family. Dead in the fire was Ricky Easter, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Easter of Sarnia, Ont.

DOCK STRIKERS BACK TO WORK

LONDON (AP)—Sixteen thousand striking marketmen and dockers went back to work today—on union orders. The strikes had immobilized 100 ships in London docks and caused a fruit and vegetable shortage throughout Britain.

U.S. Offers New Plan To Save Arms Talks

LONDON (UP)—The United States had made "far-reaching" new disarmament proposals to its allies in an attempt to prevent the five-power London arms conference from breaking down, authoritative sources disclosed tonight.

Details were kept secret but open skies and a halt to future A-bomb production remain key conditions for any agreement with Russia, the sources said.

They said the U.S. is prepared to continue the five-month-old London talks right up to December if Russia gives a "favorable response" in the next two weeks on the latest plan for aerial inspection recently offered by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

THIEF SORRY FOR MESS BUT LOOT TAKEN OKAY

"Sorry I was so messy—only money taken, no records destroyed," said the note left at the office of J. G. Watts Ltd., where $35 had been taken from a forced safe and $10 from a broken piggy bank. It was signed: "The Polite Burglar."

If th' high cost o' doin' business goes up like th' high cost o' livin', it's goin' t' be more profitable t' do neither.

B'fore Saanich council goes into joint projects with th' city, mebbe they ought t' git joint among themselves.

ANTHONY BEAUCHAMP

Churchill Kin's Sleeping-Pill Death Probed

LONDON (AP)—An overdose of sleeping pills took the life Sunday of Anthony Beauchamp, husband of Sir Winston Churchill's actress daughter Sarah.

The 39-year-old society photographer and television producer apparently died alone in his apartment overlooking Hyde Park. He had not been seen lately with Sarah, four years his senior. They had been living apart for three years.

Their marriage was rumored finished, London newspapers say, but there was supposedly an agreement for "no divorce while Sir Winston is alive." The former prime minister is 82 years old.

Beauchamp made a 4 a.m. telephone call to the blond sister of the Marquess of Londonderry only a few hours before he died. The marquess has been one of the critics of the Queen and the royal court.

Scotland Yard indicated today this call may help them in piecing together his last hours.

Beauchamp was found sprawled across a bed. On a table rested a half empty box of sleeping pills.

Lady Jane Vane-Tempest-Stewart, 25-year-old sister of Londonderry, told police: "I pleaded with Anthony and tried to persuade him not to be foolish. I was frantic. While I talked, suddenly the line seemed to go dead."

CALLED POLICE

Lady Jane called police, who broke into Beauchamp's apartment and found him dead. Announcement of the death was delayed 13 hours.

Two other beautiful women who knew Beauchamp were being questioned by police.

Sharmine Teruchelvam, dark-eyed model from Ceylon, also saw Beauchamp Saturday. She described him as "one of my dearest and closest friends."

Lord Portman's niece, Mrs. Davina West, told a reporter Beauchamp had drinks with her in her basement flat in Bohemian Chelsea last week.

Beauchamp disliked being known as Churchill's son-in-law. "You might as well beat your head against a brick wall as try to shake that one off," he once said.

Sarah Churchill was not available for comment on her husband's death.

B.C. Golfer Tied for Lead

WINNIPEG—Doug Bajus of Vancouver today shared the lead in the first 18-hole qualifying round of the Canadian Amateur golf championships with a three-under-par 69.

Tied with Bajus among early finishers were Joe Carr of Ireland and Gary Cowan of Kitchener.

GODERICH, Ont. (CP)—A French-Canadian youth was drowned near a crowd of 2,000 persons Sunday because he apparently didn't know how to call for help in English.

Details of Levy Now Worked Out

By PETE LOUDON

Larger stores in downtown Victoria are in line for whopping 100 to 400 per cent increases in levies under the city's new business tax.

This was indicated at City Hall today as preparations were made for a meeting tonight of city council's business tax committee.

The committee will hear a "who-will-pay-what" report which is expected to draw loud protests from some quarters at a court of revision later this month.

It appears now that corner grocery-type premises and similar shops out of the high rent area will pay about the same under business tax as they did under trade licensing—or even slightly less.

First Bills Out by Christmas

City council authorized business tax this year and first bills will go out to businessmen before Christmas.

City assessor Alfred Joyce said today a new tax roll of assessed rental values of all business premises has been completed.

Council budgeted this year for a revenue from local business of $460,000 compared with $300,000 collected by licensing in 1956.

Council's next job is to find what percentage must be applied to the appraised rental values to raise that amount of money.

There were hints the tax levy will be 7 per cent.

What will this mean to businessmen?

A major department store would jump on the average from $3,500 to $18,000 or more.

A downtown bank branch which paid $1,800 in business licences will pay $3,500 under the tax system.

A wholesale house which paid $75 in licence will pay $300.

A bakery or shoe store which paid $45 would pay about $280.

A leading cafe which paid $150 in business licence now would be asked for $420 each year in business tax.

Officials said the new tax roll of rental values was appraised using a basis of rent actually paid across the city.

$460,000 Must Be Raised by Tax

Biggest increase will be felt by businesses which have been paying lower rents than the average paid by their neighbors and thus had anticipated a smaller tax.

Mr. Joyce would not disclose the total amount of the new tax roll. He will give that figure to Ald. Hugh Ramsay's committee tonight. The committee knows it must apply a percentage to the roll which will yield $460,000.

There can be no alternative. The proposed revenue is already in the city's 1957 budget and expenditures have been estimated to balance.

The committee must yet decide what to do with the business licence system. It may be retained as it is in Vancouver and New Westminster where merchants pay either tax or licence, whichever is greater.

The business tax committee is expected to report to council Thursday, ask a by-law to establish the roll and then set a date for a court of revision.

This will give merchants an opportunity to appeal any assessment which is held to be unfair. When the roll is confirmed, council will set the percentage to be levied as tax.

Cabinet Ministers To Be Named Today

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today he will announce the appointment of "one or two" cabinet ministers following an afternoon cabinet meeting.

The portfolios still vacant include health and welfare, citizenship and immigration and defence production. External affairs is held by Mr. Diefenbaker.

There has been no recent speculation on possible appointments to vacant portfolios, except mention of George Doucet, former Ontario highways minister, who will be the Progressive Conservative candidate in a by-election in Lanark Sept. 9. He resigned from the Ontario legislature to run federally.

GIANTS' MOVE TO WEST COAST WINS APPROVAL

NEW YORK (AP)—The board of directors of New York Giants voted today, to move the team's National League baseball franchise to San Francisco in 1958.

The announcement was made by Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, who said the vote was 8 to 1.

The National League May 27 granted permission for the Giants to move to San Francisco and Brooklyn Dodgers to Los Angeles. National League president Warren Giles can grant permission for the shift upon formal application by the Giants even if the Dodgers decide not to move.

DERBY WINNER

Eric Townsend won the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby fish-off Sunday with this lunker weighing 30 pounds, three ounces. First prize was a 16-foot cabin boat. Mr. Townsend hooked his fish near Chesterfield Rock while letting out line. (See story Page 8.)

Ike Men Fight For Aid Budget

(From UP and CP Dispatches)

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower counter-attacked today in an 11th hour effort to save the foreign aid program from what he considers crippling budget cuts.

... SAANICH

people had "plainly indicated" they want a joint municipal hall and amalgamation thoroughly investigated, Reeve Ash said.

"It is now up to the council to carry these wishes out. If we have the will and determination to see this through and make amalgamation work it can be a success.

"All we need is a spirit of co-operation, compromise and a willingness to give and take."

Reeve Ash said he believed if there had been a heavy vote Saturday, "there is no doubt the referendum would have been completely buried in an avalanche of 'no' votes."

Coun. Joseph Casey, chairman of the hall addition committee and the addition's chief proponent, disagreed.

"Naturally, I expected a much greater turnout," he said. "Those who were opposed turned out in force."

A heavier vote would have brought about a "different picture."

Coun. Casey said the ratepayers who voted had shown they were against a capital expenditure for additional space for municipal workers.

Council should now go ahead quickly with a joint hall project, he said.

"A temporary project is no good at this stage of the game."

"Mind you," Coun. Casey continued, "I don't think the people will vote in favor of a joint hall when it comes up. The cost will be about $1,000,000 for Saanich."

Reeve Ash suggested that one means of providing more office space might be to erect a steel-frame building that could be used at a later date by the public works department.

Such a building—not a Quonset hut—could be built at low cost and can be moved, the Reeve said.

On the question of amalgamation, Reeve Ash concluded:

"Victoria being the capital city of British Columbia, is all the more reason why we in the Greater Victoria area should take pride in building up our city."

"If it proves to be in the best interests of all, Victoria should not be prevented from extending its borders."

"I feel sure a committee set up by the city of Victoria and Saanich with the technical advice and co-operation of our provincial government, will receive the whole-hearted support of our people."

"I appeal to all ratepayers in Saanich and Victoria: Let us prove to other municipalities our absolute faith and confidence in a greater Victoria."

He held an unannounced breakfast conference with the Speaker—and Democratic leader—of the House, Sam Rayburn, and appealed for his help in restoring the 30 per cent economy cut made by the House last week.

At the same time he sent a task force of four top administration officials to Capitol Hill to plead with the Senate appropriations committee to put back the $809,000,000 cut by the House.

State Secretary Dulles told senators "the whole foundation of our security structure is endangered by the cut of $809,650,000 in the foreign aid bill made last week by the House of Representatives."

If Congress is unwilling to provide the funds to help allies maintain their defences, Dulles said, "we face a new insecurity and a future of grave risks."

"The Senate faces a great responsibility to save the nation from this peril."

Accompanying Dulles to the session were John B. Hollister, outgoing foreign aid director; Admiral Arthur W. Radford, retired chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, the new chairman.

The alternative to the size military aid program asked by the administration is for the United States to increase its own defence strength and draft more men so that "nearly every able-bodied young man of military age would spend several years of his life in military service overseas."

"FORTRESS AMERICA"

"The cost would be staggering," he added.

Or, he said, "we could adopt a 'Fortress America' concept."

"In the world we live in today, such a concept is entirely negative and would merely mean that we postponed an ultimate and violent showdown with international communism or, in the long run, would capitulate," Radford said.

Despite Dulles' pleas, the Senate was expected to restore little, if any, of the House cut. Republican leaders, however, planned to make a fight for at least some increases.

Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland said Sunday night he will urge the Senate to raise the aid total to about three billion dollars. This is a little more than half way between the $2,524,760,000 voted by the House and the $3,367,000,000 originally authorized by Congress and approved by President Eisenhower.

LORD ALTRINCHAM
... no TV in U.S.

Critical Peer Would Prefer To Forget It

LONDON (UP)—Lord Altrincham tried to forget today that he ever said anything about Queen Elizabeth and her court. But he had a constant reminder outside his London home.

Letters two feet high said: "These insults against our Queen must stop." The inscription was signed by the "League of Empire Loyalists."

Altrincham Sunday night refused an invitation to appear on television in the United States during the Queen's visit in October.

"It would look as though I were dogging her footsteps," he said. "I feel now that I have said my bit and I want to pipe down."

Freelance writer Aiden MacKay, a member of the Loyalist League, told investigating Scotland Yard detectives that six Loyalists toured the city before dawn Sunday painting the slogans.

They also were discovered outside the offices of the National and English Review, which Altrincham edits, the New Statesman, which published a letter by Lord Londonderry supporting Altrincham, and outside the Home of Londonderry, himself.

A Sunday newspaper quoted friends of the Queen as saying Prince Philip had "lost several pounds in weight, grown noticeably more nervous and developed a drawn look since the criticism."

One Poll Supports New Hall

Saanich ratepayers gave an emphatic "NO" Saturday to the proposal to build a $225,000 permanent addition to relieve over-crowding at the municipal hall.

In a referendum, some 20 per cent of the eligible voters decided against the addition by a margin of 2,897 to 1,188.

In all but one of the 13 polling stations the majority was against the addition.

At Royal Oak 156 persons cast "yes" ballots, and 139 voted "no."

Total support amounted to 29 per cent of the voters. Sixty per cent was required for passage.

Here is how the vote went by districts:

DONAGHADEE, Northern Ireland (AP)—Florence Chadwick today postponed her attempt to swim the Irish Sea because of bad weather.

The San Diego, Calif., swimmer said tides will remain favorable until Wednesday. She aims to swim the 21½ miles from Donaghadee in Northern Ireland to Portpatrick, Scotland.

The only person to complete the swim was the late Tom Blower of England who did it in 15 hours, 27 minutes in 1947.

TYPHOON AGNES WHIPS ISLANDS

TOKYO (Reuters)—Thirty-foot waves and winds of 50 miles an hour pounded Okinawa and southern Japanese islands, but typhoon Agnes passed by without serious damage.

U.S. forces and their families, warned Sunday to stockpile provisions and stay indoors, breathed easy again as Agnes swept past leaving only fringe winds.

Doctor Soars 19 Miles High

From UP and CP Dispatches
BRainerd, Minn.—An air force doctor today soared more than 19 miles into the sky in a balloon to set a new manned-balloon altitude record.

"The balloon rose nearly vertically from its take-off site in an iron mine pit near Crosby, Minn."

An endurance test of man's ability to live in an artificial atmosphere for long periods of time at high altitude, the flight was expected to give the USAF important information on what pilots of the future must contend with during travel through space.

B.C. Traffic Kills Three, Pair Feared Drowned

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three persons died in traffic accidents in B.C. during the weekend. Two others were missing in boating mishaps and were feared to have drowned.

Dead are:

Jean Abel, 2, of Vancouver.

George Ostrikoff, New Westminster.

Omar St. Denis, Newton Station.

Stanley Hunter, South Westminster.

Tony Karlovich, engineer, 56, Vancouver.

Hunter was reported missing Sunday morning in a salmon-fishing derby at Horseshoe Bay in Howe Sound. Police and fishboats searched the waters in the area for four hours without success.

Karlovich fell overboard from the 60-foot seiner Race Rocks near the Sechart Peninsula, 40 miles north of Vancouver. The Race Rocks and three other fishboats found Karlovich's cap but no trace of the man.

Ostrikoff and St. Denis died on the way to hospital after a shattering collision 38 miles east of Hope Saturday night.

The Abel girl was killed Friday night in Burnaby when the trailer of a truck-trailer unit ran over a bus stop waiting bench and crushed her.

RCMP at Princeton said a car driven by Ostrikoff went around a sharp curve missed one vehicle and collided head-on with one driven by Arthur Jack of Newton.

St. Denis was a passenger in this car. Mr. and Mrs. Jack were taken to Chilliwack Hospital with undetermined injuries. Another passenger, Thomas Chersinoff, 31, of New Westminster, was in Princeton Hospital with head injuries and a broken thigh. The Jacks' children, Bobby, 11, and Larry, 7, were treated for minor injuries.

Bomb Threat Shadows Plane

TORONTO (CP)—A Trans-Canada Air Lines Viscount, target of a telephone threat in Winnipeg Sunday night, touched down safely in Toronto at 6:45 a.m. today.

PAT DUNN

Plane Search All the Way 'Big Strain'

G. F. (Pat) Dunn, well-known Victorian, was a passenger aboard TCA Flight 4 which underwent intensive searches following a bomb scare.

"We began to wonder what was up when they ordered all our baggage to be searched at Vancouver," he told his wife by phone this morning. "The RCMP even searched our clothing and almost took the plane apart bit by bit."

"That was bad enough, and we got into the plane with very mixed feelings. But at Edmonton there was a huge crowd waiting at the airport, and we had to go through the search all over again. It was a little nerve-racking, and I was happy enough to get off safely at Saskatoon."

Paris Embassy To Fly Home 71 Canadians

PARIS (AP)—The Canadian Embassy today chartered a special airliner to fly home 71 Canadian tourists who have been stranded here since their chartered plane failed to appear for them Saturday night.

The Canadians, all former emigrants from central Europe, flew here July 12 in a DC-4 of Overseas National Airlines. They were due to leave Orly field on the return flight Saturday night.

A spokesman for the American airline said his company had not been paid for the return flight by the organization which handled their trip. After waiting around for some hours, the Canadians took their problem to the Canadian Embassy. They were given a meal at the airport restaurant and taken to Paris hotels.

Today an embassy spokesman said the plight of the tourists seemed to be due to "some sort of a mix-up of plans."

"We have contacted Overseas National and ordered a special plane to get them home," he said. "We don't know yet when it will arrive. Meanwhile we are helping them all financially."

SENATE OKAYS McELROY ROST

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate today confirmed President Eisenhower's nomination of Neil H. McElroy, Cincinnati soap manufacturer, to be secretary of defence.

The action came by voice vote with only a handful of senators on the floor. Senate approval cleared the way for McElroy to succeed Charles Wilson in the nation's top defence post.

McElroy will take over the defence post from Wilson around October 1.

French Parry Wage Hikes By 'Freeze'

PARIS (UP)—French Finance Minister Felix Gaillard will freeze French prices Tuesday in his fourth major move to head off a new round of wage demands, informed sources said today.

They said Gaillard first would increase some prices that are economically too low and then freeze all prices. The products expected to go up include aluminum by 6 or 7 per cent and plate glass about 1/4 cent a square yard.

The sources said Gaillard would hold the line on bread prices by lowering the wholesale prices of wheat, and would raise the tax on veal 120 francs a kilo (15 cents a pound) to stimulate beef production.

They said the price freeze was designed to placate labor leaders who were demanding new wage hikes. The nation's three largest unions already have served notice they would make their demands as soon as most French workers return to their jobs following the summer vacations.

Four Men Die In Gas-Filled Tunnel Trap

OSWEGO, N.Y. (AP)—An explosion tore through a tunnel cut in rock 100 feet below Lake Ontario and killed three construction workers Sunday then turned the 6,250-foot tunnel into a gas-filled death trap that claimed another worker's life early today.

The fourth man was overcome fatally as he worked with a crew trying to bring out the bodies of the three blast victims. Further efforts at retrieving the three bodies were called off until ventilating equipment could be installed.

Lloyd Matteson, 32 one of the approximately 100 workers who labored at the scene, ran out of oxygen about 1,500 feet inside the gas-filled tunnel. Fellow workers said he started running back toward the entrance, apparently became panicky and tore off his oxygen mask. Then he collapsed.

The other workers said they hadn't enough oxygen to give Matteson. They carried him to the surface but he was dead when they brought him out.

Two coast guardsmen working with the rescue crews found the bodies of the three construction men eight hours after the explosion. The bodies were about 4,000 feet inside the tunnel, being built as part of a new city water supply system.

Rites Tuesday For Well-Known Church Worker

Mrs. Bessie Helena Wilderspin, 92 Wellington Avenue, well-known church worker in Victoria, a member of Metropolitan Church for over 60 years, died here Sunday.

A daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Wills, a pioneer family of Victoria, Mrs. Wilderspin took an active interest in the Mission to Lepers and the West Coast Shantymen's Mission.

Before her marriage, she was employed by Wilson Brothers, an early Victoria firm. During the First World War, Mrs. Wilderspin and members of her church, also did much to provide concerts and entertainment for troops stationed in the city.

SURVIVORS

She is survived by the widower, Ernest Charles Wilderspin, one sister, Mrs. Amy A. Wills, 1092 Cloverdale Avenue; two brothers, Rev. Percy E. Wills, 1092 Colverdale, and Archie H. Wills, 1231 Fairfield Road, as well as two nephews and three nieces.

Funeral services will be held at McCall's Chapel at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday. Rev. Dr. F. E. H. James, assisted by Rev. Percy Wills, her brother, will officiate at the service.

FBI Traces Daughter Of Ex-Envoy to Reds

THE HAGUE (Reuters)—Mrs. Martha Dodd Stern, daughter of a former American ambassador to Germany and who was named as a Soviet spy before the un-American activities committee, has travelled by KLM Royal Dutch Airlines from Mexico City to Prague, it was reliably learned today.

She was accompanied by her husband, businessman Alfred Stern.

A source here said the Stern couple arrived at Schiphol airport here July 21 and left for the Communist capital one hour later.

In Washington, congressional investigators have said that testimony by United States counter-spy Boris Morros clearly established that the daughter of the late ambassador was "part of the Soviet apparatus." Chairman Francis Walter (Dem., Pa.) of the House of Representatives committee on un-American activities said Morros named Mrs. Stern as a Soviet spy who once tried to betray Morris' activities to the Russians.

Mrs. Stern is the socially prominent daughter of the late William E. Dodd, who was ambassador to Nazi Germany from 1933 to 1938. She and her husband recently vanished from Mexico City.

Stern is a wealthy investment broker.

The Instructions Are Clear

IN REJECTING BY A VOTE OF more than two-to-one their council's request for permission to build a permanent $225,000 addition to the municipal hall, Saanich voters have done more than merely indicate a preference in construction plans. They have said by implication that they are interested in further studies on a joint Victoria-Saanich hall. They have also clearly chastised their council, which urged the measure, and commended Reeve Arthur Ash, who opposed it.

It is not the first time Saanich voters have signified their approval of an investigative approach to joint use of a hall with the city. On an earlier occasion the so-called "old guard" of the Saanich council interpreted the people's vote in favor of a study as a vote against it. That interpretation has now been completely repudiated.

It is to be hoped that council members who have fought bitterly with the Reeve for more than a year on this issue will now read the writing on the wall. Those who find themselves still unable to accept the voters' verdict might well consider whether it is in the interests of the municipality that they continue to stand for office. Council members' action, for instance, in spending $10,000 on plans for a hall addition which the people obviously do not want carries its own criticism of their judgment and their business methods.

Since additional room for staffs is still a pressing necessity, the vote was in effect an order for council to provide low-cost temporary quarters to serve until the question of co-operation with Victoria is settled. This, too, has been Reeve Ash's plan.

Saturday's vote was not a vote for an integrated hall, nor was it a vote for amalgamation. It was a vote for an enlightened study of these problems to produce the facts on which a decision may be made at some future time.

Reading between the lines of the results, it was also an expression of public impatience with the bickering and petty quarrels that have marked the year's activities in council. With a population of nearly 40,000 Saanich can no longer be administered on the level of a rural village. The municipality has grown much more quickly than the outlook of some of those who handle its affairs. Saturday's vote was, above all, a call to "get cracking."

We Don't Need It

SPEAKING FOR A GROUP OF businessmen opposed to a one-way traffic system for Government and Douglas Streets, Mr. Lloyd McKenzie likens the proposed $30,000 Roundabout traffic signal plan to the use of "an atomic bomb to blow up a stump."

The comparison is a particularly apt one. The whole project based on the first Faustman recommendation appears to be far too extravagant for the situation it purports to correct.

It would erect thousands of dollars worth of signals to control a traffic condition which exists for only an hour or so each weekday. It would convert two of the widest avenues in the city into one-way streets, with a consequent disruption of established routes and business arrangements. It would create serious new traffic problems on the connecting streets between the one-way arteries and at the junction points near the city centre where two-way traffic would be resumed. It guarantees no significant speed-up of traffic into or out of the city, but it does threaten to slow up the flow at times when no control is needed.

The city engineer says the Roundabout situation does not yet require so drastic a step. The Faustman recommendations, authoritative as they are, are designed more as a guide for the future than as an immediate necessity. Those who are familiar with Roundabout traffic at times other than the short rush hour are almost unanimous in urging rejection of the proposed top-heavy project.

A majority of the Council has approved the change, but it is not too late, surely, for so expensive and so sweeping a plan to be given further thought. There are many problems in the city which require study and action. There is little point in creating a great issue, and giving top priority to a project for which there is little demand and no real need. Council should put this idea on the shelf for a decade or two.

The Right of Dissolution

VARIOUS CANADIAN COMMENTATORS have been arguing a constitutional abstraction which once convulsed our politics but is not relevant today.

What would happen, they ask, if Mr. Diefenbaker asked the Governor-General to dissolve the newly-elected Parliament? Would Mr. Massey be obliged to accept advice or could he refuse it? And if the Crown is always compelled to follow the counsel of the prime minister, what happens when a defeated prime minister secures one dissolution after another and thus clings indefinitely to office?

These questions arouse immediately the ghosts of 1926 when Mr. Mackenzie King's career was saved by the famous Byng Incident. But most of the current discussion loses sight of the facts behind the great constitutional issue a generation ago. The position of Prime Minister King then is by no means the position of Prime Minister Diefenbaker today.

The 1926 election probably decided once and for all that no Canadian Governor-General could refuse a dissolution to a prime minister fully established in office. It was on this point, and this alone, that Mr. King returned to power after Viscount Byng had refused to dissolve Parliament at his request.

The people's verdict in that election did not mean, however, that a prime minister can demand a dissolution before he has received a vote of confidence in Parliament. Mr. King never suggested such an absurd proposition. He claimed a dissolution only after he had governed in a newly-elected Parliament for the better part of a year and had received a series of confidence votes.

By this precedent Mr. Diefenbaker certainly would not be entitled to a dissolution before he meets Parliament and secures a confidence vote, as he assuredly will receive it.

Once such a vote is passed, his advice on dissolution cannot be refused. He will then be free to call an election whenever he wishes, regardless of the opposition's convenience. This, no doubt, he will do in his own time.

The Little Woman

WOMANKIND, ALWAYS A fascinating subject, recently produced two news stories apparently unrelated, but The Winnipeg Free Press sees in them a rather diabolical association.

One of every four jobs in Canada, says the first item, is now held by a woman, and one out of ten executive positions is also controlled by the so-called weaker sex.

The second item announces from Rome that skirts will be much shorter from now on.

In these two announcements The Free Press sees an iron logic. Man, it observes, is being driven steadily out of his citadel as the master of business but man is still supreme in the control of women's fashions.

He remains the architect (if that is the word) of dress design and his orders from Rome, Paris or New York are weakly followed by women everywhere even while they increasingly decide the course of business. In these great matters, the male is entitled to say, only his sex can be trusted.

At any rate, the Free Press remarks rather sourly, the men who dictate fashions to women have been working overtime to make their customers look ridiculous. The see-saw of the skirt, for example, has been going on for five years and the feminine form has been re-arranged at least six times, "each time indisputably for the worse."

But, the prairie editors admit, woman seem to survive, ridiculous or not. The male fashion designers may re-arrange her but they cannot stop her. She bestrides the world like a colossus in skirts, high or low.

Sport's the Thing

SEVERAL magazine articles have given attention recently to mankind's continuing craze for crazes. The variety of games, toys, and fads whereby adults get relief from being adults never seems to slacken in its appeal. Fashions in such things come and go but at least one is always with us to provide fun for some people and an object of ridicule for others. One way or another the fads provide amusement.

One of the most typical of these urges was the craze for miniature golf which swept this continent in the thirties. Although this part of the country is always among the last to be affected by fashions in amusement or anything else, it went wholeheartedly into the business once the idea arrived.

I can remember how the little trick golf courses sprang up all over town. Thousands of players turned out to putt a ball down narrow "fairways," negotiating small tunnels, wire hoops, sloping surfaces, "mouseholes," and other hazards before sinking the final shot.

Here Today . . .

One such course was located on Fort Street between Blanshard and Vancouver. Another was on Douglas opposite Woodward's present site. A third occupied what is now Thunderbird Park.

As time went on the courses increased in luxury and price. Someone developed a green-dyed cotton seed material which when rolled into the fairways provided an ideal surface.

Then almost as suddenly as they had appeared the courses faded away. A few hung on for a while after the majority had closed, but their day was done. Only on an occasional secluded private lawn today will you find remnants of the fad.

I forget which craze followed miniature golf. But something must have. Yo-yos came a little later. For a while every school boy and many girls twirled the little wooden knobs in all directions. The zip of yo-yo strings dominated every schoolyard group. Gradually the popularity died, but it was never quite extinguished.

Never Say Die

In this the yo-yo has proven stronger than other fads. It still has frequent revivals, and one manufacturer claims to have sold 15 millions of the toys last year. Adults, too, get drawn into the thing. There have even been national yo-yo championships.

Dolls of various odd types, little mechanical men, crazy gadgets of every imaginable kind are constantly appearing. Diabolo—featuring a spool suspended on a string between two sticks—had a limited run. Slinky—the spring that walks downstairs—won its adherents. It is estimated that 14 million Slinkys have been sold since they appeared in 1946.

Frisbee is the current fad, although I have not seen it here. It originated in the eastern U.S. colleges and has spread rapidly through that country. The Frisbee is a plastic disc—the originals were tin pie plates—which are skimmed through the air and must be kept constantly in motion by opposing teams.

It seems that some youths have added spice to this pastime by using a rotary saw disc as the Frisbee—a refinement which citizens who prize their full quota of fingers will probably pass up.

Such fads are not confined to our own era. We can go back a little farther to Ouija boards, or the charm bracelets of an earlier age. Jacks and marbles are in the same category although they constantly recur.

Which One?

Hundreds of candidates for popularity, of course, never catch on. And queerly enough, even the inventors and manufacturers confess they cannot predict which one will sell in the millions and which one will die on the store counters. Some of the least likely gadgets, such as Slinky, which has a very limited repertoire, turn out to be the greatest favorites. Some of the cleverest have no appeal; some of the silliest enjoy the biggest vogue.

One expert surmises that crazy toys are bought by adults because many people are ill at ease in beginning a conversation. The goofy gadget gets a laugh, demands an explanation and the chatting is off to a quick start.

There might well be some truth in this theory, although it seems to carry its own criticism of the human animal's intelligence.

Two classes of people appear to support the temporary pastimes: those who want to be first in their group to have one of the gadgets, and those of a less pioneering spirit who feel uncomfortable unless they are keeping up with the rest of the mob.

Between these pullers and pushers the fad gets established. But that does not explain why one fad appeals and another fails.

The manufacturers should not feel ashamed of their ignorance. They needn't be embarrassed by not knowing what the public will like, and why. The public doesn't know either.

Live Wires

I have always maintained that business men running their own businesses or men employed in certain jobs for big companies, were bad bets for mayors or city councils.

I still think so but it is evident according to press reports, that Ed Mallek, Paul Arsens and Doug Gourlay have a bit of the real fire in them when they object to the changing of the Roundabout at a most terrible expense of $30,000, and possibly more. As far as I have heard it is quite satisfactory as it is. As soon as I saw we had at least three live wire business men shouting out about it, I thought it would be well to give them a boost.

May I suggest to them whilst they are about it, that they object to the city taking the taxpayers money to pay $2,800 for a supper for 700 or 800 Canadian Chamber of Commerce delegates at the convention of September 29 to October 3. The Chamber of Commerce are the ones to supply that money themselves not the taxpayers of Victoria. They can raise it the same as the Kiwanis do on many occasions.

They should also plant their feet down on the sink regulations, and what is quite evident favoritism to some.

Mrs. A. MARSHALL.

Einstein's Opinion

I wonder where your correspondent, Mrs. A. Colclough, ever read that Albert Einstein "became convinced of God's existence as the originator of the Universe," and that other scientists have the same belief.

"The Humanist" recently reviewed "A Treasury of Jewish Quotations." This review states that more than one-half of its 18,000 quotations have never before been published in English. Einstein is quoted as follows, "In their struggle for the ethical good, teachers of religion must have the stature to give up the doctrine of a personal God . . . that source of fear and hope which in the past placed such vast power in the hands of priests. In their labors they will have to avail themselves of those forces which are capable of cultivating the Good, the True, and the Beautiful in humanity itself."

In reply to the question that Mrs. Colclough always asks atheists, "How did the universe originate?" most atheists, as well as scientists, would reply that the universe has always existed. If she insists on an ambiguous statement in the Bible, "In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth," as being the truth, then she must answer the little child who asked "If God created the earth, who then created God?"

The New France

IF YOU travel much between France and England, as this reporter has recently been doing, the contrast between these two Western allies ends by seeming downright mystifying. In England, the disaster at Suez changed everything, leaving behind an all-together new bitterness and sense of being diminished, bringing in a new government, causing a sharp break with all the recent past. In France, on the contrary, the disaster at Suez—changed nothing, leaving the vast majority of people here quite untouched by any sense of defeat and even rather exhilarated.

No doubt this is largely to be explained by the difference in the British and French experiences in the post-war years.

Britain ended the Second World War in glorious victory. But the effort had been exhausting.

For Britain, therefore, the post-war years have been a long struggle against odds to maintain the standards of a first class world power, while satisfying the material aspirations of the British people. And at Suez the odds against Britain as a first class power finally proved to be too heavy.

Sour Anger

France, in contrast, ended the Second World War with all the sour anger, all the tendency towards internal incrimination, recrimination, all the flat hopelessness, of a nation that has experienced both surrender and occupation.

In those post-war years in France, it seemed to this reporter, as it seemed to the vast majority of Frenchmen, that France would never live again as a great nation.

It is hard to decide exactly what brought about the immense change that has taken place in France since that early period of flat hopelessness.

One cause, perhaps, was France's natural wealth which is greater than Britain's. Another cause, almost certainly, was the program of basic investment drawn up by Jean Monnet and carried through, with Marshall aid, by the French government in the early post-war time. That program was certainly aimed at national renovation.

The starting point that most people now miss, however, is simply that France has now achieved national renovation—one is almost tempted to say national renaissance. Every practical index proves the dramatic rebirth of French national leadership.

The birth rate has risen astonishingly. The rate of industrial output has risen even more astonishingly. Many other signs point in the same direction.

This reporter has not spent much time in France in the last five years but expected no great change when he returned

And he gives as the reason for all this that the Bible is not being taught as it should be, and that in order to meet these growing problems we must turn to "God" and the Bible and the Ten Commandments to find help.

May I remind Mr. Robinson that it was from the Bible that the order "Thou shalt not suffer a witch to live," became the foundation from which resulted the deaths by burning of more than nine millions of innocent women as witches, when because of the Bible ignorant people believed in witchcraft.

Science and intelligence tell us now there never were any witches. And it was the Bible and its commandments which caused the Spanish Inquisition with its hundreds of years of deaths and persecutions. It was the Bible which caused hundreds of religious wars down through the ages, and is now in America causing hopeless division of still ignorant people into more than 260 different and conflicting, and tremendously costly church divisions, all detrimental to a high standard of citizenship.

L. J. PEPPER.

The Cross

The suggestion made by the British Israel Association to erect a cross on Mount Arrowsmith or elsewhere is a wonderful idea.

The cross atop Mount Royal in Montreal makes visitor and resident alike pause and think.

As one approaches Canada's largest city whether by ship, plane, train or car the cross, illuminated by night and catching the sunshine by day, is a beautiful and uplifting reminder of Christianity.

Speaking on behalf of my fellow travellers we would love to see a similar cross exposed in some advantageous position on this beautiful island.

Surely more thought-provoking than any statue to Sir James Douglas or (perish the thought) Jesus Christ.

Indignity

What an indignity! That the Houses of Parliament should be thrown open for the use of an international convention. Most people know the conditions connected with and surrounding such a robust affair, no matter what nature or purpose.

Whatever excuse is offered for so doing the fact remains that any International Bingo Game, seeking large gratuitous covered space, such as the Houses of Parliament, might be granted a like favour; including the lavish cafeteria always under subsidy from the taxpayers.

It is tacitly understood that the Houses of Parliament have been—and are—dedicated to the nation's business; supported and maintained by the taxpayers of Canada. The dignity and honor serving in said House is a privilege granted by the people.

This present innovation is a travesty on tradition. One might as well expect a Cathedral to be used for a Casino—except that reverence and respect is not for religion alone.

The New France

here. Hence the experience of returning and seeing the new self-confidence and new energy of France have been immensely exciting and impressive. And this new energy and new self-confidence were proof against the set-back at Suez.

The change in France has been masked from the world, meanwhile, for a simple reason. Although the country has greatly altered, the Government has not altered. The cabinet of Prime Minister Bourges-Maunoury represents approximately the same uneasy balance of conflicting interests and opposed viewpoints that every French cabinet has represented since General Charles de Gaulle left office in a huff shortly after the war.

The natural result of this kind of government was bitterly described to this reporter by a brilliant and cynical young French deputy during a discussion of the Algerian problem.

Both Sides

"We cannot make war because it would offend the Left," said the deputy, as though he were stating a Euclidean proposition. "And we cannot make peace because it would offend the Right. So we continue to shed blood and pour out treasure with no end in view."

This governmental inability to take great decisions is not absolute, and it does not mean that French governments lack very able and courageous men. One such man is Bourges-Maunoury's youthful, astute and tough finance minister, Felix Gaillard.

Gaillard has not exactly checked France's dangerous fiscal drifting, which has continued for so many years. But he has, so to speak, got the vessel under partial control, and thus he has raised real hope for the fiscal future.

In sum, the French outlook would be decidedly promising if it were not for the basic, still unsettled question of France's standing, not as a great nation but as a great world power. In a queer way, France's national revival has made this an acute question. Few Frenchmen would have bothered to claim standing for France as a world power ten years ago, but most of them do so now.

Torturing Problem

This question, plus the torturing problem of the million and more Frenchmen who make their homes there, are the two real roots of the Algerian difficulty.

Even more than the uneasy balance in the government, these are the reasons why in Algeria, France will neither make war nor peace. And once again, as in the case of Britain, the unanswered question about France's standing as a world power is a constant threat to the unity of the Western Alliance.

Indeed, the outlook now is that the dispute about Algeria will cause a split between France and the other Western allies, at the on-coming session of the United Nations, that will be deeper and worse than any split in the Western Alliance in all the post-war years.

Grandmother Menzies

IN THE MORNINGS, when she wakes early as the old so often do, she sometimes lies looking at the picture of Grandmother Menzies that hangs upon her bedroom wall.

It was part of her inheritance when her mother died, and she plans to leave it to her favorite grandchild, Wendy.

Because Wendy is the only one who's shown any interest in it.

"Would she be my great-grandmother?" asked Wendy of the ponytail and tordador pants.

"Two greats," said her grandmother, looking at the picture of the quiet, young woman with the wide-apart eyes, smooth wings of brown hair on the forehead, and the natural line of head and neck hidden by the bulge of chignon. "I only remember her when she was old with tiny arthritic hands. They were soft and white and bent, and we were allowed to slip our hands inside them if we were very gentle."

"She looks darling," said Wendy cheerfully. "What do you think she'd think of me?"

"Goodness knows," said her grandmother, amused by the frank egotism of the young. "Altogether, she'd be a bit startled by the world as it is now."

"Why? Wasn't it like that then?" asked Wendy.

"If you go downstairs," said her grandmother, "you might find some of those chocolate cookies in the fridge."

So, the young stomach being what it is, Wendy departed and left her grandmother to her thoughts.

Jet planes and modern weapons, she thought. Lobbing death from one continent to another. This constant war of nerves, and even children talking about the chances of survival. It's monstrous, really I don't know why we put up with it.

And the noise of everything, her mind went on. The noise of planes and the noise of cars, and the infernal noise of household gadgets, including the blare of radio. An age of noise, violence and vulgarity. Even my youth was quiet and peaceful by comparison.

And she closed her eyes as if, by closing them, she could shut out the horrors of the modern world.

"How silly of me," she said aloud with a sudden flicker of the determination and common sense that ran through the family. "It's stupid to see only one side. And lots of things are better."

Slowly, she let her mind wander over them—the spread of education, the gradual breaking down of class distinction and color prejudice, the growth of the idea that we are all members of the human race, the noble ideal of raising living standards all over the world.

The magnitude of modern horrors was terrible, she reflected. But the magnitude of the hopes and ideals was magnificent.

Wendy and Grandmother Menzies, she thought, bringing the general down to the particular. Make them both twenty and bring them together, and probably they'd shock each other with their different outlook. Some of Grandmother's ideas would strike Wendy as immoral. And some of Wendy's ideas would be much to much for Grandmother.

Then, because it was almost time for the news, she switched on the bedside radio.

"You, too, can have Sex Appeal," said a honeyed voice. "You, too, can have a youthful line thanks to this new uplift Wonder-Bra!"

Shades of Grandmother Menzies, she thought, and switched off the radio with an almost vicious snap.

The first completely steel pen nib was introduced in London, England, in 1803.

On Saturday, Aug. 24, James Island is staging its first fall fair, the scheduled attractions to include a showing of flowers and vegetables.

Invariably, these small shows stimulate interest in gardening, leading to better layouts, improved cultural methods and to more comprehensive shows with keener competition in the future.

CITIZENS' BODY TO SEE JOHN D. ON DOSCO DEAL

NEW GLASGOW, N.S. (BUP)—A citizens' meeting Saturday night called for a committee to present Prime Minister John Diefenbaker with the province's arguments against the bid of A. V. Roe of Canada to buy the Dominion Steel & Coal Corporation.

The committee named Nova Scotia Premier Robert L. Stanfield to state the province's case.

The policy statement severely criticized the provision of credit to what it called "foreign interest" to enable them to buy Dosco. It said "it is obvious that A. V. Roe has contacts with Canadian banking authorities which enable them to obtain privileges not enjoyed by Canadians at large in these times of 'tight money'."

Russ Missile Bases Reported by Japanese

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese economic journal says Russia has built two bases for launching guided missiles and is constructing a new submarine base in the Vladivostok area that it closed to foreign navigation July 20.

The newspaper Nihon Keizai pinpoints the missile bases at Slavyanka and Krahkino, about 40 miles and 80 miles respectively southwest of Vladivostok.

It says the Slavyanka base was completed June 3 and the Krahkino base July 20. A new submarine base is "either near completion or being built" at Poset, about 10 miles south of Krahkino, it adds.

Nihon Keizai quotes sources in the Japanese government's research section on its information. The section collects and analyzes foreign information for the prime minister. Officials declined to comment on the report.

Marilyn Inspires Channel Swimmer

MARGATE, Eng. (Reuters)—The courage and cheerfulness of Marilyn Bell, who at 17 became the youngest person ever to swim the English Channel, will help her swimmer in his first attempt Tuesday.

Barry Woodward, 22, who

Ingrid's Girl Scoffs Rumor Of Romance

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (UP)—Ingrid Bergman said a sad goodbye Sunday night to her daughter, Jenny Ann Lindstrom, and ended their first reunion in six years.

Jenny Ann, 18, flew to Stockholm to join her father, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, barely 45 minutes after she and her actress-mother arrived here from Rome.

Miss Bergman planned to stay for two or three days with her aunt, Mrs. Vita Ell. Jenny was en route to the United States where she is a student at the University of Colorado.

Before leaving Rome, Jenny laughed off rumors of a romance with Franco Rosellini, nephew of Miss Bergman's husband. The Swedish actress earlier had angrily denied the reports as ridiculous.

"It was a wonderful vacation and I am sorry it is all over," Jenny said before leaving.

helped the Toronto girl in her 1955 successful bid, is one of 24 swimmers entered in Billy Butlin's sixth annual cross-channel race.

He keeps Marilyn's picture in his room at the hotel headquarters here. It is signed "thanks for everything, love, Marilyn."

He also has a picture of Marilyn's coach, signed "To Barry—a magnificent swimmer—Gus Ryder."

In 1955, when Marilyn swam the channel in 14 hours 35 minutes, Barry swam with her for about eight hours of the crossing.

Woodward was among the 24 swimmers from 15 countries who today nervously watched the skies, held dampened fingers to the wind and dipped tentative toes in the cold water of the channel.

This afternoon they planned to board a plane for France and take the plunge off Cap Gris Nez just after midnight.

SAY WATER ROUGH
A high pressure weather area early today pushed in around the white-cliff coast of Dover, finishing point in the race just south of here, and boosted the temperature. But reports from Cap Gris Nez said the water there was rough.

Butlin, millionaire holiday camp king, decided on going to France by plane after last year's crossing by boats ended in near-fiasco.

Choppy water turned Billy himself so seakick green that he could scarcely fire the starting flare. Some competitor's boats went off course and failed to find the starting beach. None of the swimmers finished the race to Dover.

Billy has been fattening up the 24 on a diet including 10 pounds of steak and five gallons of milk each a week.

Joint favorites for the laurels are two women—Danish-born Greta Anderson, 30, now a swimming instructor at Long Beach, Calif., and England's Brenda Fish, 29, holder of the women's cross-channel record time of 12 hours, 42 minutes.

Spiked by some tunes by that reliable American tunesmith Cole Porter and the gay dancing of Fred Astaire and Cyd Charisse of the delightfully-long and shapely Petty Girl-like limbs, "Silk Stockings" in reality is nothing more than a 1957 version of Greta Garbo's 1930-ish "Ninotchka."

It also holds much the same flavor as Bob Hope and Katharine Hepburn's late and unlamented "The Iron Petticoat"—a dedicated female Soviet worker of the people finds that a party with the decadent playboys of the West is much more fun than the party she has been attending for so long in Moscow.

THE AMAZING Mr. Astaire proves once again that he is still, after two decades, the best male dancer in the motion picture business today. And although one or two of his dances with Miss Charisse are sheer delight he shines best as the great solo dancer he is. One number in particular is guaranteed to entrance his following. It is a rock 'n' roll number done in full evening dress.

Much of the comedy can be laid to the shenanigans of three humorous gents named Peter, Lorre, Jules & Munshin and Joseph Buloff. And Wim Sonneveld is good as a famous Russian composer who is the cause of all the fuss. Janis Paige performs ably as a brassy American film star and does wonderful things for some lengerie in a private showing for the bug-eyed Sonneveld.

"Silk Stockings", in short, makes for excellent summer film fare.

Some 250,000 festival fans are expected to visit the Scottish capital in the next three weeks to get their full of drama, opera, ballet, concerts, art shows, movies—and of course, the cream of Scotland's pipers.

Sunday night's world premiere of the British screen comedy Lucky Jim, based on the novel by Welsh writer Kingsley Amis, won rave notices this morning.

The movie critic of the London Daily Mail, reviewing Lucky Jim says its producers have discovered a "very good thing" in Toronto actress Sharon Acker.

She stars opposite British comedian Ian Carmichael in the screen story of a down-to-earth, belligerent junior lecturer in a provincial university.

"The film brings rapid promotion to Sharon Acker, the lovely 21-year-old Canadian discovery," critic Cecil Wilson writes.

Firms Share $5.5 Million Pier Contract
OTTAWA (CP)—Contract for the construction of a $5,500,000 Princess Avenue pier in Vancouver harbor has been awarded to Northern Construction Company and J. W. Stewart Limited, a Vancouver engineering firm.

The transport department announced that work on the addition to the national harbors board facilities will begin immediately. The new pier is expected to be completed in 1958.

Transport Minister Hees said in a statement that "in view of an expected increase in traffic for the port of Vancouver it has been considered necessary that additional berthing facilities be constructed and as business warrants and further traffic needs arise, additional harbor facilities, including piers will be developed."

Theatre Guild Plans Five Plays

Bernard Shaw's famous story of the London flower girl who was turned into a "lily" will be revived in the original by the Victoria Theatre Guild during the coming winter season.

The guild will play "Pygmalion" as Shaw wrote it—before it was revised as a movie and then turned into the successful musical comedy "My Fair Lady."

Four other major productions will be staged at the Langham Court Theatre during the guild's 23rd season. The plays and their directors are: "Confidential Clerk," Moya Mulholland; "Duet for Two Hands," Elizabeth Mayne; "The A. geles alone."

Here's Gas Heating at its best... in a really compact unit!

FAIRBANKS-MORSE GAS FIRED FORCED AIR FURNACE

This compact furnace is especially designed to occupy a small amount of floor space and still give maximum heating efficiency. Units are completely enclosed in modern-style cabinets finished in beautiful easy-to-clean tan enamel. Advanced F-M design assures all the things you want in a heating unit... automatic circulation of warm, healthful heat at desired temperature... quiet operation... economy features that cut fuel costs; plus low upkeep cost because of Fairbanks-Morse service facilities. Installation costs are low, too, because the furnace is pre-tested at the factory and completely assembled. To be sure of the best in gas heating for many winters to come, install a Fairbanks-Morse space saver gas fired furnace.

GUARANTEE—The heat exchanger element in all Fairbanks-Morse UGH Series Gas Furnaces is guaranteed against burning out or rusting out for 10 years from the date of purchase.

PRIEST SLAIN BY HUNGARIANS

VIENNA (UP)—A Roman Catholic priest and two freedom fighters have been executed by Hungary's Communist government for their alleged part in last fall's rebellion, it was learned today.

Newspapers reaching Vienna from Red-run Budapest disclosed that the Rev. Laszlo Mindszenti was executed in the Hungarian capital after being convicted of belonging to a revolutionary organization in the north-west Hungarian town of Perand and of having concealed weapons.

Ex-Newspaper Official Dies On Visit Here

Robert James Robb, 71, former business manager of the Edmonton Bulletin, died suddenly while visiting Victoria.

Well known in this city where he had many friends, Mr. Robb was a resident of Edmonton since 1911. He worked for 25 years for the Bulletin. When the newspaper ceased publication a few years ago, he became secretary-treasurer of the Stanco Machine Co. of Edmonton.

He was born in Glasgow in 1885 and was married in 1919. He is survived by the widow, two sons, Robert William, Winnipeg, Brian Richard, Edmonton; two daughters, Mrs. F. M. Newson, Edmonton, and Mrs. T. E. Hale, Calgary; two brothers, James, of 54 Boyd Street, and Thomas, Edmonton; two sisters, Mrs. W. Hawker, Edmonton, Mrs. Tom Blair, Dundee, Scotland.

Funeral services will be held in Edmonton.

5,000 Trips Chalked Up By Courier

MONTREAL (CP)—Len de Grandpre, of Ottawa, diplomatic courier for the last 12 years, felt in a rut after travelling a million miles on 5,000 trips.

He retired here last weekend at the age of 30.

His career began in 1945 when as an office boy in the United Kingdom high commissioner's office in Ottawa he volunteered to fly to Montreal to meet a British Overseas Airlines flight.

He returned to Ottawa with the mail under his personal protection.

Since then he has met 2,238 BOAC flights from London, each involving a two-way trip between Ottawa and Montreal. He logged 750,000 miles between the cities on TCA flights and 200,000 miles by train when weather ruled out flying.

Inflation may hit the traditional 10-cent price of a glass of beer in Victoria's beer parlors.

Hotelmen met in Vancouver today to discuss action to be taken as a result of 9 per cent wage boost slated for waiters and bartenders at four city hotels.

James Neely, president of the Hotel and Innkeepers Association of B.C., and owner of the Douglas Hotel here, said the meeting will consider the problem of rising costs and what to do about them.

In the past "we've been very, very reluctant to make any increases," he said. "But it is hard to say what we are going to do."

Organizing Drive Gets Results

Meanwhile, the two and one-half month organizational drive among other hotel employees and restaurant workers in the city began picking up steam.

First negotiations open Wednesday for 40 employees of three hotels recently certified by the Beverage Dispensers and Culinary Workers' Union, local 835.

Business agent James Bellavance said the union would ask for hourly wages of 97 cents for maids and $1.20 for clerks at the Douglas, Royal Olympic and Westholme hotels. Present pay is between 65 and 70 cents for maids and 75 to 90 for clerks.

Boosts for janitors, elevator operators and bellboys also are asked. The union seeks reduction in the work week, from 44 hours in six days to 40 hours in five days, and union shops.

Certification for Churchill Hotel workers has just been won. Applications for certification

Famed Nature Artist Dies

PIEDMONT, Calif. (AP)—Chang Shu-chi, creator of some of the world's most delicate representations of birds and flowers, died here Sunday of cancer. He was 59. One of the greatest modern Chinese water color artists in the classic tradition, Chang was born and educated in Hangchow where his school of painting has for centuries maintained standards of precision and delicacy seldom approached elsewhere.

TOPS ATOM TEST RADIATION

Luminous Dial 'A Risk'

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman Lewis L. Strauss, of the Atomic Energy Commission, has told Congress there is greater radiation danger in a luminous dial wristwatch than in a campaign against the tests. Strauss, whose testimony July 10 before a House appropriations committee was released Sunday night, also said that Russia is not "anywhere near the position that we are in the development of atomic energy". If Soviet power approached that of the United States, he said, "they would demonstrate it for the propaganda benefit".

GOOD REASON FOR A GOOD SMILE

Smiling, Billy Wakeham poses with the Canadian junior championship trophy at Winnipeg after he took the crown Saturday. Victoria youngster fired 73-70—143, one under par, to top field of provincial champions. At 16, he's one of youngest ever to win trophy.

Ernie Didn't Plan It, But He's Ladder Champ

Tested systems and new formulas by the dozens were put to the test at Saanich Inlet Sunday as almost 500 anglers matched skills in the fish-off of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby.

Most of them fooled one or more salmon during a day of excellent fishing, but when the last fish had been placed on the scales an unplanned manoeuvre had been proved the most effective and Ernie Townsend was the 1957 ladder derby champion.

Townsend won first prize of a 16-foot inboard cabin boat and the Woodward's Trophy for the 30-pound, three-ounce, spring salmon he hooked while letting out his line near Chesterfield Rock.

The Langford resident had just checked his Strip Teaser at a few minutes after 10 a.m. and had unwound about 75 feet of line while dropping the lure down for another try when the big fellow hit.

ANXIOUS WAITING

Townsend, who disposed of his former boat earlier this summer, weighed in the fish before noon and then had a few hours of anxious waiting to see if the catch would stand up. As it turned out, the salmon—largest he has ever caught and his first button-sized fish in Saanich Inlet—had a second-place edge over the second-place entry.

No less than seven salmon of over 20 pounds were landed by derby entrants and it took a 17-pound three-ounce to win the 10th, and last regular fishing prize.

Vic Holman, Jr., finished in second place and won an automatic sewing machine with a 23-pound, two-ounce spring that grabbed his Strip Teaser in front of The Boulder.

Jack Rowe, also using herring strip, reeled in a 22-pound, one-ounce specimen in front of the Stone House to take third prize of an outboard motor.

ONE OUNCE DIFFERENCE

Howard Puckett bettered Percy Corry's 21-pound, 14-ounce spring by one ounce to win the Chippendale cutlery cabinet up for fourth prize while Corry took home a camping outfit.

G. B. Williams, with a 20-pound, six-ounce won sixth prize of a shotgun while William Herbert (20.05) received a fishing outfit; Ernie Milliken (17.06) won a floor polisher; B. Hamilton, Sr., (17.05) took an electric food mixer and Lloyd Jones (17.03) received a set of china.

The special Daily Times award of a salt-water spinning reel for the largest coho landed during the fish-off was won by Bob Knezachy, who brought in an 8-pound silver.

Hidden weight awards were won by B. Marshall, Ivan Shillington, Mrs. A. C. Cruchley, L. A. Jackson, D. Dunagan and D. Leonard.

Unclaimed prizes may be picked up at 1225 Government Street after 9 a.m. Tuesday.

United Sets Workouts

Two workouts for last season's Punjab United senior soccer club will be held this week. Sessions will be held at 7 p.m. at Topaz Avenue Park Tuesday. Players are invited to attend the practices.

PORTLAND, Ore.—Pat McMurtry, 187½, Tacoma, Wash., knocked out Carl (Bobo) Olson, 285, Vancouver, Wash., 2.

BUT HOW MUCH?

Filchok Has Feeling Lions Better

By ERNIE FEDORUK

VANCOUVER—It is Frank Filchok's humble opinion that B.C. Lions are stronger than last year.

"Much stronger?" he was asked.

"How should I know? If my boys had been playing, I might be able to answer that."

Saskatchewan Roughriders (Filchok's "boys") were on the same field as Lions Saturday night but that was about all that the cigar-chewing old pro could offer after Clem Crowe's B.C. aggregation walloped Riders 44-20 in a Western Football Conference fixture at Empire Stadium.

"They just weren't there," Filchok added. "My boys were missing their assignments all over the field. I think they were all pointed towards Monday's game with Edmonton."

It's not that the fearless one meant to take anything away from the Lions. They fully deserved their victory, he said, and in the next breath intimated that Riders would never play as badly again this season.

The display by Clem

Crowe's Lions surprised the majority of a near-capacity audience of 26,807 fans.

British Columbia struck for two early touchdowns and Riders were in a hole that proved too deep to escape. Filchok started with practically an all-Canadian lineup and it was 14-0 before Riders' big guns were ushered onto the field. Then it was too late.

Crowe gave most of his players a chance. Canadians Joe Yamauchi, Chuck Duquette, Ed Sparrow and veteran Vic Chapman, showed to solid advantage, thanks mainly to a smooth-functioning line that "wasn't supposed to be" as strong as it looked Saturday.

Sparked by the brilliant running of holdovers By Bailey and Primo Villanueva, Lions chalked up 269 yards on the ground—their best mark ever since joining the Western football circus.

Riders, without all-star full-back Bobby Marlow, managed only 87 yards along the ground. Riders looked better for 220 yards compared to the 210 chalked up by Lions' Toppo Vann and Maury Duncan.

Lions mixed their plays well and gambled often. Their first two gambles, both thirddown cracks while deep in Saskatchewan territory, paid off in touchdowns. One gamble did backfire but, surprisingly, it was less of a gamble than the touchdown efforts.

HE'S NOT SURE!

The fallback draw and a play copied from the Edmonton Eskimos, appeared to be Lions' most successful moves. The latter, a pass-or-run option by the quarterback, fooled Rider defences on several occasions. Each time, Vann appeared to be headed for a loss but, at the last second, he managed to get a short pass away that went for good gains.

Lions Start Smartly

By The Canadian Press

British Columbia Lions started their fourth season in the Western Interprovincial Football Union with the right foot forward. For today at least, they share first place in the early standings with defending champion Edmonton Eskimos.

Saskatchewan Roughriders, the team to beat the Eskimos this year, felt the brunt of the Lions' best foot Saturday night at Vancouver's Empire Stadium where 26,807 fans watched B.C. trample Riders 44-20 in an upset.

The game was the second of the new WIFU schedule and the first for both Lions and Riders.

Calgary Stampeders, in last place for two years, see their first league action tonight at home against the warmed-up Lions. Roughriders, nursing several injuries following the Saturday game, clash with the Eskimos in Edmonton.

BAILEY GETS TWO

At Vancouver Saturday, full-back By Bailey and halfback Paul Cameron scored two touchdowns each for British Columbia while end Vic Villanueva each got one. Quarterback Maury Duncan converted four touchdowns and Ted Hunt, a soccer player in his first year of pro football, booted one convert.

Chapman punted for a single and Lions got two more points when linemen Chuck Quilter and Chuck Frank tackled Rider quarter Frank Tripucka behind the Saskatchewan goal line for a safety touch. Quilter was credited with the points.

Veteran halfback Ken Carpenter, rookie halfback Sam Wesley and fullback Vic Marks scored touchdowns for Riders with guard Reggie Whitehouse converting two.

Quarterback Toppo Vann, Georgia Tech graduate, threw touchdown passes to Chapman and Cameron and set up a touchdown plunge by Bailey with a 35-yard forward pass to Villanueva. Duncan threw one touchdown pass to Villanueva.

Victoria Golfer New Junior Champ

Sub-Par Shooting Brings Team Cup Back to B.C.

WINNIPEG (CP)—British Columbia swept both the junior title and the Willingdon Cup interprovincial team matches Saturday as the first two sections of the three-event Canadian Amateur golf championships were completed at the St. Charles Country Club.

Sixteen-year-old Bill Wakeham of Victoria made a brilliant comeback to capture the junior crown, left vacant by the graduation to senior ranks of 1956 champion Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont.

The four-man B.C. team wound up the 36-hole Willingdon matches with an aggregate score of 570, six under par on the par-72 St. Charles layout and only nine strokes off the team record of 561 set by another west coast team at Calgary in 1955.

Wakeham had a 36-hole score of 143, one-under-par. The Victoria youngster closed with a 70 after shooting a one-over-par 73 in Saturday morning's first round.

Phil Brownlee, Ontario junior champion, shot two rounds of 72—even par, to finish second.

BOES THIRD

Don Boes of Winnipeg finished third with 150, followed by Bruce Murray of Edmonton with 154; David Chalmers, Montreal, 157; Perry Locke, Dartmouth, N.S., 159; Tony Eberts, Regina, 161; and David Irving, Fredericton, N.B., 162.

Brownlee entered the final 18 holes with a one-stroke margin over Wakeham and Boes. It looked as though it was all over when the Toronto Scarborough youngster blistered the first nine of the last round with a two-over 34, but he skied to a two-over 38 on the back nine, while Wakeham came through with a steady 36-34 to take the title.

Wakeham said he felt he was hitting all shots, especially his irons, "much better in the final round."

Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., won the 1956 Canadian Junior crown with a 152 score at Edmonton, N.B. The record junior score is held by Winnipeg's George Knudson—a 140 at Calgary in 1955.

Both are members of their respective provinces' Willingdon Cup teams this year.

Cowan, playing with the defending champion quartet—which finished in second place four strokes back—stood the spotlight as he toured the course with a blistering six-under 66 on the opening round. His score—best of the day—tied the competitive amateur record at St. Charles set last year by Winnipeg's George Knudson. The competitive professional record here was set by Johnny Palmer of Badin, N.C., at the Canadian Open in 1952. He shot a 65.

Doug Bajus, 33, was low man for the B.C. team with rounds of 71-70 for a total of 141 over the 6,377 yard course.

Team captain Bob Kidd, 28, B.C. amateur champion, had a session of 70-72 for 142. Bert Ticehurst, 25-year-old B.C. open class champion, was one-under on the first round and even par on the second for 143. Twenty-one-year-old Ron Willey, a newcomer to B.C. and formerly of Calgary, checked in with 144 on rounds of 74-70.

The team championship was in doubt most of the way as Alberta took the lead after 18 and Ontario went ahead after 27, with B.C. creeping up from third place each time.

Jack Doney led Fletchers at the plate as he banged out three singles in five trips in the 10-inning contest, while Mike Clegg contributed two singles to Brodies' five-hit attack.

100 000 001 0-2-2-2 Fletchers 001 100 000 0-2-2-2 Brodies Clegg and Peterson; Ellis Achen and Jim Moody.

Brodies, Fletchers In 'B' Softball Draw

Brodies Bakery will meet Fletchers Thursday in a replay of Sunday's Senior "B" Softball Knockout Cup competition, as the two squads battled to the final game only to tie, 2-2.

For Brodies, leadoff batter Bill Reynolds scored their first run in the first inning, and Ken Murphy crossed the plate in the ninth. Fletchers scored in

AND JAKE MUTTERS

Shuker's Tending Stymies 'Bellies

Jake Proctor's New Westminster Salmonbellies are mumbering in their beards today, asking themselves if Alf Shuker can keep it up.

Jake's boys have just reason to mutter as Shuker was the man of the hour Saturday night in Nanaimo and today that town's Timbermen are a game away from entering the Inter-city Lacrosse League final against Victoria Shamrocks.

Sparked by Shuker's sensational goal-tending, the T-Men edged Jake's Salmonbellies 10-7 to grab a 2-1 lead in their best-of-five semifinal playoff set.

"What," Jake asks, "do you have to do to get a goal against that guy? He can't keep up that all the time, can he?"

Shuker seemingly did everything but stand on his head to thwart the desperate 'Bellies.

He turned aside 35 of 42 shots fired at him and was particularly brilliant in the last period when New Westminster bombarded him in a last-ditch stand.

Some 2,300 fans saw Nanaimo take a 3-1 lead in the opening quarter and make it 6-5 at the half. Each side scored once in the third period.

Scoring honors for Nanaimo were spread among Dugan, McKay, Stewart, Rodway and Harold Fox. All had two apiece. Ken Oddy and Don Sepka each got two for the Salmonbellies.

The game was a far cry from the first two games played as far as penalties were concerned. The referees handed out but 26 minutes in penalty time compared to the 74 minutes charged in the game Thursday night at New Westminster.

Fourth game of the series will be played in New Westminster on Thursday and the fifth, if needed, next Saturday in Nanaimo.

UPHILL CLIMB

WENATCHEE, Wash. (AP)—Vancouver Oilers climaxed an uphill battle Sunday night by beating Bremerton Aces 2-1 in the State softball title in 11 innings.

NEW YORK (AP)—The board of directors of the New York Giants went into closed session today to vote on whether to accept President Horace Stoneham's proposal to move the team to San Francisco.

Their approval was expected to be virtually unanimous, thus leaving the way clear to iron out the details.

There was some talk that some of the directors were unhappy at the thought of deserting New York, but once Stoneham got around to citing facts and figures, the talk died down.

Stoneham, it was learned, was ready to tell the directors almost exactly what he has revealed publicly over the course of the past month—that the San Francisco offer is "very firm and very fair," that the bid includes a 45,000 capacity stadium along with control of the concessions.

Besides announcing acceptance of the 'Frisco offer, the Giants are expected to reveal that they already are dickering with the Boston Red Sox, the owners of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League.

The Giants are said to have

DOUBLE LOSS FOR SUSIE AFTER REACHING FINALS

MONTREAL (CP) — Susan Butt of Victoria made it into the finals of two events at the Canadian tennis championships but lost out in both.
Miss Butt and Paul Wiley of Vancouver lost 9-7, 6-2 to Bob Howe of Sydney, Australia and Mrs. Anne Bagge Vieira of Brazil in the mixed doubles final.

Earlier, she and Mrs. Vieira were eliminated 3-6, 6-1, 9-7 in the finals of the women's doubles event.

MINOR LACROSSE

Nanaimo Hopes Brushed Aside

Three Victoria Minor Lacrosse Association teams won Island championships from Nanaimo contenders Sunday afternoon at Stevenson Park and move on to B.C. championship play against Vancouver entries.

Tej Dhillon hit the netting six times for Victoria midlets to lead them to their 17-4 win over Nanaimo in the opener and Don Wilson set a four-goal pace for Saanich Pêwées in their 9-3 win over their Nanaimo counterparts.

In the juvenile "B" game it was Jim McNeil and the prolific bantam, Bill Munroe leading the way as they both scored three in Butler Bros. 13-1 blasting of the Hub City team.

An exhibition game between Juvenile "A" Big Horns and Junior Nanaimo ended in 8-8 draw as Nanaimo overcame a 7-1 first-half deficit, Lyle Sweetwater was outstanding in their goal as he held them in the game time after time.

They say lightning never strikes twice in the same place but the Milwaukee Braves know better today after it struck County Stadium three times—once literally and twice in the form of Stan Musial and Vinegar Bend Mizell.

A sharp bolt of the "real thing" hit the stadium during the second inning of Sunday's opener with St. Louis Cardinals and before the day was ended Musial and Mizell struck too to produce an 8-6 and 6-0 sweep that cut the Braves' National League lead to 6½ games. Thus, the Cardinals "braked" the Milwaukee runaway and raised the possibility that there may yet be a close pennant race.

New York Yankees, meanwhile, seemed to be making good on their long-predicted runaway threat in the American League when they swept the Baltimore Orioles, 7-0 and 3-2, to open up a 7½ game margin to their longest of the season.

The second-place Chicago White Sox co-operated by dropping a 5-1 decision before beating Detroit Tigers, 4-1.

CUBS CLICK
Chicago Cubs dealt the Cincinnati Redlegs their sixth straight setback, 8-2; New York Giants beat Philadelphia Phillies, 5-4 and 1-0, and the last place Pittsburgh Pirates downed Brooklyn Dodgers, 8-6, after a 2-1 defeat in the other National League games.

Washington Senators whipped the Boston Red Sox, 6-4, and Cleveland Indians drubbed Kansas City Athletics, 9-2, in American League single games.

Cardinals rallied for six runs in the last three innings of the 10-inning opener, Musial climaxing the comeback with a two-run homer, and then led all the way behind Mizell's four-hitter in the nightcap. Musial had two hits in each game to regain the NL batting lead with a .333 mark and his 2,933 hits now place him 11th on the all-time

Duke Snider's 30th homer, a two-run shot in the seventh inning, gave Sal Maglie the nod over Bob Friend, who yielded only two hits, but the Pirates scored four runs against Clem Labine in the eighth to take the nightcap. Snider also homered in the second game and now has hit at least 30 homers in each of the last five seasons.

Yogi Berra knocked in two runs with two singles and a double in the first game and drove in all three Yankee runs with two singles in the nightcap. Mickey Mantle had three hits in seven tries to lift his average to .385—seven points behind Boston's Ted Williams, who went 1-for-4.

There is no finer advertisement for any firm than a staff of clean, neatly attired employees. Did you know that New Method Laundries are prepared to furnish your personnel with any one of a large variety of work clothes—and launder them crisply clean each week for a modest inclusive charge?

'One for You, One for Me' ... So It Goes

By The United Press

It was "one for you and one for me" all the way down the Pacific Coast League, Sunday, as every team in the circuit had a win and a loss in the day's four double-headers.

San Francisco split with Portland, losing the opener, 3-1, and winning the nightcap 10-2. Vancouver dropped the first game against Hollywood 13-14, then beat the Stars 5-4. San Diego lost to Los Angeles 8-3 in the opener and came back for a 4-3 triumph in the second game, Sacramento lost the first game at Seattle, 4-3, and won the finale 7-2.

Leading San Francisco came charging back with the big guns in the seven-inning nightcap at Portland after dropping two games in a row to the last-place Beavers, who had beaten them 1-0 Saturday night. Bill Renner cracked his 24th and 25th home runs for the Seals this season.

Seals thus maintained their three-game margin over Vancouver. Hollywood slapped five Vancouver pitchers around at Gilmore Field in the opening game for 18 hits and 13 runs, but the Mounties turned the tables in the second game, knocking four Star hurlers for 13 hits and a 5-4 triumph.

Hollywood, tied at five games out with San Diego, gained some ground on the second-place Mounties by winning the series 3-2.

HALF WAY'S LEAD

Arrows in Final; Gorge in Trouble

Gorge Hotel, which won the Senior A Softball League in a walk, is having troubles galore in the playoffs.

Tonight, with a record of only one win against two losses in their best-of-five semi-final with Halfway House, the Gorgemen will be battling with their backs to the wall at Central Park at 6:30 as they seek to stay alive with a win in the fourth game of the series.

On the other hand, Arrow Furniture can sit back happily and watch the action to see who meets them in the finals. The Furnituremen reached the final Sunday as they tripped Duncan Mayos, 5-4, to sweep their semi-final series in three games.

If Gorge had not capitalized on an error in Sunday's game, Halfway could have joined Arrows in the final. They had defeated the surprised Gorge crew, 3-2, for their second win Saturday, but lost 2-1, Sunday.

In the afternoon game, Mayo Lumbermen struggled hard but couldn't quite turn the trick as a ninth-inning rally fell one run short.

In the end, it was Art Binks' sixth-inning bases-empty homer that won the game for Arrows. Halfway House 000 000 000-1 5 2

Albions Hot As Bays Lose
Albions staged off defeat in the Victoria and District Cricket Association, Saturday, as they downed Oak Bay by ten wickets at Beacon Hill.

In the other match, played at Duncan, Incogs defeated Cowichan by seven wickets.

Bowlers dominated both games as Ted Oakman put the Bays all out for 36 runs at Beacon Hill, while Reg Wenman took four wickets for five runs and Malcolm Shanks five for seventeen as the home team was dismissed for 25 runs.

Vancouver Golfer Topples Sarazen

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Fred Wood of Vancouver, B.C., won the first annual senior open golf tournament Sunday in a sudden death playoff with Gene Sarazen.

Wood dropped a 15-foot putt on the extra hole while Sarazen missed one of three and one-half feet.

Both finished the 72-hole tournament with 10-under par 270s. The victory gave the 50-year-old Canadian top money of $2,000 in the $12,500 tournament. Sarazen picked up $1,400. Jimmy Hines, Palm Springs, Calif., shot a 272 and took $1,000 in third place.

Cut in Car Prices Asked by Reuther

DETROIT (AP)—Proposing what he called a joint fight against inflation, Walter P. Reuther, United Auto Workers' Union president, has asked the American automobile industry's "Big Three" to cut car prices in return for modified union contract demands.

There was no immediate comment from the auto firms. Reuther wrote the heads of Chrysler, General Motors and Ford during the weekend asking them to cut prices by at least $100 a car. In return, the UAW would modify its new contract demands next year.

The labor leader called his plan a "positive and practical proposal for making an effective beginning in stopping and reversing the inflationary trend." Reuther told the auto leaders, whose contracts with the UAW run out around next June 1, that "we are not asking you to take any risk that we are not prepared to share."

"Transcending both labor and management interests by far, the interests of the American people as a whole in a stable price level. For that reason, we are confident our members will be willing to take the consequences in collective bargaining if the price reductions we propose should make it impossible to meet all of their just demands and still maintain a reasonable rate of profit." Reuther said earlier that the shorter work week was rejected by the auto firms. When new contract negotiations begin next year his 1,500,000-member union's major goal will be a shorter work week and more take-home pay. A proposal by Reuther earlier

Super Shell with TCP

Sparks all the live performance in the most modern cars on the road

Today's engines have the highest horsepower, the highest compression ratios in history. And the trend is toward still further increases.

Anticipating the need for an improved motor fuel, Shell Oil Company of Canada, Limited introduces Super Shell with TCP*. Super Shell is an all-new higher grade of gasoline—developed to meet the full octane needs of today's most advanced cars.

At the same time, Super Shell delivers better performance than ever in all cars now using premium gasoline. That's because Super Shell supplies all the octane value your engine needs under every driving condition.

This great combustion energy gives you an added bonus, too. When you're cruising, Super Shell's reserve energy converts automatically to extra miles in every tankful.

And with TCP in Super Shell, these benefits are always yours. TCP eliminates the effect of engine deposits that can rob even the newest cars of performance and economy.

For a new experience in motoring, drive up to your Shell Dealer's new white pump and fill up with Super Shell today.

NANAIMO—Victoria archers dominated a Vancouver Island championship meet held Sunday at Valley Dairy Farm, seven miles south of here.

The meet attracted 35 bowmen from Campbell River, Comox, Ladysmith, Nanaimo and the capital city.

SPORTSMEN WANT REPORT ON RIVERS

PORT ALBERNI—A constant watch on effect of power development on sport fishing streams of this area is being kept by Alberni District Fish and Game Association.

At its latest meeting it decided to ask for a copy of the fisheries department report of a survey on the Stamp and Sprout River systems.

Both rivers have a vital part in power development plans of the B.C. Power Commission. The Stamp River especially is an important salmon spawning stream.

Metchosin Queen Naming Set Wednesday

LUXTON—Voting for a queen to reign over Metchosin and District Farmers Institute fair at Luxton Hall Saturday will close tonight, and the winner will be announced Wednesday.

Candidates for the honor are Caroline Argall, 12, of Metchosin School; Carolyn Clark, 12, Langford; Gillian Woolcock, 11, Colwood; and Alida Van Iperen, 11, Happy Valley.

Choice is made by sale of tickets, each worth one vote.

BABY CONTEST

The fair, which attracts entries from all of Vancouver Island south of a line drawn between Duncan and Jordan River, will be opened officially at 2 p.m. by Herbert Bruch, Esquimalt, MLA. It will feature games and concessions, an egg-laying guessing contest, a baby contest open to Colwood, Happy Valley, Langford, and Metchosin.

Entries in the agricultural classes, mainstay of the show, must be submitted to the fair secretary, Mrs. Mina Christie, 2784 Sooke Road, by noon Wednesday.

Vandals Scatter Two Tons of Hay

COURTENAY—Two tons of newly-baled hay on the farm of John Milligan, Headquarters Road, were scattered on the week-end by vandals who drove to the farm in several cars.

Stacks of bales had been wrecked, and some of the hay was stolen and strewn along the city's main street.

Chenier to Meet Snooker Champion

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 60-game match between the world champion snooker player and the North American champion is the latest attraction lined up for British Columbia's 1958 centennial celebrations.

Centennial officials have announced that Fred Davis, of Wales, eight times winner of the world title, will meet George Chenier, of Montreal, at Exhibition Gardens in February for the five-day battle. There will be two sessions daily with six games a session.

After their appearance here, Davis and Chenier plan to make a tour of Canada, giving exhibition games in Edmonton, Calgary, Winnipeg and possibly Halifax.

TENNIS AT DUNCAN

Victoria Girl Wins V.I. Singles Title

DUNCAN—Victoria's Sharon Whittaker, city women's singles tennis champion, Saturday captured the Vancouver Island Open crown as she tripped first-ranked Jocelyn Pease of Vancouver, 7-5, 11-9 at the South Cowichan Tennis Club courts.

Butch Krikorian of San Jose captured the men's singles crown as he downed Wally Bostick of Seattle, 6-2, 6-2.

Krikorian also paired with Connie Wilford of Burlingame, Cal., for a 6-2, 6-4 win over Miss Pease and James Jackson of Klamath Falls, Ore., and won the men's doubles championship with teammate Don Gale.

They stopped defending champs Art Jeffrey and Colin Walker of Vancouver, 6-1, 6-2. Mirja Petersen and Maureen Bray of Victoria Lawn Tennis and Balminton Club and won the women's doubles championship as they downed Barb Kival of Seattle and Jill Kelley of Victoria, 6-2, 6-3.

Ed Kemble of Vancouver won the veterans' singles with a 6-4, 6-2 win over Fred Balton, also from Vancouver, and shared the veterans' doubles title with Bill Duff, another Vancouverite, as they defeated E. Leney and R. Ford of Vancouver, 6-2, 6-1.

10 RACERS READY TO GO

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Drivers from Chemainus, Port Alberni, Nanaimo and Wellington will compete in the annual Gyro soap box race here next Saturday.

Ten entries have been made so far, including that of David Woodley, top driver at Chemainus recently.

Woodley will be racing against Jimmy Stevens, last year's grand champion winner in Port Alberni.

Youbou Teenagers Seeking Advice Of Victoria Club

YOUNBOU—Teenagers here want a community club now that the theatre has closed, and have decided to ask the advice of the National Youth Club in Victoria.

They have sent Sandra Clements to the capital as a delegate to determine just what steps to take.

The NYC was formed in Victoria a short time ago to organize and supervise activities for the members, said to number 700.

Help of adult advisers is also being sought by youths here in forming their organization.

Rapid Progress On Crofton Homes

CROFTON—Construction of 10 modern homes for employees of the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. pulp mill here is going ahead rapidly on the Brooks subdivision.

The homes will be two, three and four-bedroom models with fireplaces and car ports. Contractor is Ray-Bilt Construction of Vancouver.

Flier, 19, Makes Forced Landing

LADYSMITH (CP)—A 19-year-old youth landed his Tri-Pacer plane safely in a field near here Sunday after radiating Nanaimo Airport that he thought he was going to crash into the sea.

Bill Harrison of Duncan was returning home from a trip to Patricia Bay in a Cassidair Flying Club plane when the engine began to cut out. With him was Cliff Bakke, 17, also of Duncan.

"I radioed that we were going down in the sea because there just didn't seem to be any place to land among the high trees," Harrison said. "But just as I was setting her down I noticed a field at Coffin Point, near Ladysmith, and managed to get the plane down without even scratching her."

Flying club officials congratulated Harrison on his skill. He has been flying for more than a year and has 140 flying hours.

Klondike Night September 21 At Sooke Hall

SOOKE—A Klondike Night to raise funds for Sooke district centennial projects will be held at Sooke Community Hall Sept. 21.

Volunteer workers for the event will wear the sordid costume of "Century Sam," official mascot for the province-wide centennial celebrations in 1958.

Projects are re-roofing of Sooke and Shirley Community Halls, and creation of a park area at Sooke River flats, scene of the annual All-Sooke Day celebration.

The government will provide $1,200 for centennial projects, and the district must match that sum.

Each club and organization in the area will contribute to the Klondike Night program, to feature concessions, can-can dancing, and serving of "sourdough" pancakes.

Doctor Shows How To Bathe Away "Corns" and Calluses in Minutes

By E. R. WALKER

YESTERDAY at the offices of a foremost New York foot specialist, I experienced what may prove to be the answer to the foot problems of millions. I was shown a quick, easy way to relieve tired, aching, itching feet—even feet tortured with corns and calluses!

As a reporter, I'm on my own feet about 12 hours a day. For years I've suffered—not only from corns and calluses—but also from recurring athlete's foot, and that tired, aching feeling so familiar to salesmen, postmen, policemen, teachers and others who must stand on their feet for their livelihood. . . . I tried everything from specially made $45 shoes to all kinds of foot powders, creams and salves—all to practically no avail. So I was naturally skeptical when I was assured, in a doctor's office that in a few minutes I would be relieved of all the foot miseries that had been plaguing me for years. I just couldn't believe it—but here is what actually happened!

In just 20 minutes, the itching misery of my athlete's foot had subsided. My corns were softened and dead skin washed away. So were my calluses!

In fact, my feet felt simply wonderful—and that is why I am writing this article—so that others will be helped as I have been! For this doctor's simple method is now being made available to the public for home use!

PART 1. A Mineral Bath for Your Feet For the first part of this 3-way method the doctor had me place my sore, tired feet in a basin of hot water. To this water he added a green powder containing Potassium, Iron, Magnesium, Lithium, Iodides and other minerals (similar to those found in the waters of famous natural Spas). Almost immediately I began to feel a new and wonderful sensation. All the pressure and the heavy feeling in my legs seemed to float away. My feet felt as though they had no weight at all. My foot and leg muscles seemed to relax. I could actually feel soreness and pain diminishing.

"The perspiration, the dirt and the odors so common to your feet is now being cleansed from your pores," the doctor informed me. "The hot mineral solution is easing surface tension, stimulating circulation and sending a fresh supply of new blood to your feet. This helps cleanse out the pores that soap and water cannot reach."

I could see dry, dead, scaly tissue being flaked away. I touched the hardened surfaces of my feet and found that they were now soft and smooth. I could feel the dead dry skin of corns and calluses softened and loosened.

PART 2. Corns and Calluses After about 15 minutes the doctor had me remove my feet from the bath. Then while they were still moist, he began to massage them with a special volcanic lava stone, which he had already soaked in the Foot-herapy bath. It felt as if my feet were being gently caressed with wool. In just 3 or 4 minutes this volcanic stone began to huff away the dead skin of corns and calluses that had bothered me for years. Best of all, one particularly painful corn on my little toe which I had to have cut off at least once a year was gradually being buffed away. It was as if I had grown a new pair of feet.

PART 3. Athlete's Foot, Unpleasant Odors The third and final step of this doctor's treatment is a medicated cream designed to correct the condition of athlete's foot, prevent sweating and remove unpleasant foot odors. It contains a tested chemical which is now being used in hospitals, to help combat fungi, dangerous bacteria and relieve skin rashes. As the doctor rubbed this cream into my skin, I felt a cooling, mint-like sensation. Itching between the toes disappeared. A special combination of natural oils helps lubricate the entire skin surface leaving a soothing, protective, invisible film to help guard against reinfection of the area.

"Even though we have gotten such wonderful results with just one application," said the doctor, "you must remember that the secret of well being, pain-free feet is constant care and attention. Your shoes must be fitted correctly and your feet must receive the proper hygiene. That's why you'll find that if you use this simple medicated method everyday after work, your feet will not only continue their remarkable improvement but will feel healthy, rested and cool even after your toughest working day."

Nothing Else Like It! If you suffer from tired feet, aching feet due to foot fatigue, you can now rinse away those aches and pains with nature's own minerals. You can even avoid painful, stubborn corns and calluses without "razor blade" surgery, and if your feet are cracked, itching, sore from fungus infections . . . perspire excessively . . . give off unpleasant odors . . . you can relieve these conditions practically overnight!

But even more important, you can give your feet a daily hygienic "doctor's" care—right in your own home—that will help keep your feet strong, impart a feeling of well being; inhibit the growth of fungi, bacteria.

The medically developed products used in this doctor's treatment are Foot-herapy Mineral Bath, Foot-herapy Lava Stone and Foot-herapy Medicated Balm. These 3 items are sold as a complete application kit for only $2.98 and $4.98. Quite a bargain when you think of what it can do for the condition of your feet, your sense of well-being and even your disposition! If pains or corns persist—consult your chiropodist.

Slim Chance to Avert Strike of 165 Milkmen

The milkmen's union in Victoria has the decks cleared for a strike against four dairies if a last-ditch attempt at settlement this afternoon fails. The possibility of averting a strike appeared slim this morning prior to the meeting. "We'll try hard for settlement, but we're not very optimistic," one union negotiator said.

If a strike is called, the 165 members of Local 464, Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees' Union are assured substantial union backing and strike benefits—about $40 a week for pickets.

The assurance comes in the form of a strike sanction granted by international headquarters of the Teamsters' union, with which MSDEU is affiliated.

Union officials were to see representatives of Palm Dairies Ltd., Shepherd's Dairy Ltd., Island Farms Co-operative Association and North Western Creamery Ltd. in the Pacific Club for a "final" discussion of the dispute over wage increases and delivery schedules.

MEET TONIGHT
Policy committee of the union will meet tonight to review results of the negotiations. It is expected to recommend a strike to a general membership meeting Wednesday night if no agreement is reached today.

The members already have voted in favor of strike action against the dairies, which supply 90 per cent of Victoria's milk, to back up their demands for increases of $30 and $32.50 a month with continuation of the six-day weekly delivery.

Lumber Thief Makes Escape

Would-be thief of some expensive lumber was flushed from Doman's Lumber and Transport Ltd., 285 Bay Street, Sunday afternoon, by branch manager Frank Doucet.

Mr. Doucet arrived just as a man was loading shiplap and 2x4 lumber, which sell at $35 to $90 per thousand feet, on the rack of his car.

He made a getaway in his car, minus the lumber, before the manager could catch him. "Lumber is being hauled out of the back of the yard all the time," Mr. Doucet said today. "It's pretty expensive material and we can't afford to lose any."

The thieves usually work at night, caching the lumber in adjacent woods and then picking it up in the morning, he said. The incident was reported to city police.

WINNER of a $250 scholarship put up by the Saanich Teachers' Association is Ann Mattick, 17, of 5273 Cordova Bay Road. A student at Royal Oak High School, Ann topped graduating students in three Saanich schools with mark of 82.75 per cent. She will use the money to attend Victoria College this fall, and plans to study pharmacy at the University of B.C.

EXPENSIVE EXPLOIT Hubby Explodes, Newsboy Exits, Ex-Wife Exults

The story of a man who can just take so much was unfolded in city police court today.

He had been asleep on a couch in the living room of his Pembroke Street home when he was awakened by "persistent tapping" at the door. J. W. Whyte told Magistrate A. I. Thomas.

For about 25 minutes, he lay there and listened. Then he couldn't stand it any longer.

FURIOUS
"I have an estranged wife and I figured it was her," Mr. Whyte said. "It made me furious."

Determined to shut her up once and for all, he headed for the kitchen, filled a pan with water, opened the front door and heaved the water out.

"I was sure as I'm sitting here it was my ex-wife," he said.

NEWSBOY
But it wasn't. The water ran off the chest of a young newspaper carrier, who had continued knocking after he had peeked through a letter slot and had seen Mr. Whyte in the house.

Realizing his mistake, Mr. Whyte uttered some choice profanities and the carrier and a companion skedaddled to their bikes, court was told.

The magistrate smiled and the man who was out to get his wife was fined $25 for assault.

PNE Opening Wednesday

Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner, DSC, CD, Flag Officer of the Pacific Coast, will open the Pacific National Exhibition's Armed Forces exhibit Wednesday.

Included in this year's march past will be units from the air force, army, navy and the 38th United States Infantry. A unit of 95 members of the RCA's Reserve Trades Training Program in Victoria also will participate.

Displays of many types of weapons and equipment used by the three services with torpedoes and radar of the RCN, paratroop demonstrations and communications displays by the Army; and an Air Force Ground Control Interception operations room showing radar equipment used in locating unidentified aircraft, will highlight the services exhibit.

He'll try Juan de Fuca again, "probably next year."

From here he goes to Catalina for the seasonal swim from the California mainland to the island.

Second Try Successful For Students

Four out of five borderline grade nine students who attended Greater Victoria School Board summer classes in July have won promotion to grade 10.

Total of 141 students who flunked some subjects in their grade nine year had a second chance at classes held July 9 to August 2 at Victoria High School.

Of these, 29 took two subjects, 112 took one subject. Of the 170 subject examinations, 141 were passes.

Authorities say it is the second year results have shown the worth of the special classes. Youngsters from all over the school district signed up and their parents paid $10 for the review course.

In 1956, 77 per cent of all subject exams were passes. This summer the percentage climbed to 82.9.

Courses were in English, social studies and mathematics. School officials said this year's enrolment was larger than in 1956. Attitude and industry shown by the students was "excellent." Classes were kept small to ensure individual attention by teachers.

As well as assisting individual students, the summer courses have an economic value to the school district.

School crowding is lessened when students are not retained in the same grade two years and the cost of education paid by the community and the province is reduced when they are aided in moving ahead.

Blood Supply On Upswing In Vancouver

Vancouver City's blood stockpile is growing larger.

After a campaign this month started by Victoria's Mayor Percy Scurrah, citizens of the capital, New Westminster and Vancouver have made substantial donations to dwindling Red Cross blood supplies.

The race is over in New Westminster and Victoria after one-day clinics. New Westminster, with a population of 30,000 gave 280 pints. Victoria, four times the size of New Westminster, has donated 839 pints.

Vancouver so far this month has donated 1,802 pints and the total will increase in the next two weeks.

Vancouver Mayor Fred Hume was advised by his doctors not to donate personally in the current drive.

Boy Carried Ashore Unconscious

Unconscious, the boy was carried ashore and given inhalator treatment before being taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by Saanich firemen.

"I can't think how it happened," the boy's mother said. "He cannot swim and I was watching closely. I could not have taken my eyes off him for more than two minutes."

"Mr. Gibson was splendid. He dashed into the pool the moment the alarm was raised and pulled Kenny out in a matter of minutes."

"I only wish I knew the name of the boy who gave the alarm, so we could thank him."

Kenneth was reported in good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Crowds Obstruct Police Work

Police and firemen complained of being "seriously obstructed" by a crowd of some 250 holidaymakers who crowded round the unconscious man as he lay on the beach.

"They showed no sense, at all," a Saanich police official said. "We had to fight our way through them and they still crowded us while we were trying to revive Favaro."

On regaining consciousness in hospital Sunday night, Favaro said he could not see. But his condition today was stated to be "much improved."

His sister, Mrs. Stefani, said he came out to Victoria last month after working with his brother, Gino, in Ontario.

"My husband and I left Venice about six years ago and my brother came out here to join us. He is a tailor by trade but could not get that kind of work here."

"He went up to Nanaimo last week and got a job working on the roads. He came home last weekend and was to have returned to work today. He is a strong swimmer and I never expected anything like this would happen to him."

His friend, Frank Mirabelli, returned to his job at Nanaimo today after making a statement to police. He said Favaro was "swimming strongly" out from shore when he began shouting for help and plunged below the surface.

TUESDAY MEETINGS

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—I've noticed the word "insured" appearing in some birth announcements recently. What does it mean? M.B.
A.—Ostensibly it means that the parents have already taken out an insurance policy for their baby, but in many cases it is used as a device to fend off insurance agents who watch the birth announcements for leads.
Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times." Editor questions and answers will be published daily.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A meeting of the Victoria Soaring Club will be held at the Fairley Aviation Building, Patricia Bay, at 8 tonight.

Gary Johnston, 20, of 1637 Edgeware, is in good condition at St. Joseph's Hospital today following a football accident Saturday afternoon in which he suffered a fractured right leg. He was taken to hospital by city police.

Weekend theft of clothing from her car has been reported to city police by Mrs. L. West-Indale, 1198 Yates. Items stolen were two men's jackets, white bathing trunks and one bath towel.

A lot of smoke, very little fire and no serious damage resulted from three small fires in the city over the weekend.

City fire department doused flames bursting from a gas stove in an upstairs suite at 128 Bushby Sunday at 12:34 a.m., an awning fire at Arrow Furniture, Government Street, Sunday at 12:54 a.m., and a grease fire on a kitchen stove at the Waldorf restaurant, 741 Yates, Sunday at 8:17 a.m.

Charged with carrying a concealed weapon, Gordon R. Deal, Naden, was fined $25 and five days in jail at city police court today. Deal pleaded guilty to carrying a four inch bladed knife, at Memorial Arena Saturday night.

Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry Association will hold a general meeting Friday in the Naval Veterans' club rooms, 1417 Broad at 8 p.m. Business will include nomination of officers and planning for welcoming of the 2nd battalion PPCLI when it arrives at Gordon Head camp this fall. The battalion will take over the garrison from the 2nd battalion Queen's Own Rifles.

Tinder-dry grass took Saanich firemen out on three fire calls this morning. The grass fires, none of them serious, broke out in front of 1845 Kings Road, the corner of Quadra and Reynolds and in the 3500 block of Maplewood.

A party of 18 Victorians, organized by Canadian National Railways, is now en route to the Stratford (Ontario) Festival to see two Shakespearean plays and a Benjamin Britten opera.

Charged with impaired driving on the Malahat, Wallace John R. B. Malcolm, 2220 Cook, was remanded without bail to Aug. 28 and released on $300 bail at Colwood RCMP Court Saturday.

Victoria Sketch Club will hold its fourth annual exhibition at the Dominion Hotel boardroom from Aug. 22 to 28. Official opening is at 3 p.m. next Thursday.

Mrs. Ronald A. Mastin, 3905A Cadboro Bay Road, suffered head bruises early Sunday when a car which her husband was driving failed to make a turn from Bay to Richmond and hit a power pole on the south-east corner of the intersection. Mrs. Mastin was treated for bruises and shock at Jubilee Hospital and discharged.

By TONY DICKASON
Relationship of the dog or cat owner and the veterinary hospital is as an illuminative study as pet illness itself. Personal belief of one veterinarian, with an undisputed achievement record, is that attachment to a pet is in direct proportion to the individual's need for "someone to look up to them—to depend on them."

For example, there was the man who took his dog home before a bad bone break healed. He was insistent, so what could the doctor do? He made the man sign a release for the patient, but advised against the move, and still bitter about it.

"The dog is infected now. Some people look upon their animals as a toy . . . just like a spoiled little girl who cries for her doll without reason." People "expect miracles" when it comes to healing their pets. Some go so far as to ask "can I wait and take him home with me?" when the dog is suffering a disease or a bone break.

"These are the same people, who, if they had a similar trouble, would be in hospital a couple of months," one medical man pointed out.

They fail to realize that the flesh and blood and bone of an animal is just as much flesh, blood and bone as that of humans.

Healing is no more rapid than in people. Then there is the strong tendency to take advice from persons other than vets when a pet is ill. This can cause an awful mess, similar to the results of free advice you receive from friends, when sick. They just don't know.

Doctors are aroused over animal owners telephoning "at midnight, over trivialities." There are many such types, who phone again and again with such queries as "Is Fido pining? Is he happy?"

The sensible answer, which doctors are too polite to give, is "would you be happy as a hospital patient?"

These botherers are mainly women who, frankly, tend to make doctors feel slightly queasy.

As for the doctors themselves: they mustn't be mentioned by name as the group is as sensitive about this as other professional medical men. But they are more accessible in their operations.

All have that tired look which generally seems part and parcel of men who wear white coats and wield scalpels.

"We are terrifically rushed," said one doctor. About 16 hours a day at present, I'd say.

They are kindly men, and like animals without being sloppy about them. They keep a clinical outlook and can't get emotionally embroiled, even if the cocker is cute.

But there are lapses. "Had a Peke with a smashed pelvis the other day. A beautiful patient, and a really fine dog. Some dogs bite out their stitches and tear off casts, but not the Peke. His stitches were removed only yesterday and everything's fine."

And the doctor beamed! Veterinarians in the hospitals admit the cacophony from the clientele is hard to take. One doesn't become accustomed to the noise, like what can happen with piano practicing—although a certain immunity is built up over the years.

"Never have been able to stand the racket," said one doctor. "It's a real sacrifice."

Doctors don't work alone. They have assistants—student vets on holiday, trained personnel in handling of animals, and persons who assist because they enjoy dogs and cats and are just interested in the work.

Hospitals are hospitals, in the true, if condensed, sense. There is the waiting room, examining room, surgery, X-ray room, wards (individual pens), isolation wards, bathing rooms, kitchens, and even maternity wards!

All have exercise pens, clean and concrete. Around 70 animals can be accommodated in each hospital, give or take a few. Do vets get bitten?

The doctors immediately assume professional reticence at this question. No scars appear to show. But, however, if the average person handled as many strange dogs and cats in a month as the average vet, he'd have shredded arms!

One hospital, not the largest, has about 1,500 patients a month.

The secret is to be "friendly, firm and confident."

An excited dog is approached gingerly, the person is almost certain to be bitten. Tuesday: The Pet Patient.

Chiffon Pie Easy Dessert
—No Cooking Necessary

By PENNY SAVER

Short cuts to preparing meals are welcome these vacation days, and I've found several today. One is a packaged chiffon pie which will take only a few minutes to get ready and will provide light and summery dessert.

The package contains prepared graham wafer crumbs—you just add butter to them and press the mixture into a pie plate. Then you combine the filling with a cup of boiling water, beat it well, and pour it into the shell. Put it into the fridge to set for an hour, and there you are!

For a variation, you can add fresh or canned fruit to the filling.

The pie comes in vanilla, lemon, raspberry, chocolate and butterscotch flavors. Price is 33 cents.

Another shortcut is provided by ready-mixed coating for fried foods. You can use it dry, for coating such things as fish or chicken, or you can add water to make a batter for deep frying.

A package is 35 cents.

UNUSUAL JELLIES

I found some interesting jellies that would be good on morning toast—might even draw some conversation from the members of your household who are glum and silent at breakfast.

One is made from wild bramble berries gathered in Scotland, which are supposed to have a special flavor all their own. A 12-ounce jar will cost you 36 cents. Rowan berry jelly also from Scotland is 35 cents for the same size jar.

Now you not only remove the odors in kitchen or bathroom—you can add an aroma of mint, spice, pine or mixed flowers!

You do this by spraying the rooms from a pressurized tin of liquid. Price is 89 cents in any of the four scents.

FROM ITALY

Hand-painted figurines, made in Italy, make attractive ornaments. Small figures of a street band, each playing a different instrument, are $1.50.

Larger figurines of chubby Italian children are $2.95.

I'll be happy to tell you where I found any of these items if you give me a call at 2-3131.

TODAY'S RECIPE

PEAR AMBER

Two large oranges, 1½ cups drained crushed pineapple, 12 medium-size Bartlett pears, sugar to measure, ½ cup thinly sliced maraschino cherries.

Wash orange, cut up and remove seeds. Then dice or grind coarsely, peel and all. Add drained pineapple. Peel and dice pears into this mixture. Measure into large heavy kettle and for each cup, add ¼ cup sugar. Heat to boiling, stirring to dissolve sugar, then cook rapidly until thick as you like, about 30 minutes. Add cherries. Remove from heat, let stand overnight, stirring occasionally while cooling. Next day, heat to boiling, pack into jars, seal. Makes about 3½ pints.

Appointed Chief of Fisheries Kitchen

Miss Ruth G. MacIntosh has been appointed assistant chief of the home economics section of the federal department of fisheries in Ottawa. The department maintains experimental kitchens in Ottawa, Toronto, Montreal, Halifax, Winnipeg and Vancouver, staffed with home economists who test and develop recipes based on fish products, and carry out fish cookery demonstrations throughout Canada. Miss MacIntosh, a native of Brookfield, N.S., is a graduate in home economics from Mount Allison University, Sackville, N.B., and in dietetics from the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal. She received her MA degree from the department of household science, University of Toronto. She has served as hospital dietitian with the Canadian Army Medical Corps and in the Montreal General Hospital, and after the war spent five years as senior experimental officer in the scientific advisers' division of the British Ministry of Food, London, England.

RUTH MACINTOSH

Before joining the department of fisheries she was connected with the extension service of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and was a lecturer in the department of household science, University of Toronto.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Wives Can Help Lengthen
Their Husbands' Life Span

It is a startling fact that in the United States alone there are around seven million widows. The majority of their husbands died, not in old age, but during the productive years of their lives.

There is much more likelihood that you will be a widow than that your husband will be left alone. Why is this? No doubt many factors play their part, one of the most important being the pressure the average man feels in providing the standard of living his family expects. Men literally work themselves to death to give those they love what they want and what they themselves want them to have.

Too much driving of himself and too little relaxation, too much weight and too little exercise, too much sudden strenuous exercise for which his body is not trained, too few interests outside his work, too much strain and too little laughter, too much criticism and not enough praise; all of these have a part in shortening the life expectancy of men.

You, his wife, can play a terrific role in keeping your husband alive. You can see that his nutrition is in line with the latest findings of science. If he is overweight you can plan menus which are attractive and tempting but not fattening. You can nag him (if necessary) in order to get him to the doctor for regular physical examinations.

Probably more important than anything, you can see to it that your home is a relaxing, warm, gay, "untenable" oasis for him. You can encourage him in exploring any hobbies he may like. You can indulge in mild exercise such as swimming, golf, walking, or ping pong, with him.

You can provide an opportunity for rest when he first comes home after a day's work. You can control your social life so that he is not expected to work all day and stay up all night.

You can let him know that you would much rather have him than a lot of money to enjoy alone later on. Actually I feel certain that many wives of successful men would trade some of their luxuries for more companionship; would be as happy as larks with much less money and much more time with their husbands. But, life

Couple Say Marriage Vows
At St. Matthew's Church

At a recent ceremony in St. Matthew's Church, Langford, Hope Elvina Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Gardner, Discovery Island, formerly of Langford, exchanged marriage vows with Knute Andrew Krogstad.

The groom had his brother, Ivor Krogstad, as best man and ushers were David Gardner, brother of the bride and Albert Jacobson.

A reception was held at Kings Road Hall, Victoria, at which Donald J. Tweedhope, Langford, proposed a toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon motor trip in Washington, the bride donned a brown flowered dress with matching duster and pink rose corsage. The newlyweds will live in Nanaimo.

Mrs. Norman Grove, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a white flowered silk dress and carried pink carnations. Junior bridesmaids Miss Carole Gardner, sister of the bride, and Miss Gloria Gardner wore nylon dresses, the former in pink with bouquet of yellow carnations and the latter in yellow with pink bouquets.

Is It a Record?

World tours notwithstanding, the record for international commuting undoubtedly belongs to Sybil Connolly, the Irish dress designer. The glamorous Sybil, who looks as if her life was one 18th century drawing room after another, says that this summer she "hasn't sat down without fastening a seat belt." Since last March she has flown: three times from Dublin to New York, every two weeks to Belfast as stylist for the Irish household linen industry, five times to London to confer with Ann Todd on the costumes for the play "Four Winds" in which both star and designer will make their New York stage debut next fall, and to finish off her summer, a flight to Australia with her entire collection to tour the continent for six weeks.

On Etiquette

"GIMME GIRL"

A young lady who isn't to be married for six months has told all of her friends what pattern of china, silver, etc., she wants and has made me feel a bit guilty because I haven't sent her anything yet. Am I correct in thinking that wedding gifts shouldn't be sent this far ahead of the wedding date?

Louise Davis

Answers: It looks as if this bride-elect is one of these "gimme girls," out for all she can get. She wasn't very subtle in telling all of her friends just what she wants and, to make matters worse, that she wants them now! Engaged girls make no such announcements unless friends ask, and even then it is awkward and embarrassing. When it comes to airing such desires, it would be better that one or two close friends initiate the grapevine and, in that way, the girl wouldn't be brazenly hinting. If friends want to know the silver and china patterns, they can always ask one of the family, a relative, or one of the bride-to-be's closest friends, rather than subject the girl to the embarrassment of answering. Wedding gifts are not delivered until after the invitations are issued, which is about three weeks before the wedding day. So I would say that your friend is very much out of order. Therefore, there is no reason why you should send a wedding gift now. If, later on, you find something other than the silver and china that you think the bride would like and need, it is your privilege to get it. At the rate the girl is going it looks as if she may be overstocked by the time she is married!

Bride Lillian Korpi Gowned in Blue Satin

A bridal gown of ice blue brocaded satin was chosen by Lillian Ellen Korpi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Kroening, Inez Drive, for her marriage Saturday evening to William Shaw, Arichat, N.S.

The bride walked up the aisle of St. Mark's Anglican Church on the arm of her father. Her gown featured a V neckline, straight front and back panels with soft gathers at the side and cape sleeves. She wore matching elbow gloves and carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and pale pink rosebuds with white streamers.

White and pink gladioli filled the church for the ceremony which was solemnized by Canon

R. Willis. Traditional organ music was played by Mrs. L. H. Ashby and Mrs. D. Vogel, Haney, B.C., was soloist.

Mrs. G. Froese, Westview, B.C., cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina-length dress of pale pink chiffon and carried a colonial bouquet of pale mauve gladioli and white carnations.

Miss Shirley Lindsay, bridesmaid, was in a ballerina-length dress of pale green nylon net. A colonial bouquet of pale pink gladioli and white carnations completed her costume. Sister of the bride, Miss Joyce Kroening, was junior bridesmaid, and a cousin, Miss Gena-Lynn Gordon, the flower girl. They were dressed alike in ballerina-length frocks of pale pink nylon net, and carried mauve gladioli and white carnations.

WHITE CARNATIONS

All attendants wore white carnation bands in their hair. Thomas Gordon, uncle of the bride, was best man, while David Harvey and Gordon Vogel ushered. Master Jerry Brown was ring bearer.

A reception was held at Boller-makers' Hall, where Ted Harvey proposed a toast to the bride's happiness. A three-tier cake decorated in white and pink rosebuds was flanked by blue candles and pink rosebuds.

Mrs. Kroening, bride's mother, wore a dusty pink two-piece dress with white accessories and gardenia corsage.

V.I. Members At Convention

Plans were discussed at last meeting of the Women of the Moose, Chapter 25, for attending the 69th annual international convention of Loyal Order of Moose in Spokane, Wash., from Sunday to Thursday, this week. More than 100 members from Victoria, Duncan and Nanaimo are at the gathering.

The chaplain, Mrs. D. Coles, presided at the meeting; Miss D. Guelpa gave a report on the picnic.

Refreshments were served at tables decorated with vases of pansies. A birthday cake was cut for the month of August. Refreshment conveners were Mrs. K. Lemy, Mrs. E. Eastwood, Mrs. J. Vashere, Mrs. E. Beadle and Mrs. I. Frazer.

IN HONOR OF THE BRIDE

Miss Carole Eveleigh was guest of honor at a recent shower given by Mrs. Clifford Horncastle, Wilson Street. A decorated plastic clothes basket held gifts which were presented to the bride-elect to be along with a corsage of green gladioli. Mrs. R. J. Eveleigh, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. D. M. Browne, mother of the groom-elect, received corsage bouquets of white carnations. A buffet supper was served to the guests who included Mrs. G. D. More, Mrs. A. R. Anderson, Mrs. J. A. McLeod, Mrs. C. H. Kirk, Mrs. G. M. Conrad, Mrs. H. P. Goodman, Mrs. E. Lowry, Mrs. M. Browne and Misses Joy Lowry and Sharon Hanslip.

Miss Marie Maggiora, August bride-elect, was feted at a recent tea time shower at the home of Miss Mary Bell on Transit Road. Invited guests included Mrs. N. Maggiora, mother of the bride-to-be; Mrs. W. Wilkinson, mother of the groom-elect; Mrs. T. H. Bell, Mrs. J. Schofield, Mrs. L. Guizetti, Mrs. R. Jones, Mrs. L. Maggiora, Mrs. E. Stewart, Mrs. Robertson, Mrs. A. Stewart, Misses A. Creasey, E. Rhodes, A. Jones and B. Jones.

Miss Barbara Campbell was feted at a recent cup-and-saucer shower given by her co-workers at the Pacific Naval Laboratory. Corsages were presented to the guest of honor, her mother, Mrs. F. Campbell, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. E. Marks. Other guests included Mrs. E. Bowen, Mrs. K. Odell, Mrs. M. Potentier, and Misses M. Jacobsen, A. Williams, C. Hodges, B. Turl, J. Scofield, P. Gray, S. Main and A. Simpson.

Guest of honor at a recent shower was Mrs. William Shaw, the former Lillian Korpi. Hostesses were aunt and cousin of the bride-elect, Mrs. J. Meek and Miss Sheila Arden, respectively. A pink rosebud corsage was presented to the honored guest, while her mother, Mrs. R. Kroening, received pink carnations. Gifts were arranged in a decorated wishing well, while a shower cake was topped with toy soldiers. The guests included Mrs. D. Vogel, Mrs. C. Harvey, Mrs. B. Morrison, Mrs. I. Gordon, Mrs. B. Traill, Mrs. B. Isaacson, Mrs. D. Walker, Mrs. K. Bellevance, Mrs. G. Abbott, Mrs. D. Buie, Mrs. D. Pimlott, Mrs. R. Robertson and Misses S. Horton and Joyce Kroening.

Miss Anne Budynski, to be married next Friday, was feted at a surprise shower given by Miss Sharon Drover at her home on Agnes Street. A corsage of pink rosebuds and carnations was presented to the honored guest. Invited guests included Mrs. Corrine Grandy, Mrs. Carmel Sapala, Mrs. Joan Crossfield, Mrs. Edith Smith, Mrs. Elenore Crisp, and Misses Betty Beattie, Irene Fletcher, Peggy Pickford, Barbara Green, Ruth Gold, Pat Hocking, Joan Hansford, Emily Jones, Eleanor Wilson, Terry Duncan and Anne McGhee.

September bride-elect, Miss Claire Shiner, was guest of honor at a recent shower held by Mrs. G. Edgington at her home on Cook Street. A decorated blue basket held gifts and a corsage of mauve gladioli was presented to the bride-to-be. Her mother, Mrs. A. L. Shiner, was given pink dahlias, while Mrs. P. Trowsdale, mother of the groom-elect, received white dahlias. Invited guests included Mrs. A. Stewart, Mrs. L. Herber, Mrs. H. Creed, Mrs. I. Snider, Mrs. P. Hamilton, Mrs.

INDIA BEAUTY IN CALGARY LIBRARY

CALGARY (CP) — Book-borrowers at the Calgary public library's main branch are being attended by one of Calgary's prettiest, and most unusual, new brides.

She is 18-year-old Mrs. Bal Khosla, recent arrival from New Delhi.

As a high-caste girl in India her marriage was arranged by her parents and the parents of the groom when the couple were children.

Both studied at the University of New Delhi, and Mr. Khosla came to Calgary to work as a geophysicist.

After he had been here for a while, a visit home turned the "arranged" marriage into a western-style romance.

"On the second day of May we decided, and May 18 we were married," said Promila.

Lilly Dache, the intrepid glamor-hunter and her husband, Jean Despres of Coty are on a round-the-world tour with a long pause for refreshment (from mid-August till after Labor Day) in their native Paris.

Flying off to Japan the morning after La Dache closed Press Week in New York in a literal blaze of glory when the strong spotlights and fashion show set fire to the Hotel Park will visit her husband's Pierre stage, they are stopping in parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Tokyo, Hong Kong, Bangkok, New O'Shea, Vancouver, en route Delhi, Bombay, Beirut, Istanbul and Paris.

Cridge-Louis Wedding Vows Said At Ceremony in Mainland Church

A wedding of interest in Victoria was solemnized Saturday evening in St. Saviour's Anglican Church, Vancouver, where early autumn flowers created a setting for the marriage of Jeannine Martha-Louis, daughter of A. J. Louis, Vancouver, and Edward Slater Cridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Cridge, 2358 Estevan Avenue. Rev. J. R. Davies officiated and traditional music was played.

Blush pink and white nylon tulle misted over rich white slipper satin to form the bride's gown. The bodice was embroidered with tiny seed pearls and white shell sequins and was style with scooped sweetheart neckline and short sleeves. Her chapel veil of illusion tulle sprinkled with white shell sequins was held by a coronet of tiny pearls, and her bouquet was a crescent cascade of deep pink roses and white carnations. Her father gave her in marriage.

Mrs. Jack Wainwright was matron of honor for her sister, wearing a bouffant princess-style gown of pink crystalline embroidered with tiny white flowers, and matching feather hat. She carried a colonial nosegay of white and turquoise carnations. Identical ensembles in pale turquoise were chosen by bridesmaid-Mrs. Ed Des Jardines and junior bridesmaid Miss Maureen Smith, Winnipeg. Their nosegays were of white and pink carnations.

Philip W. Holmes was best man and ushers were Rodney Cridge and Geoffrey Cridge, brothers of the groom, all of Victoria.

A reception was held in Baker's Winter Gardens, where Ralph Louis proposed a toast to his niece. The bride's aunt,

Institute Urges Dentistry Chair

Shirley Women's Institute met recently at the home of Mrs. A. Kaulitz, River Jordan Road. A resolution will be sent from members to the premier of British Columbia supporting the efforts of the B.C. College of Dentists to secure a Chair of Dentistry at UBC. During the meeting, concern was expressed about the condition of the River Jordan Road. Guests at the meeting were Mrs. M. Newell of Alta., daughter of Mrs. L. Cness, Shirley Institute president, and Mrs. E. G. Woodward, district board president.

Accountants Told to Push Specialization

SASKATOON (CP)—Walter L. Gordon, chairman of the 1956 royal commission on economic affairs, suggested today that accountants should specialize in order to widen their scope of activities.

Mr. Gordon, senior partner of a large Toronto accountancy firm, spoke at the Canadian Institute of Chartered Accountants' three-day annual convention. Approximately 500 members are attending.

"When we start considering diversification, this business of specialization creeps in," he said. "But this was just an indication that the accounting is maturing."

Text of Mr. Gordon's speech was released to the press in advance of delivery.

"As business becomes more complex, accounting theories become more diverse and auditing procedures more elaborate."

For this reason, said Mr. Gordon, he expected the trend toward specialization by chartered accountants will continue.

He suggested one field which offered great opportunities was management consulting.

This could be done either as an adjunct to auditing practices or in association with management consultants.

SUGGESTS COST-FIELD

He said one phase of consultant management in which a "goodly number" of chartered accountants should be able to assist clients was that of cost and production control.

Such control could include systems for production and administration costs as well as of office systems to cut down unnecessary paper work.

"Some people are forecasting a tremendous economic development in Canada over the next quarter century . . . great expansion will take place in the resource industries, particularly oil and gas, the generation of electrical power and mining."

"This will call for more and more people with specialized training," Mr. Gordon said.

'Latin Lover' Libel Trial Star Witness

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—The defence disclosed it will call to the stand today the "Latin Lover" that Confidential magazine says wooed actress Maureen O'Hara in row 35 of Grauman's Chinese Theatre.

The story titled: "It was the hottest show in town when Maureen O'Hara cuddled in row 35 with her Latin boy friend," has touched off a barrage of legal fireworks.

Defence counsel Arthur Crowley identified the heretofore "mystery witness" as Enrique Parra, a businessman of Mexico City who was accused in 1955 by Miss O'Hara's ex-husband of "openly living and consorting" with his former wife in the presence of their daughter.

The defence move in the criminal libel trial of Confidential and Whisper magazines posed the possibility of a face-to-face meeting in court of the flame-haired actress and her alleged boy friend.

Killer Lion Slain By Young African

STANLEYVILLE, Belgian Congo (AP)—A man-eating lion that had haunted Stanleyville province was shot and killed last week while devouring the last of 12 human victims.

Africans flocked from all over the region to see the lion's skin exhibited here and stoned it furiously while acclaiming a young hunter, Ndeka, who had killed it.

Aly Khan's Daughter Wins in Sulky Trot

SAINT-PIERRE-JORDIVES, France (UP)—Yasmin Khan, seven-year-old daughter of Prince Aly Khan and screen star Rita Hayworth, piloted her Shetland pony to victory Sunday in an all-children's sulky trot.

It was the first horse race in which she ever took part and the results were carried by the French paramilitary betting wire. Her horse paid off 12 francs for 10.

Good Weather Speeds Wenner-Gren Project

VANCOUVER (CP)—Good business weather for the next few weeks could advance by a year the British Columbia development scheme of Swedish industrialist Axel Wenner-Gren, says an official of his organization.

Bernard Gore, managing director of Wenner-Gren B.C. Development Company, said Sunday the final survey report could be ready next summer.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then Ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes. The youngest who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Karen Seely, age 14, of Salt Lake City, Utah, for her question.

What is the difference between a star, a planet and a comet?

Anyone can recognize a comet in the sky. For it wears a long, golden tail. In fact, its name means hair because to the ancients it seemed to be trailing long golden tresses. You can even recognize the planets, if you look closely enough. For planets shine with clear, steady light. And the stars in the sky twinkle and sparkle like glittering diamonds.

From the earth, a planet may look as big and as important as a star. A showy comet may look bigger and more important than any star in the sky. But actually, when compared with a star, a planet or even a showy comet is very small, indeed. A million planets may fit inside a star and thousands of comets may fit inside a planet. And there are more important differences than size.

Planets and comets have no light of their own. They shine with the reflected glory of a star. The only planets we know about belong to our solar system. The only light they borrow comes from our golden sun. The evening star, which we see after sunset, is really a planet. It acts like a mirror and reflects the golden light from the sun. A comet, too, is reflecting the sun—even its trailing dust and particles.

Only the radiant sun is able to pour forth light and heat. Its blazing energy streams forth in all directions. A small amount of this falls upon the planet which is our earth. As the earth turns around on its axis, first one side and then another is facing the sun. First one side moves into the daylight, then the other. Seen from the planet Venus, the daytime sunlit side of our earth shines like a star. But it is only reflecting the radiance of the sun.

Our sun is a star, just one of the countless stars in the sky. Like any star it is a ball of blazing gases. The sun seems so big because all the other stars are such vast distances away. If the sun were the size of a pinhead, on the same scale its nearest star neighbor would be 10 miles away.

We say that our sun is the parent of our solar system. In a sense, the planets and the comets are its children. Like a good parent, the sun keeps its children in line. In fact, it prevents the planets and the comets from running away into

Prankish Tars Nearly Foiled H-Bomb Test

HONOLULU (AP)—Prankish British sailors nearly upset the Christmas Island H-bomb test by flashing a phony "Warrior go home" signal at that aircraft carrier.

Cmdr. D. R. Williams, skipper of a Royal Navy craft now at Pearl Harbor, said it happened this way:

Several British sailors were fishing off shore in a small boat when the Warrior arrived at Christmas Island just before the scheduled H-bomb test.

"When the Warrior hove into sight they raised a Japanese flag and signaled the carrier—'Warrior go home, stop H-bomb test.'"

"The Warrior's brass thought it was a Japanese sampan and got all shook up. Warrior asked the Admiralty for instructions. It was several hours before the prank was discovered and the carrier's staff settled down."

WHAT'S MY LINE?

LONDON (AP)—It had to happen someday on London's complex network of electrified and old-fashioned steam train tracks.

Men in the control towers along London's southern approaches were routing trains all over the place Saturday to clear a blockage caused by a locomotive breakdown.

When everything seemed to be going smoothly, one worried little engineer climbed down from his train a few miles out of town and phoned back the news: his electric train had been switched onto a steam line and just couldn't move.

Embarrassed railway men rushed an old-fashioned locomotive down the line.

Maoris Now Closer To Full Integration

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP)—

The Maoris of New Zealand are in the final stage leading to full integration with their white countrymen, in the view of E. B. Corbett, minister of Maori affairs.

The sign he sees of a new advance is that for the first time considerable numbers of Maoris are putting aside savings.

The idea of reserving earnings for planned use later on is totally alien to ancient Maori tradition. They lived a communal life, with all property held in common and those in need depended on other members of the family or tribe.

In only about 150 years the Maoris have made a staggering advance from stone-age culture. When white settlement began they were cannibals, knew nothing of metals, had no written language.

Their adaptation to Western ways of life has been remarkably thorough. Individual Maoris have shown the ability to rise to any height. Maoris have been cabinet ministers, bishops, scientists, doctors.

But in spite of continued progress to a state of complete equality with Europeans, in practice as in law, few Maoris have until now shown much interest in saving.

The money received for the sale of huge areas of tribal lands was squandered in most cases and little was left to show for it. Even when later payments for land sales and leases were tied up in trust funds to protect the capital sum, the income from these trusts was seldom put to purposes of permanent value.

In the last 20 years large numbers of Maoris have been moving into the towns and entering industry. But the vast majority of them have been content to live in ramshackle rented quarters.

Now, according to the Maori affairs minister, Maoris have begun to think for the future. Much larger numbers are showing an interest in buying their own houses and each year more manage to make the effort to put aside enough money for the deposit on a house.

There is no color bar as such in New Zealand. A large proportion of the white population protests vigorously against any evidence of race discrimination. Maoris and European intermarry freely. A Maori girl was chosen "Miss New Zealand" a few years ago in competition with white girls. There are Maoris mayors of mainly European towns.

Ice Cream Treat Ends Rudd Park Playground Fun

An ice cream treat Friday morning wound up playground activities at Rudd Park for 133 youngsters.

And they deserved it, said supervisor C. Mae MacLennan. The six-week program was "the happiest and most rewarding experience I've ever had with children," Miss MacLennan, a teacher, said.

"Not once did I have to discipline a child and I think that's a great credit to them."

The program ended Thursday with a "splash party" in the Crystal Garden where the children, ranging in age from six to 14, swam every Thursday, under the direction of Mrs. J. Chapman.

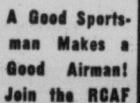

Wood Beddington conducted woodwork classes every morning during July. Mr. Beddington, who has held every office on the recreational committee, initiated the playground program 12 years ago.

The children spent their mornings working in arts and crafts during the season while afternoons were given over to games and sport.

A sports program opened the season and two weeks ago the children participated in a costume party with a mock pirate, Indian and old lady, winning prizes.

Forest Fire Hazard Higher; 23 Burning

(From CP Dispatches)
VANCOUVER—The fire hazard in B.C. forests is increasing this week with higher temperatures.

Although the present situation is still good, the B.C. Forest Service warned campers to be careful with cigarette butts and pipe ashes.
Twenty-three fires were put out last week and 24 were still burning, the service said in a statement Sunday night.
Fire fighting costs have been held down to $132,000 this year—one-third the amount spent for the same period in 1956.

A low hazard is reported in all areas with the exception of Nelson where the hazard is moderate.

AGED PENSIONER HELD
VANCOUVER—Drug detail detectives arrested four persons, one of them an old-age pensioner, in raids on downtown rooming houses Sunday.

Charged with drug possession were Harvey Pridde, 70, Lyle Raymond Jackson, 19, Jack Bryce, 25, and Joan Mary Gibson, 23.

TEACHER AIDS URGED
VANCOUVER—The B.C. School Trustees Association will study a system of "teachers aides," similar to the help used by nurses, which has been experimented with in U.S. education.

Frank Reder, BCSTA secretary-treasurer, said the teachers' aides "do the routine chore" work, leaving the teacher free to devote all her time to professional endeavor.

SALMON RESCUED
SMITHERS, B.C.—Last week when heavy rains hit Bulkley Valley, R. H. Dunlop, superintendent of the department of highways at Smithers, came to the rescue of a large school of sockeye salmon trapped under a newly built portion of the road.

A few days before the rain, the largest culvert on highway 16 had been placed under the roadbed to allow small creek to flow through.

During the rains, swift-running water ate out a large crater under the road and later sealed it with sand and gravel.

A highway crew discovered the trapped salmon. A tunnel was dug through from the other side of the road and the fish freed for their journey to the ocean.

IMMIGRANTS MISLED?
VANCOUVER—A Briton who came here three years ago says the Canadian immigration department is not telling the whole truth to prospective British immigrants.

George Robertson, president of the Newcomers Club, said Sunday immigrants are not told that they may have to wait for a job and that larger Canadian cities are flooded with immigrants looking for work.

Immigrants were not prepared for the high cost of living accommodation or the lack of apartment blocks suitable for children.

Historic Dieppe Battle Recalled on Anniversary

By DAVE MCINTOSH
OTTAWA (CP)—Fifteen years ago today, Canadian soldiers forced allied leaders to change their strategic plans for the Second Front.

They had to do it the hard way. Only 2,211 of a Canadian force of 4,963 returned to England after the Dieppe raid of Aug. 19, 1942.

Up to that time, the allies thought that the chief principle for the invasion of Normandy would be surprise. After Dieppe, it was realized that heavy support by bombers and capital ships would be required. These measures were employed when the allies landed in France June 6, 1944.

Col. P. C. Stacey, official army historian, says in his Six Years of War, published in 1955, that the planners of the Dieppe raid—combined operations headquarters—underestimated the strong German defences and the influence of topography.

"There were too many cooks and this probably had much to do with spoiling the broth," Col. Stacey comments.

In 1944, Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, commander of the 1st Canadian

Army, said the Dieppe raid was a Canadian contribution of the greatest significance to the final victory.

One outgrowth of the raid was the undermining of the prestige of Gen. A. G. L. McNamara, then commander of the 1st army.

American correspondent Quentin Reynolds published a book on the raid and although Col. Stacey's history says, he had no knowledge of the planning he commented on it freely.

The history says Reynolds implied the Canadians were responsible for altering a more intelligent plan of attack and inserting in it a front assault.

Gen. McNamara was asked by defence headquarters to issue a "corrective statement" but he felt this would prejudice future Canadian relations with British authorities, be interpreted as seeking to shift responsibility and give valuable information to the enemy. He issued no statement. The history says:

"It was a sound and patriotic decision but one which in the end probably did Gen. McNamara himself considerable harm."

The Toronto weekly magazine (Saturday night) said Dieppe proved the bankruptcy of Canadian generalship and the history adds there is little doubt that such criticism "did something to undermine the hitherto unassailable prestige of Gen. McNamara with the public."

Prime Minister Churchill held a small conference June 30, 1942, on the Dieppe project. He showed some anxiety about it but was told by Gen. Brooke, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, that the operation was indispensable to the Allied offensive program.

"SO ENDED THE DAY..."
Col. Stacey concludes his account of the raid in this way: "So ended the brave and bitter day. Under the shaded docks lights in the English ports, tired and grimy men drank strong tea and told their tales, and the ambulance trains filled and drew slowly out. Back on the Dieppe beaches the Germans were still collecting Canadian wounded, and the Canadian dead in their hundreds lay wet where they had fallen. On both sides of the Channel staff officers were already beginning to scan the record and assess the lessons of the raid; and beyond the Atlantic, in innumerable communities across Canada, people waited in painful anxiety for news of friends in the overseas army—that army which, after three years of war, had just fought its first battle."

N.Y. Boy Checkmates Chess World Jinx

TORONTO (BUP)—A 19-year-old New York boy has become the first American since the second world war to win a major world chess tournament in which Russians also competed.

Against opposition which included Vladimir Selimianov, stepson of world champion Vassily Smyslov, William Lombardy won his 11th consecutive victory in the fourth world junior chess championship.

His win, in moves against Ibrahim Baghat of Egypt, gave him a final total of 11 points, two more than runner-up Mathias Gerusel of West Germany.

Soviet grandmaster Igor Bandarevsky, who accompanied Selimianov as his second, said, "Lombardy is a class above the others. He has the experience and knowledge which they lack."

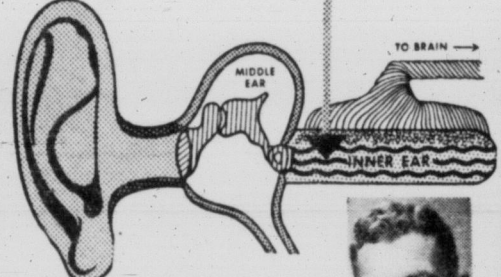

Lombardy set another record in winning all his 11 games.

"The Russians are very much overrated. They are superb players all right, but their record is far better than it need be because their opponents go in with the feeling that they can't be beaten," Lombardy said.

SYRIAN PRESIDENT IN EGYPT

Egyptian President Nasser is on hand to greet President Shukri Kuwaty of Syria as he arrives unexpectedly in Cairo, following the Red coup in his home country. Kuwaty is reported to be in Egypt for "medical treatment."

Pro-Reds Nab Army, Purge Foes in Syria

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Volatile Syria apparently moved closer to the Communist bloc today as pro-Soviet officers purged rightists from the politically powerful army.

Gen. Atif Bizry, known throughout the Middle East as the most extreme leftist in Syria's army, took control of the army during the weekend, according to reliable reports reaching neighboring Lebanon.

Bizry, 43, a known Communist, immediately began to purge right-wing opponents. Thirteen officers were fired or resigned in Damascus and a number fled to Beirut.

While Premier Sabri Assali's Moscow-oriented government seemed to have been strengthened, President Shukri Kuwaty's professed neutrality between East and West—already cloudy behind Russian arms deals—became a little more indistinct.

Kuwaty had once threatened to resign rather than let Communist supporters take complete control of the army. But the weekend's virtual coup d'état by leftists came with formal approval of the sick president.

UPPED IN RANK

Kuwaty signed a presidential decree Saturday jumping Bizry from lieutenant-colonel to general and making him army commander-in-chief and chief of staff, an official announcement said.

Then, amid rumors that Kuwaty had resigned—which Assail denied—the president flew to Egypt Sunday. In Cairo for the third time in six months, he talked with President Nasser for more than an hour.

The Syrian and Egyptian armies are united under the joint command of an Egyptian officer and both are heavily stocked with Soviet arms, but Nasser has kept his own Communists suppressed.

Purpose of Kuwaty's trip was officially announced as a medical check in Alexandria. He flew to Alexandria after seeing Nasser and went to a hospital.

The events that brought Communists to power in the army of Syria began with charges of foreign plotting to overthrow the government.

CHARGE WAS BLIND

Informed sources here said Syria's charge last Tuesday that the United States was seeking to oust Kuwaty was used as a blind for the leftists.

The government ordered three American diplomats out of the country after claiming there had been a U.S. plot to "buy" a pro-American regime with economic aid offers after a coup d'état. The U.S. state department called the charges "pure fabrication," and expelled two Syrian diplomats in retaliation.

RAILWAY FARE HIKE GRANTED

OTTAWA (CP)—The board of transport commissioners today granted railways authority to boost standard passenger fares by a maximum 10 per cent.

However, the full boost likely will apply only to first-class fares. The railways in applying for the increase said they intend to raise coach fares by 5 per cent only. They said also there would be no increase either in coach or first-class rates in areas where the Canadian carriers face competition which will not allow any boost.

U.S., Britain In Huddle Over Coup in Syria

LONDON (UP)—The United States and Britain began urgent consultations today on the Red drive in Syria which has offered the severest challenge yet to the Eisenhower doctrine in the Middle East.

Diplomatic sources said the western allies were conferring on the fast developing threat—considered the most serious setback to western policy in the explosive area since President Gamal Abdel Nasser seized the Suez Canal last summer.

Two long-term courses appeared open to the West to counter the new challenge of Soviet penetration.

1. Strengthening of the Eisenhower doctrine which calls for American aid to nations threatened with Communist aggression.

2. Reinforcement of the Baghdad Middle East defence alliance which stretches across southern Russia and seals it off from the Middle East.

British Pound Value Stands

LONDON (AP)—Britain said today there will be no devaluation of sterling despite a new flight from the pound in European free money markets.

"The pound sterling has been under pressure from the backwash of the devaluation of the French franc," a government spokesman said, "but it has no bearing on the position of sterling."

"There is no question of devaluation."

PRAYER FOR TODAY

God of the youthful heart, there are times when I feel the enthusiasm I once knew slipping away with each day's added burdens. I ask this day Thy help in keeping alive the natural exuberance Thou once gavest me. So may I find life zestful and rewarding even though my way be rough. And so may I link my life more closely with the youthful spirit of Thy Son Jesus. Amen.

Ash Moves Fast To Start Study On Merger Plan

Reeve Arthur Ash of Saanich today set in motion the machinery for investigations of amalgamation and the need for more space at Royal Oak Municipal Hall.

Moving swiftly following Saturday's referendum in which ratepayers showed they were decisively (2,897 to 1,188) opposed to a permanent hall addition, the reeve:

1. Announced that he will appoint a committee to "thoroughly investigate" all aspects of amalgamation with Victoria.
2. And a second committee to inquire into the best means of providing much-needed temporary office space "at a minimum cost."

3. Said new councillor George Chatterton has agreed to head both committees.

"The support I received from the voters Saturday on this referendum has given me a great deal of encouragement," Reeve Ash said.

Ash Encouraged to Run Again

"It makes me feel my stand was worthwhile."

The reeve also held the door open for the possibility he may stand for re-election in December.

"Looking into the future," he said, "if I thought I could be the means of bringing about a union of urban Saanich and Victoria, I would consider offering myself as a candidate."

Mayor Percy Scurrell of Victoria today promised his full support for the amalgamation study.

"In view of this vote," the mayor said, "it would indicate the people would like to have amalgamation investigated."

"I will be very glad to co-operate with Reeve Ash."

What form city co-operation will take will depend on further talks.

Said Reeve Ash: "Personally, I feel besides representatives of council, we should have some representation from private citizens in co-operation with Victoria authorities."

The reeve said he would also consult with Premier Bennett and Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black.

"No stone should be left unturned in order to bring about the best plan possible so that the ratepayers will know where they stand and can ultimately vote on it," Reeve Ash said.

Amalgamation Study Supported

Support for the amalgamation study was also promised by the newly-formed "December Group" in Saanich, which expressed satisfaction with the referendum result.

"Though the total voting was small considering the implications of the question," said spokesman Charles M. Nelles, "the answer given was a red-blooded affirmation that Saanich wants to play its proper part in Greater Victoria."

"As for our group, we have no wish to become a permanent pressure group, as our name shows quite plainly. It is the elected councillors who must govern the municipality, not us."

Red Syria Coup Hits U.S. Stocks

NEW YORK (UP)—A pro-Communist coup in Syria drove stocks down today at a time when the experts had been anticipating a rally from last week's sharp break.

Today's selling, on increased volume, sent the utility average to a new 1957 low.

DOCK STRIKERS BACK TO WORK

LONDON (AP)—Sixteen thousand striking marketmen and dockers went back to work today—on union orders.

The strikes had immobilized 100 ships in London docks and caused a fruit and vegetable shortage throughout Britain.

U.S. Offers New Plan To Save Arms Talks

LONDON (UP)—The United States had made "far-reaching" new disarmament proposals to its allies in an attempt to prevent the five-power London arms conference from breaking down, authoritative sources disclosed tonight.

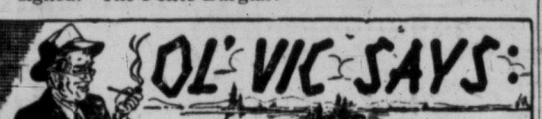

Details were kept secret but open skies and a halt to future A-bomb production remain key conditions for any agreement with Russia, the sources said.

They said the U.S. is prepared to continue the five-month-old London talks right up to December if Russia gives a "favorable response" in the next two weeks on the latest plan for aerial inspection recently offered by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

THIEF SORRY FOR MESS BUT LOOT TAKEN OKAY

VANCOUVER (CP)—A gentleman thief left a note apologizing for the inconvenience at one of four suites raided during the weekend in a city office building.

"Sorry I was so messy—only money taken, no records destroyed," said the note left at the office of J. G. Watts Ltd., where $35 had been taken from a forced safe and $10 from a broken piggy bank. It was signed: "The Polite Burglar."

If th' high cost o' doin' business goes up like th' high cost o' livin', it's goin' t' be more profitable t' do neither.

B'fore Saanich council goes into joint projects with th' city, mebbe they ought t' git into joint projects with th' do.

Churchill Kin's Sleeping-Pill Death Probed

LONDON (AP)—An overdose of sleeping pills took the life Sunday of Anthony Beauchamp, husband of Sir Winston Churchill's actress daughter Sarah.

The 39-year-old society photographer and television producer apparently died alone in his apartment overlooking Hyde Park. He had not been seen lately with Sarah, four years his senior. They had been living apart for three years.

Their marriage was rumored finished. London newspapers say, but there was supposedly an agreement for "no divorce while Sir Winston is alive." The former prime minister is 82 years old.

Beauchamp made a 4 a.m. telephone call to the blond sister of the Marquess of Londonderry only a few hours before he died. The marquess has been one of the critics of the Queen and the royal court.

Scotland Yard indicated today this call may help them in piecing together his last hours.

Beauchamp was found sprawled across a bed. On a table rested a half empty box of sleeping pills.

Lady Jane Vane-Tempest-Stewart, 25-year-old sister of Londonderry, told police:

"I pleaded with Anthony and tried to persuade him not to be foolish. I was frantic. While I talked, suddenly the line seemed to go dead."

CALLED POLICE

Lady Jane called police, who broke into Beauchamp's apartment and found him dead. Announcement of the death was delayed 13 hours.

Two other beautiful women who knew Beauchamp were being questioned by police.

Sharmine Teruchelvam, dark-eyed model from Ceylon, also saw Beauchamp Saturday. She described him as "one of my dearest and closest friends."

Lord Portman's niece, Mrs. Davina West, told a reporter Beauchamp had drinks with her in her basement flat in Bohemian Chelsea last week.

Beauchamp disliked being known as Churchill's son-in-law. "You might as well beat your head against a brick wall as try to shake that one off," he once said.

Sarah Churchill was not available for comment on her husband's death.

Details of Levy Now Worked Out

By PETE LOUDON

Larger stores in downtown Victoria are in line for whopping 100 to 400 per cent increases in levies under the city's new business tax.

This was indicated at City Hall today as preparations were made for a meeting tonight of city council's business tax committee.

It appears now that corner grocery-type premises and similar shops out of the high rent area will pay about the same under business tax as they did under trade licensing—or even slightly less.

First Bills Out by Christmas

City council authorized business tax this year and first bills will go out to businesses before Christmas.

City assessor Alfred Joyce said today a new tax roll of assessed rental values of all business premises has been completed.

Council budgeted this year for a revenue from local business of $460,000 compared with $300,000 collected by licensing in 1956.

Council's next job is to find what percentage must be applied to the appraised rental values to raise that amount of money.

There were hints the tax levy will be 7 per cent.

What will this mean to business?

Here are some examples taken from the high-rent downtown areas.

A major department store would jump on the average from $3,500 to $18,000 or more.

A downtown bank branch which paid $1,800 in business licenses will pay $3,500 under the tax system.

A wholesale house which paid $75 in licence will pay $300.

A bakery or shoe store which paid $45 would pay about $280.

A leading cafe which paid $150 in business licence now would be asked, for $420 each year in business tax.

Officials said the new tax roll of rental values was appraised using a basis of rent actually paid across the city.

$460,000 Must Be Raised by Tax

Biggest increase will be felt by businesses which have been paying lower rents than the average paid by their neighbors and thus had anticipated a smaller tax.

Mr. Joyce would not disclose the total amount of the new tax roll. He will give that figure to Ald. Hugh Ramsay's committee tonight. The committee knows it must apply a percentage to the roll which will yield $460,000.

There can be no alternative. The proposed revenue is already in the city's 1957 budget and expenditures have been estimated to balance.

The committee must yet decide what to do with the business licence system. It may be retained as it is in Vancouver and New Westminster where merchants pay either tax or licence, whichever is greater.

The business tax committee is expected to report to council Thursday, ask a by-law to establish the roll and then set a date for a court of revision.

This will give merchants an opportunity to appeal any assessment which is held to be unfair. When the roll is confirmed, council will set the percentage to be levied as tax.

Cabinet Ministers To Be Named Today

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Diefenbaker said today he will announce the appointment of "one or two" cabinet ministers following an afternoon cabinet meeting.

The portfolios still vacant include health and welfare, citizenship and immigration and defence production. External affairs is held by Mr. Diefenbaker.

There has been no recent speculation on possible appointments.

GIANTS' MOVE TO WEST COAST WINS APPROVAL

NEW YORK (AP)—The board of directors of New York Giants voted today to move the team's National League baseball franchise to San Francisco in 1958.

The announcement was made by Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, who said the vote was 8 to 1.

The National League May 27 granted permission for the Giants to move to San Francisco and Brooklyn Dodgers to Los Angeles. National League president Warren Giles can grant permission for the shift upon formal application by the Giants even if the Dodgers decide not to move.

DERBY WINNER

Ernie Townsend won the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby fish-off Sunday with this lunker weighing 30 pounds, three ounces. First prize was a 16-foot cabin boat. Mr. Townsend hooked his fish near Chesterfield Rock while letting out line. (See story Page 8.)

Ike Men Fight For Aid Budget

(From UP and CP Dispatches)

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower counter-attacked today in an 11th hour effort to save the foreign aid program from what he considers crippling budget cuts.

... SAANICH

people had "plainly indicated" they want a joint municipal hall and amalgamation thoroughly investigated, Reeve Ash said.

"It is now up to the council to carry these wishes out. If we have the will and determination to see this through and make amalgamation work it can be a success."

"All we need is a spirit of co-operation, compromise and a willingness to give and take." Reeve Ash said he believed if there had been a heavy vote Saturday, "there is no doubt the referendum would have been completely buried in an avalanche of 'no' votes."

Coun. Joseph Casey, chairman of the half addition committee and the addition's chief proponent, disagreed.

"Naturally, I expected a much greater turnout," he said. "Those who were opposed turned out in force."

A heavier vote would have brought about a "different picture."

Coun. Casey said the ratepayers who voted had shown they were against a capital expenditure for additional space for municipal workers.

Council should now go ahead quickly with a joint hall project, he said.

"A temporary project is no good at this stage of the game."

"Mind you," Coun. Casey continued, "I don't think the people will vote in favor of a joint hall when it comes up. The cost will be about $1,000,000 for Saanich."

Reeve Ash suggested that one means of providing more office space might be to erect a steel-frame building that could be used at a later date by the public works department.

Such a building—not a Quonset hut—could be built at low cost and can be moved, the Reeve said.

On the question of amalgamation, Reeve Ash concluded:

"Victoria being the capital city of British Columbia, is all the more reason why we in the Greater Victoria area should take pride in building up our city."

"If it proves to be in the best interests of all, Victoria should not be prevented from extending its borders."

"I feel sure a committee set up by the city of Victoria and Saanich with the technical advice and co-operation of our provincial government, will receive the whole-hearted support of our people."

"I appeal to all ratepayers in Saanich and Victoria: Let us prove to other municipalities our absolute faith and confidence in a greater Victoria."

He held an unannounced breakfast conference with the Speaker—and Democratic leader—of the House, Sam Rayburn, and appealed for his help in restoring the 30 per cent economy cut made by the House last week.

At the same time he sent a task force of four top administration officials to Capitol Hill to plead with the Senate appropriations committee to put back the $809,000,000 cut by the House.

State Secretary Dulles told senators "the whole foundation of our security structure is endangered by the cut of $809,650,000 in the foreign aid bill made last week by the House of Representatives."

If Congress is unwilling to provide the funds to help allies maintain their defences, Dulles said, "we face a new insecurity and a future of grave risks."

"The Senate faces a great responsibility to save the nation from this peril."

Accompanying Dulles to the session were John B. Hollister, outgoing foreign aid director; Admiral Arthur W. Radford, retired chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, the new chairman.

The alternative to the size military aid program asked by the administration is for the United States to increase its own defence strength and draft more men so that "nearly every able-bodied young man of military age would spend several years of his life in military service overseas."

"FORTRESS AMERICA."

"The cost would be staggering," he added.

Or, he said, "we could adopt a 'Fortress America' concept."

"In the world we live in today, such a concept is entirely negative and would merely mean that we postponed an ultimate and violent showdown with international communism or, in the long run, would capitulate," Radford said.

Despite Dulles' pleas, the Senate was expected to restore little, if any, of the House cut. Republican leaders, however, planned to make a fight for at least some increases.

Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland said Sunday night he will urge the Senate to raise the aid total to about three billion dollars. This is a little more than half way between the $2,524,760,000 voted by the House and the $3,367,000,000 originally authorized by Congress and approved by President Eisenhower.

LORD ALTRINCHAM

Critical Peer Would Prefer To Forget It

LONDON (UP)—Lord Altrincham tried to forget today that he ever said anything about Queen Elizabeth and her court. But he had a constant reminder outside his London home.

Letters two feet high said: "These insults against our Queen must stop." The inscription was signed by the "League of Empire Loyalists."

Altrincham Sunday night refused an invitation to appear on television in the United States during the Queen's visit in October.

"It would look as though I were dogging her footsteps," he said. "I feel now that I have said my bit and I want to pipe down."

Freelance writer Aiden MacKay, a member of the Loyalist League, told investigating Scotland Yard detectives that six Loyalists toured the city before dawn Sunday painting the slogans.

They also were discovered outside the offices of the National and English Review, which New Statesman, which published a letter by Lord Altrincham supporting Altrincham, and outside the Home of Londonderry, himself.

A Sunday newspaper quoted friends of the Queen as saying Prince Philip had "lost several pounds in weight, grown noticeably more nervous and developed a drawn look since the criticism."

One Poll Supports New Hall

Saanich ratepayers gave an emphatic "NO" Saturday to the proposal to build a $225,000 permanent addition to relieve over-crowding at the municipal hall.

In a referendum, some 20 per cent of the eligible voters decided against the addition by a margin of 2,897 to 1,188.

In all but one of the 13 polling stations the majority was against the addition.

At Royal Oak 156 persons cast "yes" ballots, and 139 voted "no."

Total support amounted to 29 per cent of the voters. Sixty per cent was required for passage.

Here is how the vote went by districts:

Flo Postpones Irish Swim

DONAGHADEE, Northern Ireland (AP)—Florence Chadwick today postponed her attempt to swim the Irish Sea because of bad weather.

The San Diego, Calif., swimmer said tides will remain favorable until Wednesday. She aims to swim the 21½ miles from Donaghadee in Northern Ireland to Portpatrick, Scotland.

The only person to complete the swim was the late Tom Blower of England who did it in 15 hours, 27 minutes in 1947.

Doctor Soars 19 Miles High

BRAINERD, Minn.—An air force doctor today soared more than 19 miles into the sky in a balloon to set a new manned balloon altitude record.

The balloon rose nearly vertically from its take-off site in an iron mine pit near Crosby, Minn.

An endurance test of man's ability to live in an artificial atmosphere for long periods of time at high altitude, the flight was expected to give the USAF important information on what pilots of the future must contend with during travel through space.

B.C. Traffic Kills Three, Pair Feared Drowned

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three persons died in traffic accidents in B.C. during the weekend. Two others were missing in boating mishaps and were feared to have drowned.

Dead are: Jean Abel, 2, of Vancouver. George Ostrikoff, New Westminster.

Omar St. Denis, Newton Station. Missing and feared to have been drowned are: Stanley Hunter, South Westminster.

Tony Karlovich, engineer, 56, Vancouver.

Hunter was reported missing Sunday morning in a salmon-fishing derby at Horseshoe Bay in Howe Sound. Police and fishboats searched the waters in the area for four hours without success.

Karlovich fell overboard from the 60-foot seiner Race Rocks near the Sechart Peninsula, 40 miles north of Vancouver. The VANCOUVER (CP)—The Canadian Restaurant Association, British Columbia branch, said Monday a proposal to increase the price of a cup of coffee in the province to 15 cents has been dropped.

Race Rocks and three other fishboats found Karlovich's cap but no trace of the man.

Ostrikoff and St. Denis died on the way to hospital after a shattering collision 38 miles east of Hope Saturday night.

The Abel girl was killed Friday night in Burnaby when the trailer of a truck-trailer unit ran over a bus stop waiting bench and crushed her.

RCMP at Princeton said a car driven by Ostrikoff went around a sharp curve missed one vehicle and collided head-on with one driven by Arthur Jack of Newton.

St. Denis was a passenger in this car. Mr. and Mrs. Jack were taken to Chilliwack Hospital with undetermined injuries. Another passenger, Thomas Chersinoff, 31, of New Westminster, was in Princeton Hospital with head injuries and a broken thigh. The Jacks' children, Bobby, 11, and Larry, 7, were treated for minor injuries.

Dime Beer Faces Hike As Waiters Win Raises

PRIEST SLAIN BY HUNGARIANS

VIENNA (UP)—A Roman Catholic priest and two freedom fighters have been executed by Hungary's Communist government for their alleged part in last fall's rebellion, it was learned today.

Newspapers reaching Vienna from Red-run Budapest disclosed that the Rev. Laszlo Mindszenti was executed in the Hungarian capital after being convicted of belonging to a revolutionary organization in the north-west Hungarian town of Perand and of having concealed weapons.

Ex-Newspaper Official Dies On Visit Here

Robert James Robb, 71, former business manager of the Edmonton Bulletin, died suddenly while visiting Victoria.

Well known in this city where he had many friends, Mr. Robb was a resident of Edmonton since 1911. He worked for 25 years for the Bulletin. When the newspaper ceased publication a few years ago, he became secretary-treasurer of the Stanco Machine Co. of Edmonton.

He was born in Glasgow in 1883 and was married in 1919. He is survived by the widow, two sons, Robert William, Winnipeg, Brian Richard, Edmonton; two daughters, Mrs. F. M. Newson, Edmonton, and Mrs. T. E. Hale, Calgary; two brothers, James, of 54 Boyd Street, and Thomas, Edmonton; two sisters, Mrs. W. Hawker, Edmonton, Mrs. Tom Blair, Dundee, Scotland.

Funeral services will be held in Edmonton.

5,000 Trips Chalked Up By Courier

MONTREAL (CP)—Len de Grandpre, of Ottawa, diplomatic courier for the last 12 years, felt in a rut after travelling a million miles on 5,000 trips.

He retired here last weekend at the age of 30.

His career began in 1945 when as an office boy in the United Kingdom high commissioner's office in Ottawa he volunteered to fly to Montreal to meet a British Overseas Airlines flight.

He returned to Ottawa with the mail under his personal protection.

Since then he has met 2,238 BOAC flights from London, each involving a two-way trip between Ottawa and Montreal. He logged 750,000 miles between the cities on TCA flights and 200,000 miles by train when weather ruled out flying.

Inflation may hit the traditional 10-cent price of a glass of beer in Victoria's beer parlors.

Hotelmen met in Vancouver today to discuss action to be taken as a result of 9 per cent wage boost slated for waiters and bartenders at four city hotels.

James Neely, president of the Hotel and Innkeepers Association of B.C., and owner of the Douglas Hotel here, said the meeting will consider the problem of rising costs and what to do about them.

In the past "we've been very, very reluctant to make any increases," he said. "But it is hard to say what we are going to do."

Alexander Horne, business agent for Restaurant Employees' and Bartenders' International Union, Local 513, said the wage increase was assured and would be signed "in a day or two."

A two-year contract, with a 9 per cent increase retroactive to April 1 and a further 5 per cent raise next year, will cover 24 waiters and bartenders at the Douglas, Churchill, Royal Olympic and Westholme hotels.

The contract would boost a waiter's pay from $1.30 an hour to $1.42 this year. Bartenders' pay would rise from $1.50 to $1.62 an hour.

Mr. Bellavance said the union has grown to 80 members since June 1 when the organization drive opened.

"We hope to organize all the hotels and restaurants in town in about a year. That would cover 800 to 1,000 workers," he said.

Boosts for janitors, elevator operators and bellboys also are asked. The union seeks reduction in the work week from 44 hours in six days to 40 hours in five days, and union shops.

Certification for Churchill Hotel workers has just been won. Applications for certification are being accepted.

Luminous Dial 'A Risk'

WASHINGTON (UP)—Chairman Lewis L. Strauss, of the Atomic Energy Commission, has told Congress there is greater radiation danger in a luminous dial wristwatch than from all atomic test fall-out to date.

He said the campaign—against luminous wristwatches—would be "more beneficial to humanity than a campaign against the tests. Strauss, whose testimony July 10 before a House appropriations committee was released Sunday night, also said that Russia is not "anywhere near the position that we are in the development of atomic energy". If Soviet power approached that of the United States, he said, "they would demonstrate it for the propaganda benefit".

Ernie Didn't Plan It, But He's Ladder Champ

Tested systems and new formulas by the dozens were put to the test at Saanich Inlet Sunday as almost 500 anglers matched skills in the fish-off of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association ladder derby.

Most of them fooled one or more salmon during a day of excellent fishing, but when the last fish had been placed on the scales an unplanned manoeuvre had been proved the most effective and Ernie Townsend was the 1957 ladder derby champion.

Townsend won first prize of a 16-foot inboard cabin boat and the Woodward's Trophy for the 30-pound, three-ounce, spring salmon he hooked while letting out his line near Chesterfield Rock.

The Langford resident had just checked his Strip Teaser at a few minutes after 10 a.m. and had unwound about 75 feet of line while dropping the lure down for another try when the big fellow hit.

Townsend, who disposed of his former boat earlier this summer, weighed in the fish before noon and then had a few hours of anxious waiting to see if the catch would stand up. As it turned out, the salmon—largest he has ever caught and his first button-sized fish in Saanich Inlet—had a seven-pound edge over the second-place entry.

Over less than seven salmon of over 20 pounds were landed by derby entrants and it took a 17-pound three-ounce to win the 10th, and last regular fishing prize.

Vic Holman, Jr., finished in second place and won an automatic sewing machine with a 23-pound, two-ounce spring that grabbed his Strip Teaser in front of The Boulder.

Jack Rowe, also using herring strip, reeled in a 22-pound, one-ounce specimen in front of the Stone House to take third prize of an outboard motor.

ONE OUNCE DIFFERENCE Howard Puckett bettered Percy Corry's 21-pound, 14-ounce spring by one ounce to win the Chippendale cutlery cabinet up for fourth prize while Corry took home a camping outfit.

G. B. Williams, with a 20-pound, six-ounce won sixth prize of a shotgun while William Herbert (20.05) received a fishing outfit; Ernie Milliken (17.06) won a floor polisher; B. Hamilton, Sr. (17.05) took an electric food mixer and Lloyd Jones (17.03) received a set of china.

The special Daily Times award of a salt-water spinning reel for the largest coho landed during the fish-off was won by Bob Knezevich, who brought in an 8-pound silver.

Hidden weight awards were won by B. Marshall, Ivan Shillington, Mrs. A. C. Cruchley, L. A. Jackson, D. Dunagan and D. Leonard.

Unclaimed prizes may be picked up at 1225 Government Street after 9 a.m. Tuesday.

United Sets Workouts Two workouts for last season's Punjab United senior soccer club will be held this week. Sessions will be held at 7 p.m. at Topaz Avenue Park Tuesday. Players are invited to attend the practices.

PARTICIPANTS EASE OFF AS BIG DAY DRAWS NEAR

SEATTLE (UP)—Light drills were the order of the day today for world heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson and his amateur challenger, Pete Rademacher, as they tapered off for Thursday's title bout.

Patterson skipped his usual three miles of road work Sunday but went two rounds each with two sparring partners while 1,300 fight fans looked on.

Trainer George Chermers put Rademacher through his regular routine of road work and sparring at Issaquah. Patterson will remain indoors today and Tuesday with no ring work scheduled. Light drills were ordered for Rademacher also.

MANAGER ASH RETIRES Bench Strength Beats Farmers

It was only a case of time before the two-man pitching staff of Farmer Construction baseball club ran out of steam. And time ran out on them Saturday evening when Farmers lost the third game of their best-of-three Northwest Semi-Pro Baseball League championships to Bellingham Bells, 7-3.

Bellingham took the opener Friday 6-3 and Farmers bounced back with a 6-5 win Saturday afternoon.

A pair of arm-weary pitchers, Art Worth and Bill Prior, tried unsuccessfully to stem a fresh young, running tide that swept past Farmers Saturday night.

Farmers lost more than a league title over the season. They lost more than $1,000 due to lack of fan support, according to business-manager Lorne Buchanan.

On the three-game championship series, the Victoria club showed a profit of $9.70 after all expenses had been paid. Only 1,228 fans took in the three games.

Discouraged by the apparent lack of baseball interest on the part of Victorians, manager Ed Ash announced his retirement following the loss.

Farmers will make their last showing of the season if and when they are invited to defend their crown won last year at the Courtenay Labor Day tournament.

Bernie Anderson stole the fans' hearts Saturday afternoon as he put on one of his infrequent displays of plate power, hitting four-for-six, including a home run and a double, and driving in two runs, including the winner in the bottom of the ninth.

Art Worth was the winner, striking out 10 and walking three as he held Bells to six hits.

Plagued as he has been all season by a lack of top pitching talent, Ash went with Worth again in his second game of the day.

Worth was knocked flying by runner Jerry Reimer while trying to field a bunted ball down the first base line in the second inning. The incident seemed to hamper the left hander's effectiveness. Bells scored three runs in the inning and were never bested from then on.

BUT HOW MUCH?

Filchcock Has Feeling Lions Better

By ERNIE FEDORUK

VANCOUVER—It is Frank Filchcock's humble opinion that B.C. Lions are stronger than last year.

"Much stronger?" he was asked. "How should I know? If my boys had been playing, I might be able to answer that."

Saskatchewan Roughriders (Filchcock's "boys") were on the same field as Lions Saturday night but that was about all that the cigar-chewing old pro could offer after Clem Crowe's B.C. aggregation walloped Riders 44-20 in a Western Football Conference fixture at Empire Stadium.

"They just weren't there," Filchcock added. "My boys were missing their assignments all over the field. I think they were all pointed towards Monday's game with Edmonton."

It's not that the fearless one meant to take anything away from the Lions. They fully deserved their victory, he said, and in the next breath intimated that Riders would never play as badly again this season.

The display by Clem

Crowe's Lions surprised the majority of a near-capacity audience of 26,807 fans.

British Columbia struck for two early touchdowns and Riders were in a hole that proved too deep to escape. Filchcock started with practically an all-Canadian lineup and it was 14-0 before Riders' big guns were ushered onto the field. Then it was too late.

Crowe gave most of his players a chance. Canadians Joe Yamauchi, Chuck Dubuque, Ed Sparrow and veteran Vic Chapman, showed to solid advantage, thanks mainly to a smooth-functioning line that "wasn't supposed to be" as strong as it looked Saturday.

Sparked by the brilliant running of holdovers By Bailey and Primo Villanueva, Lions chalked up 269 yards on the ground—their best mark ever since joining the Western football circus.

Riders, without all-star fullback Bobby Marlow, managed only 87 yards along the ground. Riders looked better for 220 yards compared to the 210 chalked up by Lions' Toppo Vann and Maury Duncan.

Lions mixed their plays well and gambled often. Their first two gambles, both thirddown cracks while deep in Saskatchewan territory, paid off in touchdowns. One gamble did backfire but, surprisingly, it was less of a gamble than the touchdown efforts.

The fullback draw and a play copied from the Edmonton Eskimos, appeared to be Lions' most successful moves. The latter, a pass-or-run option by the quarterback, fooled Rider defences on several occasions. Each time, Vann appeared to be headed for a loss but, at the last second, he managed to get a pass away that went for good gains.

By The Canadian Press
British Columbia Lions started their fourth season in the Western Interprovincial Football Union with the right foot forward. For today at least, they share first place in the early standings with defending champion Edmonton Eskimos.

Saskatchewan Roughriders, the team to beat the Eskimos this year, felt the brunt of the Lions' best foot Saturday night at Vancouver's Empire Stadium where 26,807 fans watched B.C. trample Riders 44-20 in an upset.

The game was the second of the new WIFU schedule and the first for both Lions and Riders.

Calgary Stampeders, in last place for two years, see their first league action tonight at home against the warmed-up Lions. Roughriders, nursing several injuries following the Saturday game, clash with the Eskimos in Edmonton.

BAILEY GETS TWO
At Vancouver Saturday, fullback By Bailey and halfback Paul Cameron scored two touchdowns each for British Columbia while end Vic Chapman and halfback Primo Villanueva each got one. Quarterback Maury Duncan converted four touchdowns and Ted Hunt, a soccer player in his first year of pro football, booted one convert.

Chapman punted for a single and Lions got two more points when linemen Chuck Quilter and Chuck Frank tackled Rider quarterback Frank Tripucka behind the Saskatchewan goal line for a safety touch. Quilter was credited with the points.

Veteran halfback Ken Carpenter, rookie halfback Sam Wesley and fullback Vic Marks scored touchdowns for Riders with guard Reggie Whitehouse converting two.

Quarterback Toppo Vann, Georgia Tech graduate, threw touchdown passes to Chapman and Cameron and set up a touchdown plunge by Bailey with a 35-yard forward pass to Villanueva. Duncan threw one touchdown pass to Villanueva.

Sub-Par Shooting Brings Team Cup Back to B.C.

WINNIPEG (CP)—British Columbia swept both the junior title and the Willingdon Cup interprovincial team matches Saturday as the first two sections of the three-event Canadian Amateur golf championships were completed at the St. Charles Country Club.

Sixteen-year-old Bill Wakeham of Victoria made a brilliant comeback to capture the junior crown, left vacant by the graduation to senior ranks of 1956 champion Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont.

The four-man B.C. team wound up the 36-hole Willingdon matches with an aggregate score of 570, six under par on the par-72 St. Charles layout and only nine strokes off the team record of 561 set by an other west coast team at Calgary in 1955.

Wakeham had a 36-hole score of 143, one-under-par. The Victoria youngster closed with a 70 after shooting a one-over par 73 in Saturday morning's first round.

Phil Brownlee, Ontario junior champion, shot two rounds of 72—even par, to finish second.

BOES, THIRD
Don Boes of Winnipeg finished third with 150, followed by Bruce Murray of Edmonton with 154; David Chalmers, Montreal, 157; Perry Locke, Dartmouth, N.S., 159; Tony Eberts, Regina, 161; and David Irving, Fredericton, N.B., 162.

Brownlee, entered the final 18 holes with a one-stroke margin over Wakeham and Boes. It looked as though it was all over when the Toronto Scarborough youngster blistered the first nine of the last round with a two-under 34, but he skied to a two-over 38 on the back nine, while Wakeham came through with a steady 36-34 to take the title.

Wakeham said he felt he was hitting all shots, especially his irons, "much better in the final round."

Gary Cowan of Kitchener, Ont., won the 1956 Canadian Junior crown with a 152 score at Edmundston, N.B. The record junior score is held by Winnipeg's George Knudson—a 140 at Calgary in 1955.

Both are members of their respective provinces' Willingdon Cup teams this year.

Cowan, playing with the defending champion quartet—which finished in second place four strokes back almost stole the spotlight as he toured the course with a blistering six-under 66 on the opening round.

His score—best of the day—tied the competitive amateur record at St. Charles set last year by Winnipeg's George Knudson.

The competitive professional record here was set by Johnny Palmer of Badin, N.C., at the Canadian Open in 1952. He shot a 65.

Doug Bajus, 33, was low man for the B.C. team with rounds of 71-70 for a total of 141 over the 6,377 yard course.

Team captain Bob Kidd, 28, B.C. amateur champion, had scores of 70-72 for 142. Bert Ticehurst, 25-year-old B.C. closed champion, was one-under on the first round and even par on the second for 143. Twenty-one-year-old Ron Wiley, a newcomer to B.C. and formerly of Calgary, checked in with 144 on rounds of 74-70.

The team championship was in doubt most of the way as Alberta took the lead after 18 and Ontario went ahead after 27, with B.C. creeping up from third place each time.

There was some talk that some of the directors were unhappy at the thought of deserting New York, but once Stoneham got around to citing facts and figures, the talk died down.

Stoneham, it was learned, was ready to tell the directors almost exactly what he has revealed publicly over the course of the past month—that the San Francisco offer is "very firm and very fair," that the bid includes a 45,000 capacity stadium along with control of the concessions.

Besides announcing acceptance of the Frisco offer, the Giants are expected to reveal that they already are dickering with the Boston Red Sox, the owners of the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast League.

AND JAKE MUTTERS

Shuker's Tending Stymies 'Bellies

Jake Proctor's New Westminster Salmonbellies are mumbling in their beards today, asking themselves if Alf Shuker can keep it up.

Jake's boys have just reason to mutter as Shuker was the man of the hour Saturday night in Nanaimo and today that town's Timbermen are a game away from entering the Inter-city Lacrosse League final against Victoria Shamrocks.

Sparked by Shuker's sensational goal-tending, the T-Men edged Jake's Salmonbellies 10-7 to grab a 2-1 lead in their best-of-five semifinal playoff set.

"What," Jake asks, "do you have to do to get a goal against that guy? He can't keep up all the time, can he?"

Shuker seemingly did everything but stand on his head to thwart the desperate 'Bellies. He turned aside 35 of 42 shots fired at him and was particularly brilliant in the last period when New Westminster hornbarded him in a last-ditch stand.

Some 2,300 fans saw Nanaimo take a 3-1 lead in the opening quarter and make it 6-5 at the half. Each side scored once in the third period.

Scoring honors for Nanaimo were spread among Dugan, McKay, Stewart, Rodway and Harold Fox. All had two apiece. Ken Oddy and Don Sepka each got two for the Salmonbellies.

The game was a far cry from the first two games played as far as penalties were concerned. The referees handed out but 26 minutes in penalty time compared to the 74 minutes charged in the game Thursday night at New Westminster.

Fourth game of the series will be played in New Westminster on Thursday and the fifth, if needed, next Saturday in Nanaimo.

MacKenzie Takes Washington Title

BREMERTON, Wash. (AP)—Gordon MacKenzie of Vancouver, B.C., reigned as new king of Washington State amateur golfers today, replacing two-time champion Dick Price of Longview, Wash.

MacKenzie, 33, was low man for the B.C. team with rounds of 71-70 for a total of 141 over the 6,377 yard course.

Team captain Bob Kidd, 28, B.C. amateur champion, had scores of 70-72 for 142. Bert Ticehurst, 25-year-old B.C. closed champion, was one-under on the first round and even par on the second for 143. ## Balding Upset By Mawhinney

TORONTO (UP)—Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver provided a golfing upset Saturday, defeating favorite Alf Balding to win the Millar Trophy tournament at Islington.

The 26-year-old westerner played brilliant golf throughout the three days of play and rolled in a 20-foot putt on the 21st hole to edge out Balding, Ontario pro who had tied for second place at the Tam O'Shanter tourney in Chicago the previous weekend.

Mawhinney was 35-under-par for his six rounds of match play and collected $1,000. In the semi-finals, Mawhinney defeated Gerry Kesseling of Toronto Downsview 3 and 2 while Balding eliminated Bill Kerr of Montreal Beaconsfield 4 and 3.

Scoring honors for Nanaimo were spread among Dugan, McKay, Stewart, Rodway and Harold Fox. All had two apiece. Ken Oddy and Don Sepka each got two for the Salmonbellies.

The game was a far cry from the first two games played as far as penalties were concerned. The referees handed out but 26 minutes in penalty time compared to the 74 minutes charged in the game Thursday night at New Westminster.

Victorians Top Archery Meet

NANAIMO—Victoria archers dominated a Vancouver Island championship meet held Sunday at Valley Dairy Farm, seven miles south of here.

The meet attracted 35 bowmen from Campbell River, Comox, Ladysmith, Nanaimo and the capital city.

Bill Carnes, Victoria, won the men's target shoot, free style, for the second successive year, and the men's clout, Bess Copeman, Victoria, won the ladies' clout.

Lynn Morrison, 12, of Nanaimo captured two firsts in junior events.

ANNUAL MEET
Sponsors of the day-long meet were Victoria Bowmen and Totem Archery Club of Nanaimo. Immediately after the meet clubs held a conference to discuss arrangements for a meet next year.

Clare Morrison, president of the Nanaimo club, said the meet will be an annual event.

Victoria Girl Wins V.I. Singles Title

DUNCAN — Victoria's Sharon Whittaker, city women's singles tennis champion, Saturday captured the Vancouver Island Open crown as she trounced first-ranked Jocelyn Pease of Vancouver, 7-5, 11-9 at the South Cowichan Tennis Club courts.

Butch Krikorian of San Jose captured the men's singles crown as he downed Wally Bostick of Seattle, 6-2, 6-2.

Krikorian also paired with Connie Wilford of Burlingame, Cal., for a 6-2, 6-4 win over Miss Pease and James Jackson of Klamath Falls, Ore., and won the men's doubles championship with teammate Don Gale.

They stopped defending champs Art Jeffrey and Collin Walker of Vancouver, 6-1, 6-2.

Mirja Petersen and Maureen Bray of Victoria Lawn Tennis and Belminton Club and won the women's doubles championship as they downed Barb Kieval of Seattle and Jill Kelley of Victoria, 6-2, 6-3.

Ed Kemble of Vancouver won the veterans' singles with a 6-4, 6-2 win over Fred Balton, also from Vancouver, and shared the veterans' doubles title with Bill Duff, another Vancouverite, as they defeated E. Loney and R. Ford of Vancouver, 6-2, 6-1.

10 RACERS READY TO GO
PORT-ALBERNI (CP) — Drivers from Chemainus, Port Alberni, Nanaimo and Wellington will compete in the annual Gyro soap box race here next Saturday.

Ten entries have been made so far, including that of David Woodley, top driver at Chemainus recently.

Woodley will be racing against Jimmy Stevens, last year's grand champion winner in Port Alberni.

Youbou Teenagers Seeking Advice Of Victoria Club
YOUNBOU — Teenagers here want a community club now that the theatre has closed, and have decided to ask the advice of the National Youth Club in Victoria.

They have sent Sandra Clements to the capital as a delegate to determine just what steps to take.

The NYC was formed in Victoria a short time ago to organize and supervise activities for the members, said to number 700.

Help of adult advisers is also being sought by youths here in forming their organization.

Rapid Progress On Crofton Homes
CROFTON — Construction of 10 modern homes for employees of the B.C. Forest Products Ltd. pulp mill here is going ahead rapidly on the Crofton subdivision.

The homes will be two, three and four-bedroom models with fireplaces and car ports. Contractor is Ray-Bilt Construction of Vancouver.

Flier, 19, Makes Forced Landing

LADYSMITH (CP)—A 19-year-old youth landed his Tri-Pacer plane safely in a field near here Sunday after radioing Nanaimo Airport that he thought he was going to crash into the sea.

Bill Harrison of Duncan was returning home from a trip to Patricia Bay in a Cassidair Flying Club plane when the engine began to cut out. With him was Cliffe Bakke, 17, also of Duncan.

"I radioed that we were going down in the sea because there just didn't seem to be any place to land among the high trees," Harrison said. "But just as I was setting her down I noticed a field at Coffin Point, near Ladysmith, and managed to get the plane down without even scratching her."

Flying club officials congratulated Harrison on his skill. He has been flying for more than a year and has 140 flying hours.

Two Escape As Plane In Dunking
CAMPBELL RIVER (CP)—A pilot and his passenger escaped unhurt Saturday night when their seaplane capsized while being towed by a speedboat.

Pilot-owner Kenneth Mainwaring and David Lamont, both of Englewood, near Alert Bay, were brought here by an RCMP boat and reported in good condition.

"About all that happened was that I got my feet wet," Mainwaring said.

He was trying to get the motor started to fly out of Campbell River.

NOSSED UNDER
Speedboat owner Bill Hall hooked up a towline and as he started to pull the seaplane, its floats nosed under the surface and the plane capsized.

Mainwaring and Lamont were able to scramble out of the cockpit to Hall's boat where they waited until they were picked up by the RCMP craft.

The plane was beached upside down at Seymour Narrows.

Mainwaring said he hoped to try to salvage the craft later. He could not estimate damage.

City Boy, Immigrant Saved From Drowning

Dragged Unconscious From Gorge, Beaver Lake

A seven-year-old boy and a young Italian immigrant are under treatment in St. Joseph's Hospital today after narrow escapes from drowning Sunday afternoon.

They are:

Kenneth Clements, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Clements, 2864 Wyndett, rescued off Rockwell Beach, Gorge Road, by E. J. Gibson, Canadian Pacific Telegraphs mechanic, 1328 Basil Street.

Attilio Favaro, 23-year-old immigrant from Treviso, Venice, pulled unconscious from Beaver Lake after being underwater four minutes. Favaro was seized with stomach cramps about 40 feet from the shore. Kenneth was playing on a rubber float in a small rectangular swimming pool off Rockwell Beach when he slipped into deep water and began shouting for help.

An unidentified 12-year-old boy raised the alarm. Mr. Gibson, on vacation, rushed into the pool and, diving underwater, pulled Kenneth to the surface.

Boy Carried Ashore Unconscious

Unconscious, the boy was carried ashore and given inhalator treatment before being taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by Saanich firemen.

"I can't think how it happened," the boy's mother said. "He cannot swim and I was watching closely. I could not have taken my eyes off him for more than two minutes."

"Mr. Gibson was splendid. He dashed into the pool the moment the alarm was raised and pulled Kenny out in a matter of minutes."

"I only wish I knew the name of the boy who gave the alarm, so we could thank him."

Kenneth was reported in good condition in St. Joseph's Hospital.

Crowds Obstruct Police Work

Police and firemen complained of being "seriously obstructed" by a crowd of some 250 holidaymakers who crowded round the unconscious man as he lay on the beach.

"They showed no sense at all," a Saanich police official said. "We had to fight our way through them and they still crowded us while we were trying to revive Favaro."

43 Carpenters Out of Work In Victoria Area

The employment picture for Victoria carpenters is improving but still looks gloomy.

Some 43 union men were listed out of work today.

"It is better now than it has been all this year but the picture's still much worse than last year," said James Moffat, business agent for Local 1598, United Brotherhood of Carpenters.

This time last year there were no carpenters seeking work. Two years ago the union members were fully employed in August through October.

Current unemployment figure is down from the 76 registered in January.

Mr. Moffat blamed completion of numerous contracted jobs and "practically no demand for men up-Island," as causes for that situation.

TRAFFIC FINES

In city police court today: Jacobus W. J. Baanstra, 816 Toimie, $10 for failure to give hand signal and $10 for failing to notify motor vehicle branch of a change of address.

George Harold Naunton, 1060 Southgate, $50 for failing to remain at scene of accident.

Robert John Coutts, 4042 Carey, $10 for failing to notify motor vehicle branch of a change of address.

Nikolas Kavalchuk, 1120 Bewdley, $25 and licence suspended for exceeding speed limit.

Tim Rogers, 189 Maddock, $25 for being a minor in possession of liquor.

Zoigniew Urbaniak, 183 Burnside, $10 for driving wrong way on one-way street.

Margaret Garland, 572 Dallas, $35 for careless driving.

ASK THE TIMES

Q. — I've noticed the word "insured" appearing in some birth announcements recently. What does it mean? M.B.

A. — Ostensibly it means that the parents have already taken out an insurance policy for their baby, but in many cases it is used as a device to fend off insurance agents who watch the birth announcements for leads.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

EXPENSIVE EXPLOIT

Hubby Explodes, Newsboy Exits, Ex-Wife Exults

The story of a man who can just take so much was unfolded in city police court today.

He had been asleep on a couch in the living room of his Pembroke Street home when he was awakened by "persistent tapping" at the door. J. W. Whyte told Magistrate A. I. Thomas.

For about 25 minutes, he lay there and listened. Then he couldn't stand it any longer.

FURIOUS

"I have an estranged wife and I figured it was her," Mr. Whyte said. "It made me furious."

Determined to shut her up once and for all, he headed for the kitchen, filled a pan with water, opened the front door and heaved the water out.

"I was sure as I'm sitting here it was my ex-wife," he said.

NEWSBOY

But it wasn't. The water ran off the chest of a young newspaper carrier, who had continued knocking after he had peeked through a letter slot and had seen Mr. Whyte in the house.

Realizing his mistake, Mr. Whyte uttered some choice profanities and the carrier and a companion scampered to their bikes, court was told.

The magistrate smiled and the man who was out to get his wife was fined $25 for assault.

PNE Opening Wednesday

Rear Admiral H. S. Rayner, DSC, CD, Flag Officer of the Pacific Coast, will open the Pacific National Exhibition's Armed Forces exhibit Wednesday.

Included in this year's march past will be units from the air force, army, navy and the 38th United States Infantry. A unit of 95 members of the RCAF's Reserve Training Program in Victoria also will participate.

Displays of many types of weapons and equipment used by the three services with torpedoes and radar of the RCN, paratroop demonstrations and communications displays by the Army; and an Air Force Ground Control Interception operations room showing radar equipment used in locating unidentified aircraft, will highlight the services exhibit.

WINNER of a $250 scholarship put up by the Saanich Teachers' Association is Ann Mattick, 17, of 5273 Cordova Bay Road. A student at Royal Oak High School, Ann topped graduating students in three Saanich schools with mark of 82.75 per cent. She will use the money to attend Victoria College this fall, and plans to study pharmacy at the University of B.C.

Goodwill Firm Head to Study Portland Setup

Fred Blakeney, director of Goodwill Enterprises in Victoria, is flying to Portland Tuesday for a three-day visit to the workshops of Goodwill Industries.

Both organizations provide work for handicapped men and women by enabling them to renovate and repair articles of clothing and apparel for re-sale.

"The Portland organization is much older than ours," Mr. Blakeney said, "and I hope to get some new ideas from them."

Greek Major Beaten Again By Strait After 6½ Miles

Greek army major, Jason Girganos, 47, four-time conqueror of the English Channel, bowed to defeat Sunday in his second attempt to beat Juan de Fuca Strait.

He stroked into the water at 10 a.m. at Horseshoe Bay, and made 6½ miles in 4½ hours.

The major swam the English Channel in 1949, 1950, 1951 and 1954.

He'll try Juan de Fuca again, "probably next year."

From here he goes to Catalina for the seasonal swim from the California mainland to the island.

Douglas Rivette, 46, who was slated to swim Sunday, postponed his attempt. His next bid in local waters will be between Nanaimo and Horseshoe Bay, on the mainland, likely next month.

THAT OLD PARKING PROBLEM . . .

Vancouver's off-street parking arrangements were studied at City Hall in Victoria today. Tempest De Wolf, manager of the Downtown Parking Corporation, came from the mainland to advise local planners. Municipal off-street parking was recommended for

Slim Chance to Avert Strike of 165 Milkmen

The milkmen's union in Victoria has the decks cleared for a strike against four dairies if a last-ditch attempt at settlement this afternoon fails.

The possibility of averting a strike appeared slim this morning prior to the meeting.

"We'll try hard for settlement, but we're not very optimistic," one union negotiator said.

If a strike is called, the 165 members of Local 464, Milk Salesmen and Dairy Employees' Union are assured substantial union backing and strike benefits—about $40 a week for pickets.

The assurance comes in the form of a strike sanction granted by international headquarters of the Teamsters' union, with which MSDEU is affiliated.

Union officials were to see representatives of Palm Dairies Ltd., Shepherd's Dairy Ltd., Island Farms Co-operative Association and North Western Creamery Ltd. in the Pacific Club for a "final" discussion of the dispute over wage increases and delivery schedules.

MEET TONIGHT

Policy committee of the union will meet tonight to review results of the negotiations. It is expected to recommend a strike to a general membership meeting Wednesday night if no agreement is reached today.

The members already have voted in favor of strike action against the dairies, which supply 90 per cent of Victoria's milk, to back up their demands for increases of $30 and $32.50 a month with continuation of the six-day weekly delivery.

Lumber Thief Makes Escape

Would-be thief of some expensive lumber was flushed from Doman's Lumber and Transport Ltd., 285 Bay Street, Sunday afternoon, by branch manager Frank Doucet.

Mr. Doucet arrived just as a man was loading ship and 2x4 lumber, which sell at $35 to $90 per thousand feet, on the rack of his car.

He made a getaway in his car, minus the lumber, before the manager could catch him.

"Lumber is being hauled out of the back of the yard all the time," Mr. Doucet said today. "It's pretty expensive material and we can't afford to lose any."

The thieves usually work at night, caching the lumber in adjacent woods and then picking it up in the morning, he said. The incident was reported to city police.

General meeting of Local 1598, United Brotherhood of Carpenters, will be held at 8 tonight in the Labor Hall, 613 Pandora. Saturday, the local and a sister local, 2527, will combine to hold an annual picnic at Elk Lake.

Theft of a green tool box and tools valued at $150 was reported to city police Saturday by Allen Peters, 1870 Allenby. The tools, all stamped "AP" were taken from Peters' car Saturday afternoon while it was parked outside 776 Topaz.

Charged with impaired driving on the Malahat, Wallace John R. B. Malcolm, 2220 Cook, was remanded without plea to Aug. 28 and released on $300 bail at Colwood RCMP Court Saturday.

Victoria Sketch Club will hold its fourth annual exhibition at the Dominion Hotel boardroom from Aug. 22 to 28. Official opening is at 3 p.m. next Thursday.

Mrs. Ronald A. Mastin, 3905A Cadboro Bay Road, suffered head bruises early Sunday when a car which her husband was driving failed to make a turn from Bay to Richmond and hit a power pole on the south-east corner of the intersection. Mrs. Mastin was treated for bruises and shock at Jubilee Hospital and discharged.

A party of 18 Victorians, organized by Canadian National Railways, is now en route to the Stratford (Ontario) Festival to see two Shakespearean plays and a Benjamin Britten opera.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A meeting of the Victoria Soaring Club will be held at the Fairy Aviation Building, Patricia Bay, at 8 tonight.

By TONY DICKASON

Relationship of the dog or cat owner and the veterinary hospital is as an illuminative study as pet illness itself. Personal belief of one veterinarian, with an undisputed achievement record, is that attachment to a pet is in direct proportion to the individual's need for "someone to look up to them" — to depend on them.

For example, there was the man who took his dog home before a bad bone break healed. He was insistent, so what could the doctor do? He made the man sign a release for the patient, but advised against the move, and is still bitter about it.

"The dog is infected now. Some people look upon their animals as a toy . . . just like a spoiled little girl who cries for her doll without reason."

People "expect miracles" when it comes to healing their pets. Some go so far as to ask "can I wait and take him home with me?" when the dog is suffering a disease or a bone break.

"These are the same people, who, if they had a similar trouble, would be in hospital a couple of months," one medical man pointed out.

They fail to realize that the flesh and blood and bone of an animal is just as much flesh, blood and bone as that of humans.

Healing is no more rapid than in people.

Then there is the strong tendency to take advice from persons other than vets when a pet is ill. This can cause an awful mess, similar to the results of free advice you receive from friends, when sick. They just don't know."

Doctors are aroused over animal owners telephoning "at midnight, over trivialities." There are many such types, who phone again and again with such queries as "Is Fido pinning? Is he happy?"

The sensible answer, which doctors are too polite to give, is "would you be happy as a hospital patient?"

These botherers are mainly women who, frankly, tend to make doctors feel slightly queasy.

As for the doctors themselves: they mustn't be mentioned by name as the group is as sensitive about this as other professional medical men. But they are more accessible in their operations.

All have that tired look which generally seems part and parcel of men who wear white coats and wield scalpels.

"We are terrifically rushed," said one doctor. About 16 hours a day at present, I'd say."

They are kindly men, and like animals without being sloppy about them. They keep a clinical outlook and can't get emotionally embroiled, even if the cocker is cute

But there are lapses.

"Had a Pekie with a smashed pelvis the other day. A beautiful patient, and a really fine dog. Some dogs bite out their stitches and tear off casts, but not the Pekie. His stitches were removed only yesterday and everything's fine."

And the doctor beamed!

Veterinarians in the hospitals admit the cacophony from the clientele is hard to take. "One doesn't become accustomed to the noise, like what can happen with piano practicing — although a certain immunity is built up over the years."

stand the racket," said one doctor. "It's a real sacrifice."

Doctors don't work alone. They have assistants — student vets on holiday, trained personnel in handling of animals, and persons who assist because they enjoy dogs and cats and are just interested in the work.

Hospitals are hospitals, in the true, if condensed, sense. There is the waiting room, examining room, surgery, X-ray room, wards (individual pens), isolation wards, bathing rooms, kitchens, and even maternity wards!

All have exercise pens, clean and concrete.

Do vets get bitten?

The doctors immediately assume professional reticence at this question. No scars appear to show. But, however, if the average person handled as many strange dogs and cats in a month as the average vet, he'd have shredded arms!

One hospital, not the largest, has about 1,500 patients a month.

The secret is to be "friendly, firm and confident."

If an excitable dog is approached gingerly, the person is almost certain to be bitten. Tuesday: The Pet Patient.

Pets Satisfy Humans' Desire to Have 'Someone to Look Up to Them'

Veterinarians are notorious pet-lovers. The city has about 6,000 licensed dogs, no doubt many more unlicensed, and an uncounted but large feline population. When asked, they keep the city's veterinarians on the go. To see how they are looked after, a reporter toured the animal hospital and spoke with the doctors and their assistants. This is the second of three articles.

as to ask "can I wait and take him home with me?" when the dog is suffering a disease or a bone break.

"These are the same people, who, if they had a similar trouble, would be in hospital a couple of months," one medical man pointed out.

They fail to realize that the flesh and blood and bone of an animal is just as much flesh, blood and bone as that of humans.

Healing is no more rapid than in people.

Then there is the strong tendency to take advice from persons other than vets when a pet is ill. This can cause an awful mess, similar to the results of free advice you receive from friends, when sick. They just don't know."

Doctors are aroused over animal owners telephoning "at midnight, over trivialities." There are many such types, who phone again and again with such queries as "Is Fido pinning? Is he happy?"

The sensible answer, which doctors are too polite to give, is "would you be happy as a hospital patient?"

These botherers are mainly women who, frankly, tend to make doctors feel slightly queasy.

As for the doctors themselves: they mustn't be mentioned by name as the group is as sensitive about this as other professional medical men. But they are more accessible in their operations.

All have that tired look which generally seems part and parcel of men who wear white coats and wield scalpels.

"We are terrifically rushed," said one doctor. About 16 hours a day at present, I'd say."

They are kindly men, and like animals without being sloppy about them. They keep a clinical outlook and can't get emotionally embroiled, even if the cocker is cute

But there are lapses.

"Had a Pekie with a smashed pelvis the other day. A beautiful patient, and a really fine dog. Some dogs bite out their stitches and tear off casts, but not the Pekie. His stitches were removed only yesterday and everything's fine."

And the doctor beamed!

Veterinarians in the hospitals admit the cacophony from the clientele is hard to take. "One doesn't become accustomed to the noise, like what can happen with piano practicing — although a certain immunity is built up over the years."

"Never have been able to stand the racket," said one doctor. "It's a real sacrifice."

Doctors don't work alone. They have assistants — student vets on holiday, trained personnel in handling of animals, and persons who assist because they enjoy dogs and cats and are just interested in the work.

Hospitals are hospitals, in the true, if condensed, sense. There is the waiting room, examining room, surgery, X-ray room, wards (individual pens), isolation wards, bathing rooms, kitchens, and even maternity wards!

All have exercise pens, clean and concrete.

Around 70 animals can be

Chiffon Pie Easy Dessert
—No Cooking Necessary

By PENNY SAVER

Short cuts to preparing meals are welcome these vacation days, and I've found several today. One is a packaged chiffon pie which will take only a few minutes to get ready and will provide light and summery dessert.

The package contains prepared graham wafer crumbs—you just add butter to them and press the mixture into a pie plate. Then you combine the filling with a cup of boiling water, beat it well, and pour it into the shell. Put it into the fridge to set for an hour, and there you are!

For a variation, you can add fresh or canned fruit to the filling.

The pie comes in vanilla, lemon, raspberry, chocolate and butterscotch flavors. Price is 33 cents.

Another shortcut is provided by ready-mixed coating for fried foods. You can use it dry, for coating such things as fish or chicken, or you can add water to make a batter for deep frying.

A package is 35 cents.

UNUSUAL JELLIES

I found some interesting jellies that would be good on morning toast—might even draw some conversation from the members of your household who are glum and silent at breakfast.

One is made from wild bramble berries gathered in Scotland, which are supposed to have a special flavor all their own.

A 12-ounce jar will cost you 36 cents. Rowan berry jelly also from Scotland is 35 cents for the same size jar.

Now you not only remove the odors in kitchen or bathroom—you can add an aroma of mint, spice, pine or mixed flowers!

FROM ITALY

Hand-painted figurines, made in Italy, make attractive ornaments. Small figures of a street band, each playing a different instrument, are $1.59.

Larger figurines of chubby Italian children are $2.95.

I'll be happy to tell you where I found any of these items if you give me a call at 2-3131.

PEAR AMBER

Two large oranges, 1½ cups drained crushed pineapple, 12 medium-size Bartlett pears, sugar to measure, ½ cup thinly sliced maraschino cherries. Wash orange, cut up and remove seeds. Then dice or grind coarsely, peel and add. Add drained pineapple. Peel and dice pears into this mixture. Measure into large heavy kettle and for each cup, add ¼ cup sugar. Heat to boiling, stirring to dissolve sugar, then cook rapidly until thick as you like, about 30 minutes. Add cherries. Remove from heat, let stand overnight, stirring occasionally while cooling. Next day, heat to boiling, pack into jars, seal. Makes about 3½ pints.

Appointed Chief of Fisheries Kitchen

Miss Ruth G. MacIntosh has been appointed assistant chief of the home economics section of the federal department of fisheries in Ottawa. The department maintains experimental kitchens in Ottawa, Toronto, Montreal, Halifax, Winnipeg and Vancouver, staffed with home economists who test and develop recipes based on fish products, and carry out fish cookery demonstrations throughout Canada. Miss MacIntosh, a native of Brookfield, N.S., is a graduate in home economics from Mount Allison University, Sackville, N.B., and in dietetics from the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal. She received her MA degree from the department of household science, University of Toronto. She has served as hospital dietitian with the Canadian Army Medical Corps and in the Montreal General Hospital, and after the war spent five years as senior experimental officer in the scientific advisers' division of the British Ministry of Food, London, England.

RUTH MACINTOSH

Before joining the department of fisheries she was connected with the extension service of the Ontario Department of Agriculture and was a lecturer in the department of household science, University of Toronto.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Wives Can Help Lengthen
Their Husbands' Life Span

It is a startling fact that in the United States alone there are around seven million widows. The majority of their husbands died, not in old age, but during the productive years of their lives.

There is much more likelihood that you will be a widow than that your husband will be left alone. Why is this? No doubt many factors play their part, one of the most important being the pressure the average man feels in providing the standard of living his family expects. Men literally work themselves to death to give those they love what they want and what they themselves want them to have.

Too much driving of himself and too little relaxation, too much weight and too little exercise, too much sudden strenuous exercise for which his body is not trained, too few interests outside his work, too much strain and too little laughter, too much criticism and not enough praise; all of these have a part in shortening the life expectancy of men.

You, his wife, can play a terrific role in keeping your husband alive. You can see that his nutrition is in line with the latest findings of science. If he is overweight you can plan menus which are attractive and tempting but not fattening. You can nag him (if necessary) in order to get him to the doctor for regular physical examinations.

Probably more important than anything, you can see to it that your home is a relaxing, warm, gay, "unstress" oasis for him. You can encourage him in exploring any hobbies he may like. You can indulge in mild exercise such as swimming, golf, walking, or ping pong, with him.

You can provide an opportunity for rest when he first comes home after a day's work. You can control your social life so that he is not expected to work all day and stay up all night.

You can let him know that you would much rather have him than a lot of money to enjoy alone later on. Actually I feel certain that many wives of successful men would trade some of their luxuries for more companionship; would be as happy as larks with much less money and much more time with their husbands. But, life

At St. Matthew's Church

At a recent ceremony in St. Matthew's Church, Langford, Hope Elvina Gardner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Gardner, Discovery Island, formerly of Langford, exchanged marriage vows with Knute Andrew Krogstad.

Given in marriage by her father, the attractive bride wore a gown of filmy white chiffon, featuring draped bodice, long gathered sleeves, and bouffant ballerina-length skirt. Her embroidered net veil was fingertip-length, and her bouquet was a cascade of red roses and white carnations.

Mrs. Norman Grove, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a white flowered silk dress and carried pink carnations. Junior bridesmaids Miss Carole Gardner, sister of the bride, and Miss Gloria Gardner wore nylon dresses, the former in pink with bouquet of yellow carnations and the latter in yellow with pink bouquets.

The groom had his brother, Ivor Krogstad, as best man and ushers were David Gardner, brother of the bride and Albert Jacobson.

A reception was held at Kings Road Hall, Victoria, at which Donald J. Tweedhope, Langford, proposed a toast to the bride.

For a honeymoon motor trip in Washington, the bride donned a brown flowered dress with matching duster and pink rose corsage. The newlyweds will live in Nanaimo.

Is It a Record?

World tours notwithstanding, the record for international commuting undoubtedly belongs to Sybil Connolly, the Irish dress designer. The glamorous Sybil, who looks as if her life was one 18th century drawing room after another, says that this summer she "hasn't sat down without fastening a seat belt." Since last March she has flown: three times from Dublin to New York, every two weeks to Belfast as stylist for the Irish household linen industry, five times to London to confer with Ann Todd on the costumes for the play "Four Winds" in which both star and designer will make their New York stage debut next fall, and to finish off her summer, a flight to Australia with her entire collection to tour the continent for six weeks.

LOUISE DAVIS

On Etiquette

"GIMME GIRL"

A young lady who isn't to be married for six months has told all of her friends what pattern of china, silver, etc., she wants and has made me feel a bit guilty because I haven't sent her anything yet. Am I correct in thinking that wedding gifts shouldn't be sent this far ahead of the wedding date?

Louise Davis

Answers:

It looks as if this bride-elect is one of these Louise Davis "gimme girls," out for all she can get. She wasn't very subtle in telling all of her friends just what she wants and, to make matters worse, that she wants them now! Engaged girls make no such announcements unless friends ask, and even then it is awkward and embarrassing. When it comes to airing such desires, it would be better that one or two close friends initiate the grapevine and, in that way, the girl wouldn't be brazenly hinting. If friends want to know the silver and china patterns, they can always ask one of the family, a relative, or one of the bride-to-be's closest friends, rather than subject the girl to the embarrassment of answering. Wedding gifts are not delivered until after the invitations are issued, which is about three weeks before the wedding day. So I would say that your friend is very much out of order. Therefore, there is no reason why you should send a wedding gift now. If, later on, you find something other than the silver and china that you think the bride would like and need, it is your privilege to get it. At the rate the girl is going it looks as if she may be overstocked by the time she is married!

Manitoba 'In' on Hospital Plan

WINNIPEG (CP)—Premier Douglas Campbell said today Manitoba is "as good as in" the national hospital insurance plan.

Manitoba becomes the seventh province to indicate its intention of joining.

Mr. Campbell said in an interview the province has given no formal notice to Ottawa, but he considers his statements in the legislature, combined with a speech Saturday at Portage La Prairie, add up to an indication Manitoba will go in.

Englishman Leads Canadian Open

WINNIPEG (CP)—Alan Thirlwell, 28-year-old member of the British Walker Cup team, blazed around St. Charles Country Club with a five-under-par 67 today to take the early lead after 18 holes in the 36-hole qualifying round of the Canadian Amateur golf championship.

The two-time English Amateur champion from Newcastle-on-Tyne was out in three-under 33 and back in two-under 34.

Three players came in with 69s. They were Gary Cowan, sensational 19-year-old former Canadian junior titleholder from Kitchener; veteran British Walker Cup player, Joe Carr of Dublin, and Doug Balus of Vancouver, a member of British Columbia's winning Willingdon Cup team here Saturday.

California Governor to Run Again

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—California's Republican Governor Goodwin Knight today announced his candidacy for re-election next year with a blast, obviously directed at Senator William F. Knowland, against using the state office as a "paw in the presidential contest."

Knight noted that California has two political contenders for president in 1960. Both, he said, without identifying them as Knowland and Vice-President Richard Nixon, are "able and distinguished men."

U.S. His Repression in Hungary

WASHINGTON (Reuters)—The State Department today condemned "the present campaign of repression" by the Hungarian regime and said political arrests in that country in recent weeks were estimated in the thousands.

"Prisons and internment camps throughout the country are overflowing," the department said in a statement which it issued in connection with observance Tuesday of St. Stephen's Day, the traditional national and religious holiday in Hungary.

Coast League to Fold, Predicts Sick

EDMONTON (CP)—Emil Sick of Seattle said today that when New York Giants move to San Francisco "There'll be no Pacific Coast League left."

He emphasized here that he is not opposed to the transfer but said it would wreck the Coast Baseball League as now constituted.

Mr. Sick, owner of Seattle Rainiers, said he is "surprised" that Giants officials have not "talked to franchise owners."

The Seattle owner said his investment is $2,000,000 but he probably would be "agreeable to a reasonable deal for the benefit of baseball as a whole."

New Business Tax
To Hit Big Stores

By PETE LOUDON

Larger stores in downtown Victoria are in line for whopping 100 to 400 per cent increases in levies under the city's new business tax.

This was indicated at City Hall today as preparations were made for a meeting tonight of city council's business tax committee.

The committee will hear a "who-will-pay-what" report which is expected to draw loud protests from some quarters at a court of revision later this month.

It appears now that corner grocery-type premises and similar shops out of the high rent area will pay about the same under business tax as they did under trade licensing—or even slightly less.

City council authorized business tax this year and first bills will go out to businessmen before Christmas.

City assessor Alfred Joyce said today a new tax roll of assessed rental values of all business premises has been completed.

Council budgeted this year for a revenue from local business of $460,000 compared with $300,000 collected by licensing in 1956.

Council's next job is to find what percentage must be applied to the appraised rental values to raise that amount of money.

There were hints the tax levy will be 7 per cent.

What will this mean to business? Here are some examples Continued on Page 23

DOCK STRIKERS

The strikes had immobilized 100 ships in London docks and caused a fruit and vegetable shortage throughout Britain.

10 Per Cent
Railway Fare
Hike Granted

OTTAWA (CP)—The Board of Transport Commissioners today granted railways authority to boost standard passenger fares by a maximum 10 per cent.

However, the full boost likely will apply only to first-class fares. The railways in applying for the increase said they intend to raise coach fares by 5 per cent only. They said also there would be no increase either in coach or first-class rates in areas where the Canadian carriers face competition which will not allow any boost.

The increases can go into effect after the railways give notice in the Canada Gazette and file the new rates with the board. This may take several weeks.

The boosts would be the first since 1949 and in a full year may give the railways added revenue estimated at about $3,370,000.

In the application for increases, CPR estimated the full-year revenue increase for itself and subsidiaries at about $1,580,000. CNR estimated its likely increase at $1,790,000.

If the increases go into effect by Sept. 1, CPR estimates it would get another $475,000 between Sept. 1 and Dec. 31. CNR figures it would get an added $537,000.

Red Syria Coup
Hits U.S. Stocks

NEW YORK (UP)—A pro-Communist coup in Syria drove stocks down today at a time when the experts had been anticipating a rally from last week's sharp break.

Today's selling, on increased volume, sent the utility average to a new 1957 low.

Losses ranging to more than 3 points dotted the list with particular emphasis on international oils, metals, and special issues.

In Toronto industrial losses ranged to 2 1/2 points.

GIANTS' MOVE
WINS APPROVAL

NEW YORK (AP)—The board of directors of New York Giants voted today to move the team's National League baseball franchise to San Francisco in 1958.

The announcement was made by Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, who said the vote was 8 to 1.

The National League May 27 granted permission for the Giants to move to San Francisco and Brooklyn Dodgers to Los Angeles. National League president Warren Giles can grant permission for the shift upon formal application by the Giants even if the Dodgers decide not to move.

In Huddle Over
Coup in Syria

LONDON (UP)—The United States and Britain began urgent consultations today on the Red drive in Syria which has offered the severest challenge yet to the Eisenhower doctrine in the Middle East.

Diplomatic sources said the western allies were conferring on the fast developing threat—considered the most serious setback to western policy in the explosive area since President Gamal Abdel Nasser seized the Suez Canal last summer.

Two long-term courses appeared open to the West to counter the new challenge of Soviet penetration.

1. Strengthening of the Eisenhower doctrine which calls for American aid to nations threatened with Communist aggression.

2. Reinforcement of the Baghdad Middle East defence alliance which stretches across southern Russia and seals it off from the Middle East.

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Volatile Syria apparently moved closer to the Communist bloc today as pro-Soviet officers purged rightists from the politically powerful army.

Gen. Afif Bizry, known throughout the Middle East as the most extreme leftist in Syria's army, took control of the army during the weekend, according to reliable reports reaching neighboring Lebanon.

Bizry, 43, a known Communist, immediately began to purge right-wing opponents. Thirteen officers were fired or resigned in Damascus and a number fled to Beirut.

While Premier Sabri Assal's Moscow-oriented government seemed to have been strengthened, President Shukri Kuwaty's professed neutrality between East and West—already cloudy behind Russian arms deals—became a little more indistinct.

Kuwaty had once threatened to resign rather than let Communist supporters take complete control of the army. But the weekend's virtual coup d'etat by leftists came with formal approval of the sick president.

Kuwaty signed a presidential decree Saturday jumping Bizry from lieutenant-colonel to general and making him army commander-in-chief and chief of staff, an official announcement said.

Then, amid rumors that Kuwaty had been ousted, he was Continued on Page 23

POLICE, WORKERS CLASH

Quebec Mob Violence
Quelled by Tear Gas

MURDOCHVILLE, Que. (CP)—Provincial police, tossing tear gas bombs, dispersed non-striking workers of Gaspé Copper Mines Limited today and pushed back a 500-man picket line of Canadian labor representatives after six men were injured and three cars overturned in a violent clash.

The 110-man provincial police detachment, armed with nightsticks, ordered the non-striking company staff to return to their quarters and pushed back pickets to the company gate where picketing continued.

The tear gas was tossed apparently as a warning. There was no scuffling with police. Earlier, stone-throwing and name-calling set off violence.

Police had intervened as a second group of union men left the town to join the pickets against about 200 non-striking employees.

Quiet returned and picketing soon halted as labor leaders cancelled plans to hold a mass meeting in front of the company gate. Union men went to the parish hall where leaders were to make speeches. Meanwhile, the company decided not to ask its non-striking employees to return to work today.

In a statement, the company said labor leaders "brought this mob to Murdochville today to create a fresh disturbance and bring more misery and trouble to Gaspé."

"These leaders feel they are above the law and continuously show a contemptuous disregard of the law..."

Sparks Action

Reeve Arthur Ash of Saanich today set in motion the machinery for investigations of amalgamation and the need for more space at Royal Oak Municipal Hall.

Moving swiftly following Saturday's referendum in which ratepayers showed they were decisively (2,897 to 1,188) opposed to a permanent hall addition, the reeve:

1. Announced that he will appoint a committee to "thoroughly investigate" all aspects of amalgamation with Victoria.

2. And a second committee to inquire into the best means of providing much-needed temporary office space "at a minimum cost."

3. Said new councillor George Chatterton has agreed to head both committees.

"The support I received from the voters Saturday on this referendum has given me a great deal of encouragement," Reeve Ash said.

"Looking into the future," he said, "if I thought I could be the means of bringing about a union of urban Saanich and Victoria, I would consider offering myself as a candidate."

Mayor Percy Scourrah of Victoria today promised his full support for the amalgamation study.

"In view of this vote," the mayor said, "it would indicate the people would like to have amalgamation investigated."

"I will be very glad to cooperate with Reeve Ash."

What form city co-operation will take will depend on further talks.

Said Reeve Ash: "Personally, I feel besides representatives of council, we should have some representation from private citizens in co-operation with Victoria authorities."

The reeve said he would also consult with Premier Bennett and Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black.

"No stone should be left unturned in order to bring about the best plan possible so that the ratepayers will know where they stand and can ultimately vote on it," Reeve Ash said.

Amalgamation Study Supported

Support for the amalgamation study was also promised by the newly-formed "December Group" in Saanich, which expressed satisfaction with the referendum result.

"Though the total voting was small considering the implications of the question," said spokesman Charles M. Nelles, "the answer given was a red-blooded affirmation that Saanich wants to play its proper part in Greater Victoria."

As for our group, we have no wish to become a permanent pressure group, as our name shows quite plainly. It is the elected councillors who must govern the municipality, not us.

"However we are interested in finding good candidates for election in December, and we do want the voters to understand fully the several paths that lie before us as Saanich comes of age."

Reeve Ash stressed that all members of Saanich council, with the exception of Mr. Chatterton, had made amalgamation the issue in the referendum.

Coun. Leslie Passmore had publicly stated, "the issue is amalgamation, and those that vote against the hall addition will be voting for amalgamation."

OTTAWA (CP)—Appointment of J. Waldo Monteith of Perth, Ont., constituency as health minister and Alvin Hamilton of Qu'Appelle, Sask., constituency as minister of northern affairs was announced Monday by Prime Minister Dietsenbaker.

Mr. Dietsenbaker told reporters after an afternoon cabinet meeting that the two appointments complete his cabinet setup "at this time."

He amplified this by stating that there will be no further appointments until after the parliamentary session opening Oct. 14 "is under way."

Ike Men Fight For Aid Budget

(From UP and CP Dispatches)

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower counter-attacked today in an 11th hour effort to save the foreign aid program from what he considers crippling budget cuts.

... SAANICH

people had "plainly indicated" they want a joint municipal hall and amalgamation thoroughly investigated, Reeve Ash said.

"It is now up to the council to carry these wishes out. If we have the will and determination to see this through and make amalgamation work it can be a success."

"All we need is a spirit of co-operation, compromise and a willingness to give and take."

Reeve Ash said he believed if there had been a heavy vote Saturday, "there is no doubt the referendum would have been completely buried in an avalanche of 'no' votes."

Coun. Joseph Casey, chairman of the hall addition committee and the addition's chief proponent, disagreed.

"Naturally, I expected a much greater turnout," he said. "Those who were opposed turned out in force."

A heavier vote would have brought about a "different picture."

Coun. Casey said the ratepayers who voted had shown they were against a capital expenditure for additional space for municipal workers.

Council should now go ahead quickly with a joint hall project, he said.

"A temporary project is no good at this stage of the game."

"Mind you," Coun. Casey continued, "I don't think the people will vote in favor of a joint hall when it comes up. The cost will be about $1,000,000 for Saanich."

Reeve Ash suggested that one means of providing more office space might be to erect a steel-frame building that could be used at a later date by the public works department.

Such a building—not a Quonset hut—could be built at low cost and can be moved, the Reeve said.

On the question of amalgamation, Reeve Ash concluded: "Victoria being the capital city of British Columbia, is all the more reason why we in the Greater Victoria area should take pride in building up our city."

"If it proves to be in the best interests of all, Victoria should not be prevented from extending its borders."

"I feel sure a committee set up by the city of Victoria and Saanich with the technical advice and co-operation of our provincial government, will receive the whole-hearted support of our people."

"I appeal to all ratepayers in Saanich and Victoria: Let us prove to other municipalities our absolute faith and confidence in a greater Victoria."

He held an unannounced breakfast conference with the Speaker—and Democratic leader—of the House, Sam Rayburn, and appealed for his help in restoring the 30 per cent economy cut made by the House last week.

At the same time he sent a task force of four top administration officials to Capitol Hill to plead with the Senate appropriations committee to put back the $809,000,000 cut by the House.

State Secretary Dulles told senators "the whole foundation of our security structure is endangered by the cut of $809,000,000 in the foreign aid bill made last week by the House of Representatives."

If Congress is unwilling to provide the funds to help allies maintain their defenses, Dulles said, "we face a new insecurity and a future of grave risks."

"The Senate faces a great responsibility to save the nation from this peril."

Accompanying Dulles to the session were John B. Hollister, outgoing foreign aid director; Admiral Arthur W. Radford, retired chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, the new chairman.

The alternative to the size military aid program asked by the administration is for the United States to increase its own defence strength and draft more men so that "nearly every able-bodied young man of military age would spend several years of his life in military service overseas."

"FORTRESS AMERICA"

"The cost would be staggering," he added.

Or, he said, "we could adopt a 'Fortress America' concept."

"In the world we live in today, such a concept is entirely negative and would merely mean that we postponed an ultimate and violent showdown with international communism or, in the long run, would capitulate," Radford said.

Despite Dulles' pleas, the Senate was expected to restore little, if any, of the House cut. Republican leaders, however, planned to make a fight for at least some increases.

Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland said Sunday night he will urge the Senate to raise the aid total to about three billion dollars. This is a little more than half way between the $2,524,760,000 voted by the House and the $3,367,000,000 originally authorized by Congress and approved by President Eisenhower.

LORD ALTRINCHAM
... no TV in U.S.

Critical Peer Would Prefer To Forget It

LONDON (UP)—Lord Altrincham tried to forget today that he ever said anything about Queen Elizabeth and her court. But he had a constant reminder outside his London home.

Letters two feet high said: "These insults against our Queen must stop." The inscription was signed by the "League of Empire Loyalists."

Altrincham Sunday night refused an invitation to appear on television in the United States during the Queen's visit in October.

"It would look as though I were dogging her footsteps," he said. "I feel now that I have said my bit and I want to pipe down."

Freelance writer Aiden MacKay, a member of the Loyalist League, told investigating Scotland Yard detectives, that six Loyalists toured the city before dawn Sunday painting the slogans.

They also were discovered outside the offices of the National and English Review, which Altrincham edits, the New Statesman, which published a letter by Lord Londonderry supporting Altrincham, and outside the Home of Londonderry, himself.

A Sunday newspaper quoted friends of the Queen as saying Prince Philip had "lost several pounds in weight, grown noticeably more nervous and developed a drawn look since the criticism."

"Only Steradent's OXYGEN ACTION really cleans False Teeth."

One Poll Supports New Hall

Saanich ratepayers gave an emphatic "NO" Saturday to the proposal to build a $225,000 permanent addition to relieve overcrowding at the municipal hall.

In a referendum, some 20 per cent of the eligible voters decided against the addition by a margin of 2,897 to 1,188.

In all but one of the 13 polling stations the majority was against the addition.

At Royal Oak 156 persons cast "yes" ballots, and 139 voted "no."

Total support amounted to 29 per cent of the voters. Sixty per cent was required for passage.

Here is how the vote went by districts:

Districts	Yes	No

Flo Postpones Irish Swim

DONAGHADEE, Northern Ireland (AP)—Florence Chadwick today postponed her attempt to swim the Irish Sea because of bad weather.

The San Diego, Calif., swimmer said tides will remain favorable until Wednesday. She aims to swim the 21½ miles from Donaghadee in Northern Ireland to Portpatrick, Scotland.

The only person to complete the swim was the late Tom Eborer of England who did it in 15 hours, 27 minutes in 1947.

TYPHOON AGNES WHIPS ISLANDS

TOKYO (Reuters)—Thirty-foot waves and winds of 50 miles an hour pounded Okinawa and southern Japanese islands, but typhoon Agnes passed by without serious damage.

U.S. forces and their families, warned Sunday to stockpile provisions and stay indoors, breathed easy again as Agnes swept past leaving only fringe winds.

Doctor Soars 19 Miles High

BRAINERD, Minn.—An air force doctor today soared more than 19 miles into the sky in a balloon to set a new manned-balloon altitude record.

The balloon rose nearly vertically from its take-off site in an iron mine pit near Crosby, Minn.

An endurance test of man's ability to live in an artificial atmosphere for long periods of time at high altitude, the flight was expected to give the USAF important information on what pilots of the future must contend with during travel through space.

B.C. Traffic Kills Three, Pair Feared Drowned

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three persons died in traffic accidents in B.C. during the weekend. Two others were missing in boating mishaps and were feared to have drowned.

Dead are: Jean Abel, 2, of Vancouver. George Ostrikoff, New Westminster.

Omar St. Denis, Newton Station. Missing and feared to have been drowned are: Stanley Hunter, South Westminster.

Tony Karlovich, engineer, 56, Vancouver. Hunter was reported missing Sunday morning in a salmon-fishing derby at Horseshoe Bay in Howe Sound. Police and fishboats searched the waters in the area for four hours without success.

Karlovich fell overboard from the 60-foot seiner Race Rocks near the Sechart Peninsula, 40 miles north of Vancouver. The Race Rocks and three other fishboats found Karlovich's cap but no trace of the man.

Ostrikoff and St. Denis died on the way to hospital after a shattering collision 38 miles east of Hope Saturday night.

The Abel girl was killed Friday night in Burnaby when the trailer of a truck-trailer unit ran over a bus stop waiting bench and crushed her.

RCMP at Princeton said a car driven by Ostrikoff went around a sharp curve missed one vehicle and collided head-on with one driven by Arthur Jack of Newton.

St. Denis was a passenger in this car. Mr. and Mrs. Jack were taken to Chilliwack Hospital with undetermined injuries. Another passenger, Thomas Chersnoff, 31, of New Westminster, was in Princeton Hospital with head injuries and a broken thigh. The Jacks' children, Bobby, 11, and Larry, 7, were treated for minor injuries.

French-Speaking Boy Drowns Near Crowd

GODERICH, Ont. (CP)—A French-Canadian youth was drowned near a crowd of 2,000 persons Sunday because he apparently didn't know how to call for help in English.

Marius Blaquiere, 18, of St. Francois d'Assise, Que., died in Lake Huron after he dived from a high board and got into difficulty.

As a crowd watched events at the third annual water sports show, Blaquiere screamed for aid in French but police said no one understood him.

Doctors worked for more than an hour in an attempt to save the youth. Blaquiere had been stationed at the Clinton RCAF station.

U.S. Offers New Plan To Save Arms Talks

LONDON (UP)—The United States has made "far-reaching" new disarmament proposals to its allies in an attempt to prevent the five-power London arms conference from breaking down, authoritative sources disclosed tonight.

Details were kept secret but open skies and a halt to future A-bomb production remain key conditions for any agreement with Russia, the sources said.

They said the U.S. is prepared to continue the five-month-old London talks right up to December if Russia gives a "favorable response" in the next two weeks on the latest plan for aerial inspection recently offered by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

BUSINESS TAX

taken from the high-rent downtown areas.

A major department store would jump on the average from $3,500 to $18,000 or more.

A downtown bank branch which paid $1,800 in business licenses will pay $3,500 under the tax system.

A wholesale house which paid $75 in licence will pay $300.

A bakery or shoe store which paid $45 would pay about $280.

A leading cafe which paid $150 in business licence now would be asked for $420 each year in business tax.

Officials said the new tax roll of rental values was appraised using a basis of rent actually paid across the city.

Biggest increase will be felt by businesses which have been paying lower rents than the average paid by their neighbors and thus had anticipated a smaller tax.

Mr. Joyce would not disclose the total amount of the new tax roll. He will give that figure to Ald. Hugh Ramsay's committee tonight. The committee knows it must apply a percentage to the roll which will yield $460,000.

There can be no alternative. The proposed revenue is already in the city's 1957 budget and expenditures have been estimated to balance.

The committee must yet decide what to do with the business licence system. It may be retained as it is in Vancouver and New Westminster where merchants pay either tax or licence, whichever is greater.

The business tax committee is expected to report to council Thursday, ask a by-law to establish the roll and then set a date for a court of revision.

This will give merchants an opportunity to appeal any assessment which is held to be unfair. When the roll is confirmed, council will set the percentage to be levied as tax.

SYRIA

watly had resigned—which Asali denied—the president flew to Egypt Sunday. In Cairo for the third time in six months, he talked with President Nasser for more than an hour.

The Syrian and Egyptian armies are united under the joint command of an Egyptian officer and both are heavily stocked with Soviet arms, but Nasser has kept his own Communists suppressed.

Purpose of Kuwatly's trip was officially announced as a medical check in Alexandria. He flew to Alexandria after seeing Nasser and went to a hospital.

The events that brought Communists to power in the army of Syria began with charges of foreign plotting to overthrow the government.

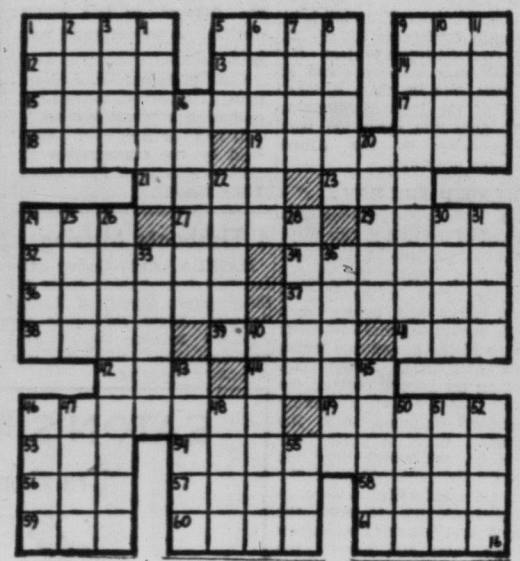

Informed sources here said Syria's charge last Tuesday that the United States was seeking to oust Kuwatly was used as a blind for the leftists.

The government ordered three American diplomats out of the country after claiming there had been a U.S. plot to "buy" a pro-American regime with economic aid offers after a coup d'etat. The U.S. state department called the charges "pure fabrication," and expelled two Syrian diplomats in retaliation.

THIEF SORRY FOR MESS BUT LOOT TAKEN OKAY

VANCOUVER (CP)—A gentleman thief left a note apologizing for the inconvenience at one of four suites raided during the weekend in a city office building.

"Sorry I was so messy—only money taken, no records destroyed," said the note left at the office of J. G. Watts Ltd., where $35 had been taken from a forced safe and $10 from a broken piggy bank. It was signed: "The Polite Burglar."

What is the difference between a star, a planet and a comet?

Anyone can recognize a comet in the sky. For it wears a long, golden tail. In fact, its name means hair because to the ancients it seemed to be trailing long golden tresses. You can even recognize the planets, if you look closely enough. For planets shine with clear, steady light. And the stars in the sky twinkle and sparkle like glittering diamonds.

From the earth, a planet may look as big and as important as a star. A showy comet may look bigger and more important than any star in the sky. But actually, when compared with a star, a planet or even a showy comet is very small, indeed. A million planets may fit inside a star and thousands of comets may fit inside a planet. And there are more important differences than size.

Planets and comets have no light of their own. They shine with the reflected glory of a star. The only planets we know about belong to our solar system. The only light they borrow comes from our golden sun. The evening star, which we see after sunset, is really a planet. It acts like a mirror and reflects the golden light from the sun. A comet, too, is reflecting the sun—even its trailing dust and particles.

Only the radiant sun is able to pour forth light and heat. Its blazing energy streams forth in all directions. A small amount of this falls upon the planet which is our earth. As the earth turns around on its axis, first one side than another is facing the sun. First one side moves into the daylight, then the other. Seen from the planet Venus, the daytime sunlit side of our earth shines like a star. But it is only reflecting the radiance of the sun.

Our sun is a star, just one of the countless stars in the sky. Like any star it is a powerhouse of atomic energy, a ball of blazing gases. The sun seems so big because all the other stars are such vast distances away. If the sun were the size of a pinhead, on the same scale its nearest star neighbor would be 10 miles away.

We say that our sun is the parent of our Solar System. In a sense, the planets and the comets are its children. Like a good parent, the sun keeps its children in line. In fact, it prevents the planets and the comets from running away into the vast cold emptiness of outer space. It holds them in their orbits by the mighty pull of its gravity. It gives them light and heat and on this planet of ours it makes life possible.

Planets and comets are but lumps of solid matter moving in orbits around the glowing sun. The nine known planets move in almost circular orbits. The comets move in long, slender oval orbits. A planet is always at more or less the same distance from the sun. A comet is sometimes very close to the sun and sometimes far, far away in space. We see a comet only when it pays its rare visit to Father Sol. Only then it is close enough to reflect the light of the sun.

Andy sends a Hammond's International World Globe to Rose Dewitt, age 12, of Alfred, Maine, for her question:

How fast does the world turn?

The fat round world spins around like a revolving top. It makes one complete turn in four minutes less than 24 hours. It turns on its axis, an invisible line going right through the middle from pole to pole. The surface of the earth is a sphere, bulging in a waist line at the equator. The surface and everything on it also turns around once every 24 hours. But some spots on the surface have to turn faster than others.

Imagine the earth sliced in half at the equator. Now look down on the sliced top and see a series of circles one inside the other like a bull's eye target. Spin the target around like a top. All the circles take the same amount of time to complete each turn. But the outer circle has to spin faster because it has farther to go.

That outer circle on your imaginary model is the equator. The distance around it is about 24,000 miles. Since it makes a complete circle once every 24 hours, it turns around at a speed of 1,000 miles per hour. The smaller inside circles on your model are the lines of earth's latitude. The small dot at the center of the target corresponds with the north pole. It turns very slowly while the outside line is turning very fast. So, on the surface of the earth, the further you stand from the equator, the slower the earth is turning under your feet. At the north and south poles, it takes the earth under your feet 24 hours to turn on the little circle.

IRON RIVER, Wis. (AP)—A two-year-old Canadian child, apparently trapped in a sleeping bag, burned to death early today when a gasoline lantern exploded and set flames roaring through a tent where he was sleeping with his family. Dead in the fire was Ricky Easter, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Easter of Sarnia, Ont.

Forest Fire Hazard Higher; 23 Burning

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER—The fire hazard in B.C. forests is increasing this week with higher temperatures.

Although the present situation is still good, the B.C. Forest Service warned campers to be careful with cigaret butts and pipe ashes.

Twenty-three fires were put out last week and 24 were still burning, the service said in a statement Sunday night.

Fire fighting costs have been held down to $132,000 this year—one-third the amount spent for the same period in 1956.

A low hazard is reported in all areas with the exception of Nelson where the hazard is moderate.

AGED PENSIONER HELD
VANCOUVER—Drug detail detectives arrested four persons, one of them an old-age pensioner, in raids on downtown rooming houses Sunday.

Charged with drug possession were Harvey Pridde, 70, Lyle Raymond Jackson, 19, Jack Bryce, 25, and Joan Mary Gibson, 23.

TEACHER AIDS URGED
VANCOUVER—The B.C. School Trustees Association will study a system of "teachers aides," similar to the help used by nurses, which has been experimented with in U.S. education.

Frank Reder, BCSTA secretary-treasurer, said the teachers' aides "do the routine chore work, leaving the teacher free to devote all her time to professional endeavor."

SALMON RESCUED
SMITHERS, B.C.—Last week when heavy rains hit Bulkley Valley, R. H. Dunlop, superintendent of the department of highways at Smithers, came to the rescue of a large school of sockeye salmon trapped under a newly built portion of the road.

A few days before the rain, the largest culvert on highway 16 had been placed under the roadbed to allow small creek to flow through.

During the rains, swift-running water ate out a large crater under the road and later sealed it with sand and gravel.

A highway crew discovered the trapped salmon. A tunnel was dug through from the other side of the road and the fish freed for their journey to the ocean.

IMMIGRANTS MISLED?
VANCOUVER—A Briton who came here three years ago says the Canadian immigration department is not telling the whole truth to prospective British immigrants.

George Robertson, president of the Newcomers Club, said Sunday immigrants are not told that they may have to wait for a job and that larger Canadian cities are flooded with immigrants looking for work.

Immigrants were not prepared for the high cost of living accommodation or the lack of apartment blocks suitable for children.

MISHAP VICTIM DEAD
VANCOUVER—Mrs. Jacqueline Wensrich of Vancouver died in hospital Sunday two weeks after being admitted to hospital with a broken leg suffered in a traffic accident. An inquest will be held.

Historic Dieppe Battle Recalled on Anniversary

By DAVE MCINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—Fifteen years ago today, Canadian soldiers forced allied leaders to change their strategic plans for the Second Front.

They had to do it the hard, bloody way. Only 2,211 of a Canadian force of 4,963 returned to England after the Dieppe raid of Aug. 19, 1942.

Up to that time, the allies thought that the chief principle for the invasion of Normandy would be surprise. After Dieppe, it was realized that heavy support by bombers and capital ships would be required. These measures were employed when the allies landed in France June 6, 1944.

Col. P. C. Stacey, official army historian, says in his Six Years of War, published in 1953, that the planners of the Dieppe raid—combined operations headquarters—underestimated the strong German defences and the influence of topography.

"There were too many cooks and this probably had much to do with spoiling the broth," Col. Stacey comments.

In 1944, Gen. H. D. G. Crerar, commander of the 1st Canadian

Army, said the Dieppe raid was a Canadian contribution of the greatest significance to the final victory.

One outgrowth of the raid was the undermining of the prestige of Gen. A. G. L. McNaghon, then commander of the 1st army.

American correspondent Quenton Reynolds published a book on the raid and although, Col. Stacey's history says, he had no knowledge of the planning he commented on it freely. The history says Reynolds implied the Canadians were responsible for altering a more intelligent plan of attack and inserting in it a front assault.

Gen. McNaghon was asked by defence headquarters to issue a "corrective statement" but he felt this would prejudice future Canadian relations with British authorities, he interpreted as seeking to shift blame and give valuable information to the enemy. He issued no statement. The history says:

"It was a sound and patriotic decision but one which in the end probably did Gen. McNaghon himself considerable harm."

The Toronto weekly magazine (Saturday night) said Dieppe proved the bankruptcy of Canadian generalship and the history adds there is little doubt that such criticism "did something to undermine the hitherto unassailable prestige of Gen. McNaghon with the public."

Prime Minister Churchill held a small conference June 30, 1942, on the Dieppe project. He showed some anxiety about it but was told by Gen. Brooke, Chief of the Imperial General Staff, that the operation was indispensable to the Allied offensive program.

"SO ENDED THE DAY..."

Col. Stacey concludes his account of the raid in this way: "So ended the brave and bitter day. Under the shaded dockside lights in the English ports, tired and grimy men pressed to shift drank strong tea and told their tales, and the ambulance trains filled and drew slowly out. Back on the Dieppe beaches the Germans were still collecting Canadian wounded, and the Canadian dead in their hundreds lay yet where they had fallen. On both sides of the Channel staff officers were already beginning to scan the record and assess the lessons of the raid; and beyond the Atlantic, in innumerable communities across Canada, people waited in painful anxiety for news of friends in the overseas army—that army which, after three years of war, had just fought its first battle."

N.Y. Boy Checkmates Chess World Jinx

TORONTO (RUP)—A 19-year-old New York boy has become the first American since the second world war to win a major world chess tournament in which Russians also competed.

Against opposition which included Vladimir Selimanov, stepson of world champion Vassily Smyslov, William Lombardy won his 11th consecutive victory in the fourth world junior chess championship.

His win, in moves against Ibrahim Baghat of Egypt, gave him a final total of 11 points, two more than runner-up Mathias Gerusel of West Germany.

Soviet grandmaster Igor Bandarevsky, who accompanied Selimanov as his second, said, "Lombardy is a class above the others. He has the experience and knowledge which they lack."

Lombardy set another record in winning all his 11 games. "The Russians are very much overrated. They are superb players all right, but their record is far better than it need be because their opponents go in with the feeling that they
